Policeman Tells How He Found Wife and 'Best Friend' of Defendant.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20.—(AP)—
two police officers found Evelyn Wright and John Kimmel lying mortally wounded in Paul Wright's home was given in court today.
Harry W. Reed, Glendale police officer, testified for the state in the trial of Wright, former airport manager charged with murdering his wife and Kimmel, his "best friend."

Reed was with Officer Robert Trowbridge in the ambulance which hurried to the Wright home at the defendant's frantic call.
Reed said that the body of Mrs.
Wright was on the floor, her head on the piano pedals, most of the body of the piano and his right leg under the piano bench.
Kimmel was moving and groaning and paving the air with his left hand, the witness testified.
Some of Kimmel's clothing was disarranged, Reed said. Mrs.
Wright's clothing was in good order, he said, as he described her costume as street clothing with "sheer, chiffon hose."

President's Wife To Speak Here At Women's Conference March 29

Mrs. Roosevelt To Come to Meeting of Rural-Urban Groups of Georgia.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 20.
Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the President, will attend the conference of Rural-Urban Women of Georgia in Atlanta on March 29.
Mrs. Roosevelt, vitally interested in the development of rural life and the welfare of rural families, will be principal speaker at the conference, which will bring hundreds of Georgia women together.
Her subject will be "The Part
The Urban Woman Plays in the Development of Rural Life."
Senator Richard B. Russell, through whom Mrs. Roosevelt of Atlanta, director of the women's division of the Georgia Department of Agriculture, extended the invitation, yesterday telegraphed

Bishop Removes Noe as Dean For His Immortality Fasting

Minister Will Continue to Draw Salary for Another Six Months.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 20.—(AP)— Bishop James M. Maxon, of the Episcopal diocese of Tennessee, took "pious" cognizance of the Very Rev. Israel Harding Noe's fast to attain immortality today, ordering his immediate removal as dean of St. Mary's cathedral, see seat of the diocese.

The dean, shocked and hurt at this sudden turn of affairs, handed out a statement this afternoon that "due to Bishop Maxon's illness, I have been unable to see him in person and until that time
I have no comment to make."

Mrs. Noe, who sat at his side, told newsmen that Bishop Maxon had measles which followed influenza and that there was no way of knowing when the dean would see him.

Says Dean "Not Self."
The dean's statement was neither an acceptance of nor a challenge of the bishop's removal order. He would not reply to a question whether he would continue his fast, leaving that "for another time," but friends said he had given no indication of abandoning it.

Bishop Maxon, recovering from a serious illness, told the dean he was not his "normal self" and that his views were foreign to those of the church and diocese, and begged him to abandon his fast.

The bishop announced that the Rev. James R. Sharpe, of Nashville, canon of the Cathedral and executive secretary of the diocese, would be Dean Noe's temporary successor.

Robert S. Christie, a member of the cathedral chapter, governing body of the dean's church, expressed surprise at Bishop Maxon's action and said he was "very much hurt."

"I can see no reason for this action for he (Dean Noe) has broken no laws of the church and has been instrumental in drawing the highest types of religious people to the cathedral."

Christie said that "no matter what the bishop's decision is, it will be a matter of conscience."

Dr. Cullen Dies 'Genius In Disguise'

Chemist, Inventor, Graduate of Heidelberg Unsung Except by Mother.

Broken by disillusionment, recognized only in the shrine of mother love, suspicious of corporations willing to finance his mechanical dreams, a "genius in disguise" died yesterday.

The glory of adventure in almost every land on earth, a background of Heidelberg and a majority in chemistry, a brain that looked out of garbage and wood out of weeds—all these went into obscurity when Dr. Allen F. Cullen Sr., 47, succumbed to pneumonia in a private hospital.

Unsung by a world to which he had contributed his ability, he died, as many men who seek to solve the mystery of life or ease its burdens die, in poverty.

Last night his mother, Mrs. Eula Olmstead, with whom he had made his home for the last six months at 905 Pulliam street, S.
W., said:

"My son... he was a genius in disguise. He wasn't recognized while he was living, but that's the way with all great men, I reckon."

His mother said her son was born in a house on Pryor street, and that at the age of two or three,
he showed unusual interest in mechanical things.

"Why, he made a little motor out of old tin before he was nine years old," she exclaimed.

"But he wasn't recognized," she repeated. "The big companies all tried to do him wrong. He would work hard on some invention, send the idea off to a company, and the company would send an agent. Then the agent would try

DRYS ARE HEARD ON THOMAS BILL BY SENATE GROUP

Further Study of Liquor Measure Will Begin Monday as Committee Takes Week-End Recess.

The senate committee on temperance which has the house-approved Thomas liquor tax bill under consideration, will begin study of the measure's provisions Monday afternoon, Chairman John Neely announced yesterday following a public hearing on the measure at which only dry spokesmen appeared.

"We still hope to be able to report the bill back to the senate in time for action Tuesday if the senate desires," the chairman said.

"However, some leaders of the committee find it necessary to go home for the week end and we will study the bill Monday afternoon."

Committee Recessed.
Neely recessed his committee following appearance of the dry spokesmen. It is subject to call at any time but he said there would be no further sessions until Monday.

"I have not discussed the precepts of the Thomas bill with the committee members but as far as I know now there are few changes in sight," Neely said. "But I have told the members of the committee that the bill is the same as mine. So I cannot say what will be done with it."

Several members of the committee who have announced support of the bill said they would outline their views when the committee meets again.

Race Bill Rejected.
There was a senate debate yesterday to combat the arguments of the opponents of the bill, who were headed by the Rev. Nath Thompson, superintendent of the Georgia Anti-Saloon League.

Meanwhile with the center of the spotlight still focused on the liquor bill, the senate today gave its attention to other matters, the senate passing the Rivers bill for the reorganization of the State Revenue Commission and the House bill to legalize betting on horse races.

Sixty-Five Hours of No Sleep and Still Going Strong

There was plenty of static in the air of the physics laboratory yesterday as these two University of Georgia students passed 65 in the psychology department's "100-hours-without-sleep" experiment. Note the intense concentration they are putting out in their efforts to produce a miniature bolt of artificial lightning with the electric spark machine. Sixty-five hours without sleep and still going strong, the two "human guinea pigs" are Paul Newman, of Athens, and Ruth Jimmerson, of Unadilla.

MONGOLIANS PLAN SETBACK TO JAPAN

Allies of Soviet Fortify Border and Concentrate

SHANGHAI, Jan. 20.—(AP)— Japanese dispatches from Hsinking, capital of Manchukuo, today reported Outer Mongolia, allied with Soviet Russia, was preparing a heavily manned, strongly fortified defense line along her southern border, facing North China areas conquered by Japan.

Domei, the Japanese news agency, reported great quantities of materials for fortifications were being transported from the interior to the border, where thousands of Outer Mongolian troops, many Russian-trained and mostly equipped with Russian-made weapons, have been concentrated.

The Mongolian government at Ulan Bator (formerly Urga) was said to be compelling civilians near the frontier to move back into the interior as a measure to prevent espionage, presumably by Japan's agents. The Ulan Bator regime, linked to Russia by a mutual assistance pact, was described as determined to make its southern frontier as formidable as that which Soviet Siberia presents to Manchukuo, Japan's protectorate.

Outer Mongolia, nearly 1,500-000 square miles of inland plateau, largely desert, lies between Siberia, Manchukuo and the Inner Mongolian provinces of Chahar and Suiyuan, most of which Japan already had occupied. For 15 years Outer Mongolia has been under strong Soviet influence.

One of Japan's first moves when her armies drove into North China was to seize the Inner Mongolian corridor so as to thrust a wedge between the Soviet-influenced area and China proper. A Japanese expedition seized all the Pei-

Bomb Plot Reported Against Japanese Ship

SEATTLE, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Harbor traffic was warned to look for a possible floating bomb tonight as authorities investigated the bizarre story of an alleged plot to blow up a Japanese liner by a Canadian school teacher who drowned in the attempt.

Police Captain Marshall Scraf-ford said a 22-year-old laborer booked as George Partridge was held on an open charge after he told police the dead man had plotted to bomb the liner Hiye Maru as she lay at a wharf.

Coroner's Deputy Harlan Callahan said the dead man, whose body was found floating near the vessel, was identified as Rolphe
M. Forsyth, 35, a school teacher.
Scrafrod said he notified every harbor agency to have boats exercise extreme caution, since a precise extreme caution.

Japan's Ultimate Collapse Seen By China's Minister of Finance

Dr. H. H. Kung Says His Nation More Able To War Than Nippon.

Editor's Note: Japan's ultimate collapse is predicted in the following dispatch written by Dr. H. H.
Kung, president of the Chinese Executive Council and minister of finance, who describes the Chinese-Japanese war from the economic-financial standpoint.

By DR. H. H. KUNG.
(Copyright, 1938, by United Press.)
HANKOW, China, Jan. 20.—
That the present Chinese-Japanese hostilities should have seriously dislocated China's trade and industry and impaired government revenues is, of course, a foregone conclusion.

But there are reasons to believe that financially China's ability to withstand the strain of protracted war is not inferior to Japan's.

HOOPER'S STORY OF ANDERS CRIME

FBI Chief Says Ross Was Chained for 13 Days in Lonely, Shallow Dugout.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 21 (Friday)— Recovery of the bodies of two victims of the Charles S. Ross kidnaping together with a graphic account of how the criminal killed the Chicagoan and an ally after working from a Minnesota hideout was related early today by J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Federal Bureau of Identification.

Hoover also announced that Peter Anders, who was apprehended at Los Angeles, where he confessed the Ross slaying, and then was flown to St. Paul, had also confessed the kidnaping of John and Olive Borgia, of Chicago.

The swarthy, square-jawed Anders, Hoover told newsmen, kidnaped Ross, wealthy greeting card manufacturer, September 25, 1937, and spirited him away to a hideout previously arranged in dense woods country near Emily, Minn., 20 miles north of Brainerd.

The captive was removed October 9 to a lonely woodland 12 miles out of Spooner, Wis., Hoover said, by Anders and James Atwood Gray, his accomplice in the crime.

An altercation developed between Gray and Anders, and the former was slain. Ross, thrown down in the scuffle, was next killed by Anders, Hoover said.

The head G-man also revealed Anders had robbed three Wisconsin and one Minnesota bank.

FSA LOANS SOUGHT
BY 4,327 FARMERS

Only 180 Georgians, however, May Receive Funds.

ATHENS, Jan. 20.—(P)—More than 4,000 Georgia tenant farmers have applied to the Farm Security Administration for loans to purchase farms under terms of the Bankhead-Jones farm tenant act, State Director R. L. Vansant said today.

A compilation of reports from farm supervisors in the 35 counties eligible for the program showed that 4,327 tenants, sharecroppers and farm laborers made formal application for loans, while 2,657 others made inquiries but failed to file applications by January 15, the closing date. He said limited funds would permit the making of only 180 loans, but that it was hoped additional ones could be made next year.

Georgia received $635,003 of this year's 10 million-dollar allotment for making tenant farm purchase loans.

$115,000 IS ALLOTTED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(P)—Senator Russell, Democrat, Georgia, said today the Rural Electrification Administration had allotted $115,000 for farm power projects in Georgia. They included $75,000 for 70 miles of additional line for the Colquitt County Rural Electrification Corporation, Moultrie; $10,000 for wiring for 200 customers under the same project; $5,000 for wiring for 100 customers of the Douglas County Electric Membership Corporation, Douglasville, and $25,000 for additional lines for the Satilla Rural Electric Membership Corporation, Alma.

THREE MEALS A DAY

HOME TESTED RECIPES

BY Sally Saver

If you want to lift your meals out of their midwinter humdrum, serve curried dishes.

Curry, with its characteristic East Indian pungency, will add a delightfully exotic flavor to such mild-flavored chilly season foods as veal, mutton, chicken, rice, macaroni and noodles.

Curry has to be carefully blended with the other ingredients, however. Too pronounced a curry taste—particularly if that's a new flavor to the family—will defeat the purpose. In fact, about one tablespoon of curry powder is plenty for each two cups of savory sauce.

Use a metal spoon for stirring curry mixtures. The traces of curry flavor will wash off metal when metal utensils are scalded in boiling water. They'll cling tenaciously to wood, however.

Curry combination must also be cooked very slowly. They will improve upon reheating—making them convenient to serve at the meal which has to be cooked well in advance.

An Egg Curry.

Curried eggs are excellent monotonous breakers. To prepare them add a dash of chopped onion, celery and parsley and a teaspoon of curry to a cupful of creamy, white sauce. Then add two sliced, hard-boiled eggs. Heat the mixture long enough to thoroughly warm the eggs. Then serve it plain or poured over rice, crackers or cooked macaroni. The recipe will be just about enough for two.

Chicken Curry.

East Indian chicken curry is a general favorite. Brown one cup each of sliced onions and apples in five tablespoons of butter placed in a frying pan. Add one tablespoon of curry, one teaspoon of salt and a fourth of a teaspoon each of paprika, celery salt and chopped parsley. Then add three cups of chicken stock. Cover and let simmer for 30 minutes. Mix in two cups of sliced chicken and four tablespoons of flour stirred into a third of a cup of cold water. Allow to simmer for ten minutes. Just before pouring the sauce over hot rice add a tablespoon of lemon juice. Have chutney sauce and crisp celery hearts near by. To make veal curry, brown a one-pound slice of veal cutlet in four tablespoons of butter. Cut the veal into one-inch pieces and proceed as if you were making chicken curry. (Mutton or lamb may be substituted for the veal.)

Sauce for Asparagus.

Hot asparagus arranged on toast squares is doubly delicious if you pour a savory tomato curry sauce over it. All you have to do is make

2 tablespoons stock, or tomato juice (may be used) finely chopped onion 1 tablespoon curry powder 1-4 cup flour Dash of cayenne 2 cups liquid 1 teaspoon salt (milk, soup)

Cook the onion slightly, but not until brown, in the butter. Put into the top of a double boiler and add gradually the flour, salt, curry powder and cayenne which have been thinned with the desired liquid. Stir constantly while adding this mixture and let cook about 10 minutes, stirring frequently, to prevent lumps. This sauce will be fairly thin and easy to pour over the main dish.

that tomato curry sauce is to substitute tomato juice for the liquid called for in your favorite recipe.

MAILING WAGE HOUSE CUT OUT OF HOUSING BILL

ference of Senate-House Committee Irons Out Differences.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(P)—Action to stimulate a housing program emerged from a senate-house conference today minus a provision requiring that "prevailing wages" be paid on government-insured construction work.

For Lodge, Republican, Massachusetts, who had the provision to the bill, announced he tried to have it reinserted but the measure reaches the senate.

Senate-house conference out differences in the housing bill passed by the two chambers and the resulting legislation will be voted upon finally.

Cheese Squares.

2 slices white bread

1 tablespoon soft butter

3 tablespoons grated cheese

1 tablespoon catsup

Place bread on a flat pan. Discard crusts. Spread bread with rest of the ingredients, combined.

Using sharp knife cut into one-half inch cubes. Broil or bake until bread cubes are well browned. Serve hot in a small dish.

Broiled Fruits.

(Colorful, Tasty Garnishes.)

4 apricots

2 peaches

4 pineapple slices

1-2 cup brown sugar

3 tablespoons butter

2 tablespoons lemon juice

1-2 teaspoon cinnamon

1-4 teaspoon salt

Cut apricots and peaches in halves. Arrange, hollow sides up, in a shallow pan. Add pineapple. Cover fruits with rest of the ingredients, combined. Let broil for 15 minutes. Turn several times to allow even cooking.

Broiled Sausages.

8 links sausages

1-4 teaspoon pepper

Sprinkle sausages with pepper and place on a shallow pan. Broil for five minutes. Turn and allow other sides to broil three minutes. The sausages may also be cooked on top of the stove. Heat a frying pan. When it is very hot, add and quickly brown the sausages on all sides. Cover with a lid. Lower heat and cook for 10 minutes. Drain off the fat as quickly as it collects—to prevent greasiness.

Major General Julian L. Schley, chief of army engineers, said flood programs for the Ohio and lower Mississippi had been prepared by the engineers "and can be initiated whenever they are authorized and the works can be prosecuted as rapidly as funds are provided."

Senate Majority Leader Barkley, Democrat, Kentucky, and Representative Whittington, Democrat, Mississippi, chairman of the house flood control committee, expressed conflicting views concerning the administration's proposal for seven regional planning areas in the nation.

Whittington, opposing the proposals as duplication of existing planning facilities, recommended instead an advisory planning board to include cabinet officers whose departments are concerned with natural resources.

Barkley, defending the proposals, said he could "see no objection" to establishment of regional planning areas.

VOTEMACHINES BANNED BY ALABAMA COURT

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 20.—(P)—Alabama's supreme court today outlawed voting machines for individual counties under a constitutional provision for a uniform election system.

Although the court was divided, four to three, its decision precluded installation of voting machines in Mobile county under the Douglas act of the 1935 legislature.

PERMANENT PLANS FOR JOBLESS URGED

Oklahoma Senator Says Works Program Should Include Flood Control.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(P)—Senator Lee, Democrat, Oklahoma, told the National Rivers and Harbors Congress today he believed the federal government should adopt a permanent public works program to provide work for large numbers of unemployed made jobless by technological advancement.

"If we should balance the budget tomorrow and repeal all the taxes which business objects too," Lee said, "we still would have with us an army of unemployed. As long as we have in excess of 10 million men out of work through dislocation of labor."

Lee said the works program should include flood control and soil conservation activities, which he said were interrelated.

Robert Fechner, director of the Civilian Conservation Corps, endorsed a suggestion by Lee that soil conservation camps be expanded. He also appealed for continuation of the CCC, which was extended for three years at the last session of congress.

Major General Julian L. Schley, chief of army engineers, said flood programs for the Ohio and lower Mississippi had been prepared by the engineers "and can be initiated whenever they are authorized and the works can be prosecuted as rapidly as funds are provided."

Senate Majority Leader Barkley, Democrat, Kentucky, and Representative Whittington, Democrat, Mississippi, chairman of the house flood control committee, expressed conflicting views concerning the administration's proposal for seven regional planning areas in the nation.

Emory To House State Plant Life In New 'Museum'

Directed by Dr. W. B. Baker, advanced students in biology at Emory University this week began construction on a herbarium which when completed will eventually house every known species of plant in Georgia.

With garden clubs throughout the state co-operating for the project, several thousand plants have been classified, card-indexed and preserved in the collection. Duke University already has consulted the file for information in its study of orchids in the south, of which the Emory herbarium has eight varieties thus far.

Of special interest to workers in the botany department are the granite outcroppings so characteristic of Georgia's mountains. Dr. Baker and other members of the department have made several recent trips to the Okefenokee swamp, finding there several plants previously unidentified.

In conjunction with the creation of the plant "museum," the department is also making a pollen collection for experiments with serum for the cure of hay fever.

Shrimp of Alaskan waters are much smaller than shrimp of the Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

INSPECTION OF VET HOSPITALS ASKED

Management and Treatment May Be Looked Into.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(P)—Chairman Rankin, Democrat, Mississippi, of the house committee on World War veterans' legislation, introduced a resolution today for a committee inspection of soldiers' hospitals and other veterans' administration facilities.

He proposed to have the committee study their management and administration and the treatment accorded veterans in them.

Rankin also introduced a bill which would make tubercular World War veterans eligible for total disability benefits.

In another measure he proposed that any person who made false statements in connection with an application for veterans' benefits would forfeit claim to such benefits, be guilty of a misdemeanor and punished by a fine of $1,000 or a year's imprisonment, or both.

WILHOIT WOULD BAN
HANDSET PHONE FEE

Commissioner Urges Extra Charge Be Eliminated or Reduced.

Elimination of the extra charge for handset telephones in Georgia was sought yesterday by Jud P. Wilhoit, member of the Public Service Commission at a meeting of the commission.

Wilhoit asked that the Southern Bell Telephone Company be required to show cause why the extra charge on French-type phones should not be reduced or done away with.

The commission postponed action two weeks on his request. Handset phones have carried an extra charge since 1927, when they were introduced, Wilhoit pointed out. At first the charge was 50 cents but this was reduced in 1933 to 15 cents per month.

Mexican Chili Con Carne

The commission member asserted that if a subscriber had paid the extra charge on French phones since 1927, he would have paid out a total of $44.60 as rental on an instrument which he said cost the telephone company only $9.57.

All states started out with the 50-cent extra charge. Most of them reduced it drastically and 13 eliminated the charge in 1935. These states were Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Tennessee, Utah, Rhode Island, New York, Pennsylvania, Vermont, Idaho, West Virginia, Wisconsin and New Jersey. They classified the handset phone as standard equipment now, Wilhoit said.

BALFOUR TO VISIT
LOCAL SIGMA CHIS

National Fraternity President En Route to Nassau.

L. G. Balfour, national president of Sigma Chi fraternity, will arrive in Atlanta tomorrow morning to visit Emory and Georgia Tech chapters of the organization. Balfour, who is en route for a winter vacation in Nassau, is visiting various chapters of the fraternity on his journey. He lives in Attleboro, Mass.

Sigma Chi leaders here are completing arrangements for his entertainment during his 12-hour stay. Past National President Hamilton Douglas and Province Leader H. Stanley Hastings, both of Atlanta, will accompany the visitor on a tour of the city prior to a luncheon in his honor, to be given by the Atlanta alumni chapter of Sigma Chi, at Harvey's restaurant.

He will visit the active chapters in the afternoon and will be a guest at the Decatur home of Mr. and Mrs. Hastings at a dinner that night.

Speech of presentation will be made by Young H. Fraser, and Mayor Scott will accept the monument on behalf of the city. Miss Josephine Bell, 11-year-old student at Glenwood school, will read her essay, which won first prize in the "Stephen Decatur" contest sponsored by the Elks' lodge.

The block, taken from Stone Mountain, required the work of ten men for two days to move it to the quarry, where it was polished, then two more days to move it to its present spot by the city hall building.

S. L. Threadgill, exalted ruler of the Decatur lodge of Elks, will preside at the services, and will introduce George B. Hamilton, state treasurer, who will deliver the principal address. David P. Phillips is serving as general chairman.

Funeral services for Oscar Brooks, 55, of 119 Beaumont avenue, Decatur, found dead Tuesday afternoon in a parked car in a negro cemetery on the Lawrenceville road, were held at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Chestnut Grove Baptist church. The Rev. P. H. Swords officiated and burial was in the churchyard.

A DeKalb county coroner's jury Wednesday said Brooks came to his death from "self-inflicted monoxide poisoning."

DECATUR DEDICATES
MEMORIAL TODAY

10-Ton Monument to City's Namesake Given by Elks' Lodge.

A 10-ton Stone Mountain granite marker honoring the memory of Commodore Stephen Decatur will be dedicated at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon in ceremonies at Decatur hall.

The market has on it a plaque describing the life and works of the famous commodore, after whom the city of Decatur was named. It will be presented by Elks Lodge, No. 1602.

The block, taken from Stone Mountain, required the work of ten men for two days to move it to the quarry, where it was polished, then two more days to move it to its present spot by the city hall building.

S. L. Threadgill, exalted ruler of the Decatur lodge of Elks, will preside at the services, and will introduce George B. Hamilton, state treasurer, who will deliver the principal address. David P. Phillips is serving as general chairman.

Speech of presentation will be made by Young H. Fraser, and Mayor Scott will accept the monument on behalf of the city. Miss Josephine Bell, 11-year-old student at Glenwood school, will read her essay, which won first prize in the "Stephen Decatur" contest sponsored by the Elks' lodge.

Sister Saves Life
Of Brother When Gunman Shoots

Police yesterday credited Mrs. Angelo Booras with saving her brother's life Wednesday night when she pushed him out of the way of a gunman who walked into their Cherokee avenue luncheon room, became irritated and decided to shoot. Mrs. Booras received a flesh wound in the arm.

The gunman entered the luncheon room and asked for a hamburger. Mrs. Booras told police. When her brother, Harvey A. Tanner, 31, served earlier customers first, the caller became incensed, she said, drew a gun and said "I think I'll shoot you."

Mrs. Booras pushed Tanner as the man fired, police said. In the excitement that followed, the gunman walked out and disappeared.

CITY EMPLOYEES MUST SEEK PENSION BY APRIL 1.

Deadline for enrollment of city employees in the general employees' pension fund, in accordance with provisions of an amendment to the pension act adopted by the legislature this month, has been set at April 1, City Comptroller B. Graham West, secretary of the pension board, announced yesterday.

Employees may enroll by paying 2 per cent of their salaries from November 1, 1927, to May 1, 1935, and 3 per cent of their salaries from May 1, 1935, to date. In cases where employees name their wives as beneficiaries they pay 3 and 4 per cent, respectively, for the two periods, the act provides.

Urging all city employees not on the pension rolls to make their applications immediately, West said back dues may be paid in 50 installments over a period of 50 months.

PIERRE WALL CRASH HURTS
SALVAGE OPERATOR

Head of Crew Pinned Under Brick at Place Where Firemen Were Injured.

A salvage operator, who narrowly missed death where two firemen were injured less than two months ago under tons of falling bricks, was recovering yesterday from injuries suffered Wednesday when a two-story wall at the O. B. Andrews Paper Company collapsed.

Emory Smith, 39, heading a salvage crew tearing down the wall, was struck down by falling brick as the wall of the fire-swept structure fell without warning.

He had just tied a rope around a section of the wall when the mass of brick gave way. Smith was forced to jump from the ladder but was pinned by the brick. The salvage crew extricated him and sent him to Grady hospital, where he was treated and transferred to St. Joseph's to recuperate.

HOW TO GET

A Handsome 12" Remington-Du Pont

DLER, FOE OF CIO, OPPOSES MINIMUM ANNUAL WAGES

Man Says Business Is Eager To Co-operate With Government.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Tom Girdler, chairman of Republic Steel Corp., which fought a great industrial battle last year with the CIO, tonight he would like to see the company's operations so stable that its workers could be assured minimum annual wages.

"Perhaps," he added, "it is not much to hope that that time will come in America."

In an address prepared for a meeting of fellow alumni of Lehigh University, Girdler said the company is not in the grips of the current recession "less acute than those which it has conquered four years ago."

He added, "for the time being, co-operation among business and labor is the only way of having the welfare of the nation at heart."

He said, "scores of businessmen," he said, "have found it impossible to get on their feet without the government's practical co-operation," adding: "They are anxious to buckle in to the job in that spirit."

Throughout the land tonight millions of people facing the bitter realities of another depression are praying that the government will really join with business in the effort to speed up industry and make more jobs.

ONS SAY FINANCES MADE PUBLIC

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(AP)—The leaders expressed astonishment today at President Roosevelt's suggestion that they should make public their union's financial statements.

All those who could be reached said they always had made their reports. Questioning closed that most of them meant they sent fiscal reports to union members.

However, William Green, American Federation of Labor president, pointed out that the union distributed copies of its financial report to the press each autumn convention.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers and chief of the Committee for Industrial Organization, was not reached for comment, but his aides said the union sent a "complete" financial report to all local unions each six months. This report, they said, included the salary and expenses of union employees, as well as details of all other expenditures and receipts.

FREE CONVICTS SHOT TRYING TO ESCAPE

ANSING, Kas., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Three convicts were shot and five others were captured by prison guards tonight when they attempted to escape over the walls of the Kansas state penitentiary.

'Big Apple' Dance Helps University Students Keep Awake at Athens

If "an apple a day keeps the doctor away" perhaps the "big apple" dance will keep Morpheus away, too, say these University of Georgia students. Left to right are Paul Newman, of Athens; Saidee Hodgson, of Athens; Robert W. Schantz, of Rye, N. Y., and Mary Frances Wallace, of Douglas. They were caught by the cameraman doing the "big apple" dance just as they reached the 50-hour mark in the university psychology department's "100-hours-without-sleep" experiment.

Death Chair Maker Excused From Jury

HOUSTON, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Robert Storm, electrician, was called as a prospective juror in a murder trial today and asked to be excused.

"Why?" asked Judge Langston King.

"Because I'm opposed to capital punishment," Storm replied.

"Why?" the prosecutor asked.

"Because I designed and installed the Texas electric chair 14 years ago," he said.

He was excused.

The warden said one convict was shot by prison officials as he attempted to scale the south wall enclosing the prison yard. The other two were shot when officers sighted them trying to flee over the north wall of the prison near the power plant.

Reaction Tests Daily.

The reaction tests are taken every afternoon by Dr. Edwards and his assistants. Their reactions might find their way into a book, but Dr. Edwards said the tests were being made for "pure science" this time.

He emphasized what he said was the "need of such experiments," adding he believed the students would not be injured by the test in any way and that sleep and fatigue are factors deserving consideration today.

"No definite conclusions can be reached until a complete tabulation of the day-to-day records is made," he said. "Then the actual results would be made public."

successfully in 1931 at the university.

The experiment was begun at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning by Ruth Jimmerson, of Unadilla; Mary Frances Wallace, of Douglas; Saidee Hodgson, of Athens; Paul Newman, of Athens, and Robert W. Schantz, of Rye, N. Y. All are upper classmen.

Observers stay with the subjects every hour of the day and night. Otherwise they are supposed to live "as normally as possible and are warned not to let their appetites get the best of them," Dr. Edwards explained.

Little variation in their reactions has been recorded so far. The students say they feel as well as ever. A doctor examines each one daily.

The experiment itself is scientific, but the participants get a "big kick" out of it. They keep up their studies in the early parts of the nights. Later they have company and play checkers. Or they listen to the radio or go for short walks.

$80 Daily Allowed A.N. Duke at College

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(AP)—An allowance of approximately $80 a day for Anthony N. Duke, 19-year-old Princeton student and heir to part of the Duke tobacco fortune, was approved today for the rest of 1933 by Surrogate Foley.

A total of $2,400 a month is necessary to support and educate young Duke in the manner to which he is accustomed, his mother, Mrs. T. Markoe Robertson, said in obtaining a guardianship order.

The $2,400 a month will come from the $278,000 annual income Duke receives from trust funds.

Reed testified, Wright implored: "Get that moaning — out of here — I can't stand it."

Reed then described succeeding events as follows:

The Wrights' negro maid, Leona, came downstairs and Wright told her:

"I've shot Evelyn, Leona. I caught her cheating."

Wright sat down at a desk, wrote a check, said to the maid:

"I haven't got much money, but I'll give you this $70. That will take care of you and the baby."

(The Wrights' three-year-old daughter.)

Wright then asked for and obtained permission to telephone his father at the Knickerbocker hotel, Milwaukee, Wis.

"Hello, father," Wright said between pauses at his end of the line. "There has been a terrible tragedy at our home. I've shot Evelyn. I caught her cheating. It's just as you said it would be. You'll stick by me, won't you?"

During most of Reed's testimony, the slender, tragic-faced Wright sat with chin and jaw jammed deep into the crotch of his trousers and palm, or with his head bowed on an outstretched hand.

Three Highball Glasses.

Reed testified he found two partly-filled highball glasses, cigarettes and an ash tray on the piano, and an empty highball glass on the floor near the fireplace.

He said he found two pistol cartridges, shells in the piano top among the strings, and another officer arriving later picked up three more from the floor.

A neighbor of Paul A. Wright, Miss Litane McClusky, testified today that on the morning Wright is accused of killing his wife and John Kimmel she heard several pistol shots fired intermittently, with intervals between bursts.

"There was a shot, like a singing noise, then some more, a definite hesitation, then more," said Miss McClusky. "They went like this."

The witness tapped her pencil to illustrate the spacing of the shots.

Miss McClusky said she was awakened by the noise at about 4 a. m. last November 9.

Said He Shot Steadily.

In a statement to police after the double-shooting, Wright said he fired shots at his wife and Kimmel steadily, swiftly—in a "white flame" of jealous anger.

"I shot, shot, shot—all that was in me—I just kept pumping," his statement read.

Wright and Kimmel tilted their liquor glasses together in camaraderie the morning of the shooting, witnesses testified in superior court.

A bartender said that shortly before the shooting occurred in Wright's Glendale home the defendant and Kimmel drank together at the bar of Clara Bow's "It Cafe"—apparently friendly and jovial.

On direct questioning, the bar-isolation of Georgia's request that all cities designate the week as "Button Week."

"There is no worthier cause to which one could give than this one to help fight the spread of infantile paralysis," the mayor said.

Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Fulton county sponsors of the President's birthday celebration, have plastered the town with posters appealing to citizens to contribute to the campaign and to buy tickets to the birthday parties to be held in Fulton county.

Everywhere one goes the posters—fight infantile paralysis—greet his eyes, serving as a constant reminder of the importance of the campaign.

Members of the Junior Chamber and volunteer women are canvassing town selling tickets to the various parties. Organizations are being asked to buy the tickets in blocks, with one key man in each business handling the sales.

tender, Richard Welch, was asked if either of the men was intoxicated. He replied he did not think so.

"They were just jovial, happy and telling jokes," he said. "They didn't stagger and their speech wasn't slurred."

Concerned About Wife.

Jerry Giesler, defense attorney, brought out the same testimony on cross-examination. Welch also told him he heard Wright express concern lest his wife should worry about his whereabouts.

The witness testified he heard Wright say something about wanting a friend to accompany him home as evidence to his wife that he had been on a stag party.

Kimmel did accompany him. A little later, Wright told police, he found his friend and his wife embracing in the living room. In a "white flame" of rage, he said, he shot them to death.

E. A. Manning, Glendale police sergeant, another state's witness, said that at 4:10 a. m. he received this telephone message:

"Now get this straight. My name is P. A. Wright. I live at 1830 Verdugo Vista. I've just killed my wife. That's all."

Manning said that Wright's voice sounded clear, the enunciation normal. He sent an ambulance with two detectives to the Wright home, he said.

Mayor Opposes Control by U. S. Of Utility Firm

Atlanta would lose taxes approximating $458,000 under a recent proposal that the government take over properties of the Commonwealth Southern utility system, Mayor Hartsfield declared yesterday in a letter to Senator George, Senator Russell and Congressman Ramspeck.

Though "the matter is now in a nebulous stage and our fears possibly are not well-founded," he urged the Georgia senators and representative to consider the loss in revenue should the issue come to their attention.

Loss of such revenue would mean "a very heavy blow to the city of Atlanta," the mayor declared, pointing out that the power company last year paid $458,000 into the city treasury.

The action was prompted by a recent proposal by Wendell L. Wilkie, president of Commonwealth Southern, that the government acquire properties of the utilities system, which includes the properties of the Georgia Power Company.

MILTON OPPOSITION WILTS IN SENATE

Likelihood of Challenge to Seating of New Jersey-ite Dwindles.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Suggestions that the senate investigate the qualifications of John Milton to be a senator from New Jersey evoked little response from legislators today.

One administration leader asserted there was little likelihood Milton's right to take the oath would be challenged.

Milton was appointed to the senate by A. Harry Moore, who resigned from the senate to become Governor of New Jersey.

Senator Norris, Independent, Nebraska, said yesterday some effort might be made to have Milton's qualifications investigated, but asserted he would lead no such movement.

Norris said today that he saw no reason why Milton's appointment should not be referred to the elections committee for scrutiny but reiterated he would not seek to have that done.

Senator La Follette, Progressive, Wisconsin, said he knew nothing about Milton, and did not intend to challenge his right to sit in the senate.

MAYOR FRANK HAGUE VACATIONS IN MIAMI

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Mayor Frank Hague, of Jersey City, arrived here for a short vacation and attended the races at Hialeah Park today with Mayor Edward J. Kelley, of Chicago.

Mayor Hague declined to comment on reports from Washington that a contest might develop over the seating of his legal advisor, John Milton, who was appointed senator by Governor A. Harry Moore.

Moving Picture Chain Gives Aid In Polio Fight

The 50-odd theaters of the Lucas & Jenkins chain throughout Georgia are co-operating to the fullest extent to help make the President's birthday celebrations and the fight against infantile paralysis a success, Arthur Lucas declared yesterday.

To each of the theaters a trailer asking help in raising funds is being shown as the theater operators strive to center the public's attention on the campaign, Lucas said.

"I told Edgar Dunlap, chairman of the state campaign, that an organization would co-operate in every way we could to aid this fight," the theater executive said.

The appeal is forcefully made on the screen. First the seal of the national committee for the celebration of the President's birthday is flashed on the screen and then the words, "Will you help?"

Throughout Fulton county, Georgia, and the nation birthday parties will be held January 29 honoring the President.

"This is a fight that every man and woman and child should co-operate in, not for one reason but for both—to honor the President and to help fight infantile paralysis," Mr. Lucas declared.

Throughout the state the Lucas & Jenkins theaters are showing these trailers.

GOGA TO EXPLAIN Foe of Jews To Send Envoy on London Mission

BUCHAREST, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Premier Octavian Goga decided today to send Foreign Minister Istratie Micescu to London to defend the nationalist, anti-Semitic course of his new government.

Inquiries and complaints to the League of Nations had produced hours of long distance consultation between the premier and the foreign minister who has been at Geneva. Some of these came from Jewish societies in England.

Meanwhile, politicians prepared their campaigns for the March 2 election in which Goga's National Christian party must obtain a 40 per cent vote to retain office under the constitution.

LA FOLLETTE URGES FIGHT ON SYPHILIS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Senator La Follette, Progressive, Wisconsin, asked congress today to appropriate $271,000,000 over the next 13 years to aid states in stamping out venereal disease, especially syphilis.

He introduced a bill which would create a division of venereal diseases in the United States Public Health Service and would authorize annual grants to states for an anti-venereal campaign.

O'CONNOR QUILTS COMPTROLLERSHIP

Reported To Seek Democratic Nomination for Governor of California.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(AP)—J. F. T. O'Connor, comptroller of the currency, resigned today and persons close to him said he would seek the Democratic nomination for governor of California.

O'Connor declined, however, to expand previous statements that he was considering the race. In his letter of resignation, he said merely that he wanted to return to California to "take care of pressing matters there."

The resignation actually will not take effect until April 1 because President Roosevelt asked the comptroller not to give up his federal activities entirely until that time.

The comptroller's letter said that in the five years he has supervised the national banks there were only 12 failures, a smaller number than in any previous administration. He attributed this to Roosevelt's policies.

Since 1933, O'Connor added, the capital structure of the national banks has been strengthened, their deposits have been insured and they have received the largest deposits in their history.

Roosevelt's reply said O'Connor's record "would be a satisfactory achievement for the life-time of most people, but I know that the same faithful and intelligent service which you have rendered the nation as comptroller of the currency will be cheerfully and successfully given to whatever task you may assume."

Unless the President names a successor when O'Connor leaves, Marshall R. Diggs, of Dallas, Texas, will become acting comptroller.

FLORIDA GROUPS ASK CUT IN BRIDGE TOLLS

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Jan. 20.—(AP)—E. S. Fraser, bridge engineer of the state road department, estimated today the Gandy bridge connecting Tampa and St. Petersburg could be duplicated for $1,919,974 and a bridge supporting 10 additional tons of any span could be built for $2,188,200.

Fraser's report went to Chairman A. B. Hale, who made it public without comment.

St. Petersburg and Tampa groups recently started a campaign to have tolls on the privately owned bridge reduced, or to have the state road department acquire the span and remove the tolls. No agreement on either proposal has been reached.

WOMAN DIES, 3 HURT WHEN CAR HITS POLE

FREDERICKSBURG, Va., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Mrs. Abram B. Lichtman, of The Bronx, New York, was killed and three members of her family were injured when their automobile skidded into a telephone pole on United States route No. 1 four miles south of here this afternoon.

The injured included her husband and the car driver, minor cuts; Ira Lichtman, 12, their son, skull injuries; Mrs. Minnie Weisberg, 58, sister of Mr. Lichtman, chest injuries. The child and Mrs. Weisberg were brought to the Mary Washington hospital here.

(Pasteurized or Raw)

Your doctor will tell you why your child needs pure, rich, fresh, wholesome milk, and how much he needs—

He will tell you, too, about W. O. Pierce's Certified Milk, which not merely meets the bare requirements laid down for all dairies, but goes further and measures up to the much higher standards of the medical profession—

Remember W. O. Pierce's is one of fewer than 150 dairies in the entire United States qualified to produce Certified Milk—and it is operated under the supervision and approval of the Milk Commission of the Fulton County Medical Society.

And remember this—W. O. Pierce buys no milk from anybody! Every bottle of milk W. O. Pierce delivers to you was produced in the W. O. Pierce dairy, from W. O. Pierce's own cows.

Why use milk which you do not KNOW is right, when you can just as easily telephone Cherokee 2213 and get W. O. Pierce's—

KILLER PLANNED SEVENTH SLAYING

'Murder-for-Profit' Syndicate Had Picked American for Victim.

VERSAILLES, Jan. 20.—(P)—Eugene Weidmann, confessed killer of six persons, indicated to an investigating magistrate today that Michael Stein, Baltimore department store director, had been picked as another victim for his "murder-for-profit" syndicate.

Georges Berry, the magistrate, said Weidmann testified he had planned to pursue the 67-year-old executive to Nagnoles, France, but abandoned the project because of the reluctance of Robert Million, another member of the gang.

Weidmann told Berry he had known Stein at Bad Nauheim, Germany, in 1931 and had met him several times in Paris in the summer of 1937.

When Stein informed him he

City Bans Lending Auditorium Seats

Seats or any other equipment in Atlanta's city auditorium cannot be moved outside the building for use by various organizations, Mayor Hartsfield said yesterday.

Replying to numerous groups who have requested that they be allowed to borrow the auditorium seats, the mayor and Councilman John A. White declared the equipment must be kept in the best possible condition and that this will be impossible if it is moved from place to place.

"We would like to accommodate the organizations by letting them borrow the equipment, but it is easy to see that constant lending will be costly to the city and we will be forced to refuse all such requests," the mayor said.

was going to Bagnoles, Weidmann said, he suggested to Million that they follow Stein but Million refused. Berry said Weidmann declared he never saw Stein again.

U. S. CONTROL SEEN IN HOLDING ACT

Electric Bond and Share Files Brief Against Law's Validity.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(P)—The Electric Bond & Share Company told the supreme court today that if the public utility holding company act were sustained it might lead to "control of all business by the federal government."

Joined by 26 subsidiaries, the utilities gave this as the "formula" that could be employed to obtain such control:

"The prohibition of transactions in interstate commerce, and of the right to use the mails and facilities of commerce, unless such business submits to a control system which is beyond the power of congress."

"This device," it added, "could be extended to all kinds of business and all manner of transactions."

These statements were contained in a brief filed as a prelude to arguments February 7 about constitutionality of the act. The act forbids public utility holding companies to use the mails or the facilities of interstate commerce unless they register with the securities commission.

TVA VALIDITY RULING IS SCHEDULED TODAY

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Jan. 20.—(P)—A three-member federal court, which for the last two months has heard the court effort of 18 private utilities to invalidate the Tennessee Valley Authority power program, will hand down its decision tomorrow.

Presiding Judge Florence Allen, Cincinnati, of the United States circuit court of appeals, announced today the court would reconvene at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon for the ruling. The case was completed last Saturday.

SANTEE-COOPER PROJECT CONSIDERED BY COURT

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Jan. 20.—(P)—Judges of the fourth United States circuit court of appeals took under consideration today the question of validity of South Carolina's proposed $37,500,000 Santee-Cooper power and navigation project, to be built with federal funds.

The tribunal heard long arguments upon an appeal of three power companies from a decree of District Judge Glenn, of Chester, S. C., denying them a permanent injunction against the project on the Santee and Cooper rivers, in the Palmetto low country area.

The companies are the Carolina Power & Light Company, of Raleigh; the South Carolina Power Company, of Charleston, S. C.; and the South Carolina Electric & Gas Company, of Columbia, S. C.

RAIN FOR ATLANTA TODAY IS FORECAST

Rain is predicted for Atlanta today after several days of low hanging, threatening clouds have hidden the sun from sight, the weatherman said last night.

The low temperatures for today should be around 45 degrees, he said. Yesterday the mercury ranged between 40 and 46 degrees.

Actress Evelyn Keyes Signs Name on 'Wall of Fame'

Evelyn Keyes, Atlanta's gift to Hollywood, affixes her signature on the wall of the attic studio where she received her first training on the road to movie fame. Her former teacher, Mrs. Aida Tedder deBray, and her son, Freddie, look on as the pretty blond star signs her name, "wall of fame."

Old Friends Honor Evelyn Keyes At Party Given by Music Teacher

Hollywood Film 'Starlet' Presented Book of Poetry and Music Clubs' Monthly 'Practice Prize'; To Leave Atlanta Tuesday.

By YOLANDE GWIN.

Evelyn Keyes went back yesterday to the old neighborhood where stardust first got into her eyes.

Out in West End, where not so many years ago the beautiful, brown-eyed blonde was just another little girl learning to sing and to speak properly, friends and neighbors welcomed her home.

And Evelyn, now on the way to screen stardom, responded graciously. Recently she was chosen a "starlet" by her studio.

Guest of Honor.

Evelyn was guest of honor at an entertainment given by her music and dramatic teacher of bygone years, Mrs. Aida Tedder deBray, in the deBray home on Willard avenue.

Evelyn climbed the stairs to the attic of the modest home, and there, in large, free letters, wrote her autograph on a wall. Little girls like Evelyn used to be when she studied as a child looked on, wide-eyed.

Besides old friends and neighbors, leaders in the West End's business, civic and club life gathered at the deBray home, with members of the "Aida B Sharp Music Club," which Miss Keyes joined as a charter member in 1926.

Sentimental Note.

A sentimental note was sounded when Evelyn was presented with a book of poetry, a volume bound in purple and gold, the "practice prize" which is given each month to a club member who achieves outstanding work.

On display was the club scrapbook, containing clippings of Evelyn's activities before she left for Hollywood a year ago. While the entertainment was in progress, Miss Keyes received a long-distance telephone call to "hurry back to Hollywood." She plans to leave Atlanta Tuesday.

List of Guests.

Those present included Mrs. Hinton Blackshear, president of the West End Civic Club; Mrs. E. L. Edwards, vice president of the West End Woman's Club; Mrs. H. A. Watts, executive secretary of the Tallulah Falls School, and leader in Boy Scout activities, at whose home the "Aida B. Sharp Music Club" was formed in 1926; Mrs. P. G. Saxton, president of the Cascade Garden Club, chairman of fine arts of the fifth district, and in the Civic Club of West End, and co-chairman of art in the City Federation; Dr. C. R. Adams, president of the West End Business Men's Club and county commissioner; J. T. Marler, member of the city council from the new fourth ward, and State Senator Everett Millican.

Miss Keyes left here in August, 1936, for the west coast where she was "discovered" by Cecil B. de Mille and given a part in the "Buccaneers," which was shown here last week.

JAPANESE DRIVE HALTED BY COLD

SHANGHAI, Jan. 21.—(Friday)

(P)—Chinese military circles reported today the Japanese drive on strategic Suichow had been stalemated in the bitter cold of the central China front.

Snow and sleet hindered operations on the southern borders of Shantung province as well as in the Yangtze river valley, 250 miles to the south, where Chinese were counter-attacking Wuhu with some success.

Three American women of the Northern Presbyterian mission were at Yihsein. They were Miss G. M. Rowley, Santa Ana, Cal.; Miss M. M. Wagner, Philadelphia, and Mrs. T. N. Thompson, Cambridge, Ohio.

HOLLAND "INTENSIFIES" HER NAVY IN EAST

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands, Jan. 20.—(P)—A government spokesman disclosed today the Netherlands had "intensified" her naval and air strength in east Indian waters because of increasing numbers of Japanese fishing vessels in waters important in the Netherlands' defense plans.

FRANCE TO QUERY JAPAN ON HAINAN

Will Request Details of Attempted Landing.

PARIS, Jan. 20.—(P)—Diplomatic quarters reported tonight France would ask Japan for "details" regarding an attempted landing by Japanese marines on the Island of Hainan, which commands the sea approach to the northern part of French Indo-China.

Coincident with confirmation from colonial authorities that a landing was attempted, the navy ministry announced three French cruisers were steaming from Saigon, Indo-China capital, to Tourane.

Tourane is the nearest large Indo-Chinese port to the southern tip of Hainan, where the Japanese attempted to land.

A foreign office spokesman said he "believed" the Japanese attempt was "only to get water" and was "nothing at all."

EXPECTANT PRINCESS ON WALK WITH QUEEN

SOESTDIJK, The Netherlands, Jan. 20.—(P)—Crown Princess Juliana, who is expecting the birth of a child shortly, walked for half an hour today with her mother, Queen Wilhelmina, in the Soestdijk palace gardens unobscured by crowds in front.

A physician followed her in an automobile.

DR. H. H. KUNG SEES JAPAN'S COLLAPSE

foundation has been laid for China's financial and currency structure, enabling China to endure a major conflict much better than before.

Opening hostilities found China's public finances relatively in good condition with revenues at record figures. Here the economic condition also was comparatively favorable with the country enjoying stabilized currency, bumper crops and a favorable balance of payment.

More Vulnerable.

Japan's highly industrialized structure is more vulnerable to unsettling effects of protracted war than China's pattern of economic life, which is essentially agricultural. Since foreign trade is the lifeline of an industrial nation, Japan will feel very severely the effects of the loss of foreign trade.

Japan's trade with China, who was her second best customer, has been almost wiped out. Japanese imports into Shanghai during September last year, amounting to approximately $38,864, were nearly $11,000,000 less than for July (before the war began in Shanghai) when they totaled $11,032,963.

This situation, as well as boycotts abroad, places a serious strain on Japan's national economy.

In Midst of Difficulties.

Japan started the war in the midst of financial and economic difficulties, with a huge budget deficit, an unfavorable balance of trade, currency already threatened by the rising cost of living which was borne by a people already taxed to the limit, declining foreign trade and increasing signs of economic unrest.

The situation for Japan becomes all the more difficult because in the world's present mood, the doors of borrowing are unlikely to be open to her in countries capable of lending.

On the other hand the abundant sympathy and support of both America and Europe for the Chinese in their just cause in the present struggle in contrast with the spontaneous world-wide condemnation of the Japanese aggressive policy is an important factor which has operated and will, I believe, continue to operate in favor of China's financial stability.

Financial Aid.

During my recent travels in Europe and America, I was able to conclude important economic and financial arrangements in the severest conditions visited despite the outbreak of hostilities. These arrangements show the confidence displayed by these nations in China's financial future as well as appreciation for her just cause.

The most significant factor in the successful management of China's war finance is the maintenance of stability of currency in relation to foreign currencies. This accomplishment created confidence both at home and abroad.

With the emergency exchange requirement largely covered, it seems reasonable to suppose that China's foreign payments will return to a state of approximate balance though upon a much restricted basis, as to both imports and exports.

Credit Strengthened.

Gold and foreign currency deposits held abroad as well as standing credit in government banks were greatly strengthened during the period since the adoption of currency reform in November, 1937. Strengthening of the reserve was facilitated by the cooperation of the United States government in purchasing substantial amounts of silver from China.

Since that date the excellent harvests of 1936 and 1937, and also the relatively favorable economic situation have created a favorable balance of payments.

FRANCE TO MERGE HER ARMED FORCES

Military, Naval and Air Branches To Be Unified Under Daladier.

PARIS, Jan. 20.—(P)—Premier Camille Chautemps' new cabinet tonight voted to co-ordinate all of France's military, naval and air forces under Edouard Daladier, minister of national defense.

On the eve of their first test in the chamber of deputies, the ministers took the action to unify the nation's defense preparations and the solution of tactical problems.

A decree, it was said, would be promulgated soon to put the almost unprecedented program into effect.

General Marie Gamelin, chief of the army general staff, will be named chief of the general staff of national defense, embracing all three services, under the decree.

Navy Minister William Bertrand and Air Minister Guy Lachambre will retain their portfolios, but will be subject to the supervision of Daladier, who also is war minister now.

A similar system was instituted under the premiership of Andre Tardieu in 1932, but was abandoned when his cabinet fell. In that case, however, there was only one ministry—national defense.

Daladier will be called upon to co-ordinate the armaments programs of the government's three armed branches. He will fix the priority in which their armaments orders are to be manufactured and delivered.

SAVANNAH GIRL DIES AS AUTO OVERTURNS

AUGUSTA, Jan. 20.—(P)—A 12-year-old Savannah girl was killed instantly near Ellenton, S. C., 24 miles east of Augusta tonight when the car in which she was riding with her father overturned.

The child was identified as Alice Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence T. Brown, of Savannah. Her father, driver of the car in which another couple was riding, suffered serious injuries, an examination here revealed.

BRITISH LABOR ASKS FAR EAST SANCTIONS

LONDON, Jan. 20.—(P)—Leading British labor organizations today decided to send delegations to Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden urging the need of sanctions to halt the Chinese-Japanese war.

The decision was reached at a meeting of the National Council of Labor, followed by a joint meeting of the General Council of the Trades Union Congress, the national executive of the labor party and the executive committee of the parliamentary labor party.

26 BODIES FOUND IN COLLEGE

Official Report Places Number of Dead at 46.

ST. HYACINTHE, Que., Jan. 20.—(P)—Seven bodies recovered from the fire-swept Sacred Heart College had been identified tonight.

One identification, that of Liam O'Connell, 12, of West Conn., was tentative.

College authorities officially reported 46 students and teachers dead as a result of flames.

Early Tuesday swept the building in which more than 100 people were sleeping.

Tottering walls stopped a search for 20 bodies believed buried in the ice-laden debris after a blinding brick knocked one of searchers unconscious.

You'll have more fun when the SKIN is clear from WITHIN

No man or woman wants to have a finger poked at them or receive sympathy because of an unhealthy appearance.

Some skin troubles are tough to rectify, but we do know this—skin like the body itself must be fed from within.

To make the food we eat available for strength and energy, there must be an abundance of red-blood-cells.

S.S.S. Tonic builds these red blood cells. It is a simple, internal remedy tested for generations and also praised by scientific research.

You, too, will want to take S.S.S. Tonic to regain and to strengthen your nerves... and to give to your skin natural health glow.

Take the S.S.S. Tonic treatment shortly you should be delighted the way you feel... and have friends compliment you on the way you look. Available at any drug store.

A Winesap apple from Washington State

What is this defense against winter?

When disease-causing bacteria invade the intestines, watch out for "intestinal flu," or digestive upsets and diarrheas!

Science has recently discovered that the regular eating of Washington grown apples aids the body in controlling disease producing bacteria in the large intestine.

This is news of great importance. The value of fruit acids in the stomach has already been recognized. Now we know that we can build up the body's defense against winter germs in the large intestine as well—by eating apples like the Washington State Winesap or Delicious variety. Eat at least 2 such apples daily.

You will find no apples more luscious than Washington grown Delicious and Winesaps. They're crackling crisp, very juicy, unlike in flavor. Each perfect apple has been inspected and passed by government authority, washed, and wrapped in tissue when packed. Ask your grocer for Washington State Delicious and Winesaps.

VEY SETS $1,125 AVERAGE INCOME GEORGIA AREAS

average income of white families in a group of communities in Georgia and South Carolina during 1935-1936 was $1,125, according to preliminary findings on a "consumer survey" by the Works Progress Administration and other federal agencies.

The findings were based on information obtained from 2,675 families in 15 communities in the states. A similar study was made of the income of typical families in representative villages throughout the nation.

The survey indicated more than 100 families in the country as a whole had incomes under $1,100 during the period covered by the investigation.

Negro Income $316. Special study of negro families was made in the southeast in 15 communities in the states. The average incomes for all families, including those on farms, were reported as $316.

Eight Georgia communities were included in the survey. They were Comer, Commerce, Greensboro, Madison, Social City, Washington and Winder.

Reports from families in these communities were consolidated with those from seven South Carolina villages in arriving at average income figures for the region.

Highest Average $1,548. The family income figures for 18 North Carolina and Mississippi villages were listed as $1,548—the highest of any region, the report said.

This fact should not be taken as an indication of greater prosperity there than elsewhere. Had negro families been computed in all regions, it is possible that the average income in the south would have been no higher than in other regions since negroes comprise a large portion of the low income population in the southeast.

The incomes by which families are classified included net money income from earnings and other sources and non-money income in form of home-grown food for family use, value of occupancy of home and rent received as services.

MAN TO SPEAK OF PALESTINE HERE

Will Discuss Jewish Life Before Brotherhood.

The general economic situation in the far east as it affects Jewish life in Palestine will be explained by Mrs. Goldie Myerson, of Palestine, when she speaks at 8 o'clock tonight in the Ahavath Achim hall.

Mrs. Myerson, a former American school teacher of Milwaukee, left this country in 1921 to become a citizen of Palestine. Although she is the mother of two children, she has become one of the outstanding leaders and workers in the rebuilding of Palestine.

She recently testified before the British royal commission investigating the Arab disturbances in the Biblical country. Her object in touring America at this time is to arouse interest in the development of shipbuilding in Palestine.

Her appearance tonight is being sponsored by the Brotherhood of Synagogues, of which Abe Goldin is president. Samuel L. Epstein, chairman of the evening's program, will introduce her.

RS. SUSIE L. PRICE, YEARS HERE, DIES

Former Cartersville Woman's Rites To Be Announced.

Mrs. Susie Land Price, 79, died yesterday afternoon at the residence of a daughter, Mrs. Edward Hook, of 815 Juniper street, E., following an extended illness.

The widow of the late C. F. Price, Cartersville resident, Mrs. Price had made her home in Atlanta since her husband's death, years ago. She was a member of St. Mark Methodist church.

Surviving besides Mrs. Hook are three other daughters, Mrs. Harton O. Wilson, Mrs. Louise Barfield and Miss Susie May Price, all of Atlanta; five grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

Smyrna Students Visit Constitution As Day's Lesson

The senior class of Fitzhugh Lee High school, near Smyrna, learned the hows and whys of the newspaper business yesterday in a two-hour tour of The Constitution plant.

The inspection trip—for which eight of eleven senior students forsook classrooms for the day—was part of a program of practical education to supplement theoretical learning. C. H. King, principal of the school, accompanied the group.

The group inspected Emory University earlier in the year. It plans two more such instructive trips in this school year.

The students who made the tour were Rachael Beatenhough, Edna Buckner, Mary E. Ruff, Shirley Benedict, Nelle Birmingham, Herman Engle, William Parris and Mildred Cahoon.

MARCH PRIMARY DEPLORED BY JURY

Fulton County Association 'Condemns' Date Change.

Setting of the Democratic primary in March "in the face of numerous requests for a fall election" was "deplored and condemned" in resolutions adopted by the Fulton County Association of Grand Jurors made public yesterday.

The resolutions declared the Fulton Democratic executive committee at its meeting January 4 had "disregarded the expressed desires of the Fulton county grand jury and Fulton county citizens," as well as many civic and voters' organizations, by its action.

The association stated the arguments used to defeat a fall primary were of no value because they put the welfare of candidates above that of the people. S. E. Dellenger, secretary of the association, was directed to send a copy of the resolutions to the chairman of the executive committee.

RAMSEY WILL SPEAK AT DINNER TOMORROW

Ralph L. Ramsey, executive secretary of the Georgia Education Association, will speak tomorrow night at a dinner in the Log Cabin drive, sponsored by the Young People's class of the school.

The banquet, to be attended by approximately 50 young persons, is being given by the "Navy"—a losing team of the recent "Army-Navy" contest sponsored by the class. Violin solos by Miss Rose Thompson, a baritone solo by Louis Sammons, sleight-of-hand tricks by Harold Martin and group singing will be features of the program.

JOHN M'CURDY DIES IN STONE MOUNTAIN

Rites for Former Banker Will Be Held From Residence Today.

John Franklin McCurdy, 76, pioneer Stone Mountain citizen, died at his home yesterday morning after a short illness.

He was a former president of the old Stone Mountain Bank. He also served as chairman of the local board of education for many years, and was largely responsible for the erection of the first Stone Mountain high school.

He retired from active business about eight years ago, but retained his interest in local affairs. He was married to Miss Mamie Nash in 1887, and they celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last November.

Survivors are his wife; four daughters, the Misses Hettie, Grace and Annirene McCurdy, of Stone Mountain, and Mrs. J. Ralph McClelland, of Atlanta; two sons, DeWitt and Douglas N. McCurdy, of Stone Mountain; one sister, Mrs. J. T. Carroll, of Houston, Texas, and a brother, M. T. McCurdy, of Birmingham.

Funeral services will be held at 11 o'clock this morning from the residence on Mountain street, with the Rev. J. Foster Young, of Washington, Ga., and the Rev. T. H. Shackelford officiating. Burial will be in Stone Mountain cemetery.

Palbearers will be Julius, Walter, Robert and Burford McCurdy and Walter and Allen Carroll.

JUST A HOT POTATO

Italy, when she set out upon the conquest of Ethiopia, excused her unprovoked assault against that weak and helpless nation on the plea that Rome needed territory for colonization in order to solve its surplus population problem, and that the country of Mussolini must have sources of vastly greater supplies of raw materials.

Since the Italian conquest of Ethiopia it has been difficult for the outside world to get any intelligent reports on what is taking place in that ravished land. The Italian censorship has been clamped down completely and nothing but an occasional rumor leaks out to the world at large.

However, a special dispatch to the London Times from its correspondent in French Somaliland carries information that reveals a complete failure by the Italian authorities to secure any of the benefits they believed would accrue.

The Times' correspondent tells, for instance, that Ethiopia exports, which amounted to about $5,000,000 in 1934, have shrunk to almost nothing under Italian control. Those exports consisted almost entirely of coffee, hides and skins.

Ethiopia formerly raised enough grain for all needs of her own people and even had a small surplus for export. Today it is having to import large quantities of wheat and flour, while other imports have increased heavily.

Instead of enjoying a new material source, the need of foreign credits in order to finance purchases for the Italian armament program has compelled a decree that no firm, Italian or foreign, may export skins from Ethiopia to Italy unless, at the same time, it exports twice the quantity to other countries. The result of this order has been to send prices higher in Italy!

The trouble, of course, is due to two factors. In the first place, the Ethiopian natives, representing Italian occupation, are practically on a sit-down strike. Fields which formerly produced crops are lying fallow and laborers refuse to work on the coffee plantations. The second trouble is of Italian origin. The Italians themselves have been slow to emigrate to the new land. Regardless of excess population and overcrowded conditions at home, the average Italian still prefers the vine-clad hillsides of sunny Italy to the mysterious unknown of the land of the Ras.

Thus does Mussolini learn that colonies, instead of paying for themselves, but add to the white man's burden.

TO HELP FARMERS OF GEORGIA

Not only the physicians of Georgia, but men of every profession, business or trade, can help the farmers of the state, and thus add to the prosperity of all, by constantly stressing the importance of purchasing Georgia grown products whenever possible.

Columbus Roberts, commissioner of agriculture, urged that the doctors of the state follow such a program when he spoke on Tuesday at the annual banquet of the medical and surgical staff of the Georgia Baptist hospital.

Mr. Roberts pointed out that 70 per cent of the population of Georgia depends upon agriculture for a living, adding the self-evident truth that the other 30 per cent cannot expect prosperity unless the farm population is economically successful.

The average annual earnings of a farm worker in Georgia is $147, the commissioner said. He did not, of course, include the material and other advantages of a rural life in this figure. This represents the average cash income.

Georgia, for too long, has neglected to produce many articles of food that are essential to human diet, with the result that heavy sums of money are sent out of the state each year to pay for the imported dairy products, cereals, poultry and eggs, etc., which are profitably raised in other states.

The faster the Georgia farmers learn that there is a large and profit-making market for such staples in the urban centers of this state, the faster they will become independent of cotton and other one-crop systems of farming and the faster they will increase the average of the annual incomes on the farms.

And, every time that average income is increased one dollar, it means that every agricultural worker in Georgia has one dollar more to spend and to add to the total of currency circulation in the state.

PITIFUL SELF-DELUSION

Less than four months ago a 72-year-old Chicagoan was kidnapped. A ransom of $50,000 was demanded and paid, but the victim was not returned. Monday J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI, announced the arrest of a man who has confessed he not only killed the kidnapped Chicagoan, but likewise shot to death his partner in the crime.

For $50,000. In the few weeks since perpetration of this heartless crime, the man is reported to have spent much of his time at the race tracks, betting on the horses. He has traveled from one end of the country to the other and back again. He has, perforce, lived alone, carrying with him, night and day, the secret of his crime.

For a little money, to play with for a little time and to turn over, piece by piece, to the bookmakers at the tracks.

For a fleeting life in hotels and trains, a life lonely and harassed. For a few weeks of false glamour, a mirage of enjoyment which must have proven but empty delusion within hours after the irrevocable crime had been committed.

The utter foolishness of such an act can never cease to bewilder and to astound the average intelligent person. The price to be paid is so immeasurably out of proportion to anything that could be gained.

Even had the man not been caught, his bargain with fate was pitifully wretched. The $50,000 he gained inevitably would be soon gone, flung away to the winds. And he would have lived an existence constantly haunted by the fear of capture and of retribution—an existence through which, in all the hours of each day and the long minutes of every night he would hear, in his heart, the voices of his victims asking "Why?"

Now, caught and confessed, his little hour of lush freedom is over. Facing either a felon's death or a felon's life within a cage of stone and steel, he must gaze with envy upon the wisest men all around, who perform their humble jobs and live their simple lives in happiness and content that the criminal can never know.

FOR AMERICANS ONLY

When Secretary of State Cordell Hull politely, but firmly, informed German Ambassador Hans Dieckhoff that former Ambassador to Germany Dodd was a private citizen in a free country and had every right to publicly express his views, regardless of objections from Hitlerland, Americans received another example of the priceless privilege of free speech.

But it is doubtful that the Nazi regime at Berlin permitted the incident to come to the attention of the restricted, regimented population of that dictator-ruled nation.

Dr. Dodd had delivered a speech in which he severely criticized the Nazi idea. His experiences in Berlin, while he was United States ambassador there, gave him ample opportunity to obtain the material for his lecture. Ambassador Dieckhoff immediately voiced to Secretary Hull his objections to the Dodd statement. Secretary Hull's reply was that this government has no power to put limits upon Dr. Dodd's right of free speech, now that he has resigned from the state service. And certainly the Berlin government has no right to place a curb upon the tongue of any American citizen.

The right of free speech is vital to democracy. Any verboten attitude is thoroughly repugnant to American ideals. Democracy, by that very freedom, leaves itself open to attack from any subversive influences, but in that very weakness lies its strength. For, out of open and free airing of all issues, eventually emerges the truth which all men, if they are honest, seek.

The incident, however, carries a lesson to all Americans, even though Germany cannot profit thereby. It demonstrates anew the heritage of a free peoples and it gives silent warning of the fate awaiting that heritage if ever this country so far forgets itself as to permit Nazism, or any other form of totalitarianism, to gain a foothold here.

FACING A WEIGHTY PROBLEM

(From the Columbia State.)

The solution of this problem of government versus monopoly requires tolerance and breadth of sympathy rather than political fervor. It requires this because the present situation before us is among the most weighty our nation has ever faced. If you do not think so, mark the following by a magazine writer:

Modern life does not appear worth passing on to future generations, judging from the final "election returns" of the human race: The Birth Rate. . . . At the present moment, something seems to have gone wrong, pretty far wrong, with the environment which we have created. Call it industrialism, call it individualism, call it science. . . . somewhere in modern life is something poisonous, which is causing the race to die off at the rate of 50,000 babies a year in this country alone.

There are readers of the handwriting on the wall among us still. Sociologists say that something is poisoning us, and that something is at the center of life. It is the belief that: "I am right and all who differ are wrong." This attitude must be abandoned, else it will destroy us. We must begin to demonstrate the principles of Christianity we profess.

The American people will not reach the acme of safety and happiness without the spirit and principles with which as a nation they started and which they have so unwisely neglected.

AMERICA SPEAKS

Voters Favor Death Penalty for Women Convicted of Murder.

By DR. GEORGE GALLUP,
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Are you in favor of the death penalty for murder? If so, are you in favor of it for women? Every so often Americans ask themselves about capital punishment as the spotlight falls on a Bruno Hauptmann or a Ruth Snyder, or of the famous Snyder-Gray murder case.

Americans who are asking the question again next week when an Ohio court of appeals rules on the appeal of Mrs. Anna Marie Hahn, the Cincinnati woman who has been condemned to die March 10 for the arsenic deaths of several men. Unless Mrs. Hahn's application is granted, or unless Governor Davey commutes her sentence to life imprisonment, she will become the first woman in Ohio's history to die in the electric chair.

SINCE AGITATION It has been just 10 years since New York state was agitated by the execution of Ruth Snyder, and by a coincidence Mrs. Hahn's appeal will be decided almost on the anniversary of the New York woman's death, January 12, 1928. Today a nation-wide survey of opinion indicates that the death penalty is granted, or unless Governor Davey commutes her sentence to life imprisonment, she will become the first woman in Ohio's history to die in the electric chair.

There are seven states where the law provides a maximum penalty of life imprisonment for murder—Maine, Rhode Island, Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin, North Dakota and South Dakota. Sponsors of the law in these states claim a better homicide record than the average for the United States.

In today's survey, however, voters from these seven states say they believe in capital punishment with the rest of the country. The average vote for the seven is: For death penalty . . . 57 per cent Against death penalty 43 per cent

Women are much more likely to oppose capital punishment than men, the survey shows, but few women who do approve of the death penalty would make any exception for a woman.

Help For The Adamsville Lady.

Last Saturday this column opened its ever hospitable doors to a communication from a lady in Adamsville, describing how difficult it was for her, and how expensive, to come to the Carnegie Library in Adamsville to secure references and other kinds of books.

Now comes a letter from Beverly Wheatcroft, secretary of the Georgia Library Commission, describing the service that body performs for just such people as the correspondent at Adamsville. Miss Wheatcroft doesn't care right out and say so, but her letter carries a faint aroma of protest.

Those ghostly hints between the lines seem to infer that everyone, at least your old Silhouette, should know about the Georgia Library Commission, its functions and its services.

Sorry, Miss Wheatcroft, but we are terribly forgetful. It is even quite likely that, if say a month or two from now, another communication similar to the Adamsville letter comes in, we'll perpetrate the same affront to the community as we did over again.

We know we shouldn't. For the commission is really performing a fine service. But that's just how we are, how it is. However, let the Wheatcroft epistle speak for itself.

Sending Books
By Mail.

"We are very happy to tell you," she writes, "that since 1920 the state has made an annual appropriation to support our department, known as the Georgia Library Commission. Our special work is in sending books by mail to rural people all over the state who are not within easy access of local libraries."

"There is no red tape to this service. Readers simply write us for what they want and our staff of trained librarians selects suitable books. These books are mailed direct to the reader, no matter what his address. A post office address or a rural route address is all that is necessary for him to receive books from the State Library Commission right at his door."

"Each loan may be kept for a month or even longer, if necessary, and we do not even charge if books are kept overdue, which is the usual custom in public libraries. Our readers do pay the postage on their books, but since the United States post office provides a special parcel post rate for this type of book service, the postage is very little, amounting to approximately 3 cents each way for one book, 4 cents for two books, and so on."

"Fifty books may be sent for 60 cents and a hundred books for $1.20. Such large loans as these go to rural schools or groups of rural clubwomen for three months, during which time the books are circulated among the group of readers."

"During the year 1937 we sent out 60,834 books from our office in the state capital in reply to requests from 12,186 rural Georgians."

"We shall be glad to have you pass this information on to the lady at Adamsville, acquainting her with the opportunity of borrowing books free by mail from her State Library Commission, and in the future to refer other requests which may come to you for book service from rural people to our department."

Maybe We Don't Understand.

Japanese explanations of all those tragic happenings in China have been so consistently sympathetic and kindly in tone, we are beginning to wonder if we've misread the situation. Can it be possible that Nippon is actually protesting friendship for the Chinese; in arguments that all they desire is "co-operation," and that they really have the best interests of China at heart?

Have we done Tokyo an injustice? Were those air raids on the Chinese civilian populations nothing but goodwill flights, after all?

France in Crisis

NEW YORK.—One remark by M. Leon Blum in the course of the recent ministerial crisis showed how grave the situation was. He said when the President of the Republic charged him to form a ministry, that he wanted to form a cabinet as quickly as possible, because of the evil impression that a prolonged crisis would create abroad. And then he added that he wanted to attempt something audacious by inviting representatives of all parties of Republican and Democratic principles to step into his cabinet.

Leon Blum desired the formation of a government of national union. Therewith he wanted to put a strap under the hearts of France's enemies in Eastern Europe. These allies are drifting away, they are being weaned away from the French alliance by Germany. The chief argument of the German propaganda-service to East European States is that France is innately divided and torn up with Bolshevik rot and is only by heroic measures kept on its feet. For that reason the allies of France are warned, they may as well abandon their reliance on France for she will not be able to come to their help in a difficult hour and switch their adherence to the Rome-Berlin axis that unbreakable mighty front of Fascist states who know no social unrest and who stands by its friends in prosperity and adversity.

But the parties of the Right do not want to collaborate in the formation of national union cabinet, although they always clamor for such an arrangement. The point is, they do not want a man like Blum at the head, for Blum is the sort of statesman who would insist on the equality of every interest in the reaction of the common weal. The reaction's interpretation of the common weal is another one than Blum's. With the reaction the common weal is identical with its own class-interests.

Class Representation

It is to be noted that Blum, although the leader of the strongest party in parliament, the Socialist, nevertheless refrained from introducing a Socialist form of government to which he had the right. His sense of Democratic values is higher than that of his opponents. He wanted to enlarge the basis of Democracy, give every class and caste and group a representation in the government.

The hurrah-patriots turned him down. And the crisis continues for even if Chautemps or Sarraute succeed in forming a cabinet, whatever combination the next government reveals, it will not be

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

'Pot and NEW YORK, Jan. 20. Kettle' of all that has been said and written about the Hague dictatorship in Jersey City, I would like to speculate on the state of affairs that would exist there if the CIO were to win a complete victory, organize the town as thoroughly as Frank Hague has organized it and elect a complete ticket of CIO candidates, including all judges.

Would the CIO be any more tolerant than Hague has been, or would Jersey City find that she had merely traded one coercive government for another?

We know that the CIO leaders like judges who believe as they do and lean as far to their side as Mr. Hague's judges lean toward Fascism. They call that obedience to the mandates of the people and an expression of democracy. They frankly demand that Mr. Roosevelt be allowed to appoint to the supreme court enough men pledged to his program to insure the confirmation of any measure he might propose.

In the present state of affairs the people elected Hague and his judges knowing what they stood for, and the judges ran true to form. But in this case the CIO people hold that the election returns were no mandate and that the judges' compliance with the returns is a foul desecration of the sacred heritage.

But it seems idle to argue that the people did not know what they were doing. They knew what they were doing. They knew from long experience and still they voted for him and his.

Organized It is true that the vote was organized. Coercion and coerced by political job pressure and so was not entirely free. But we know that this sort of thing is common in our politics, and we know also that in the internal affairs of the CIO the union politicians organize the vote. We also have seen that intimidation and coercion are ready weapons of the CIO, for its members boast of having "ganged up" on individuals who disagreed with them and of having brought economic pressure to bear on business men to deter them from doing business with firms which the union had struck.

This seems to parallel the intimidation charged against Frank Hague. It is complained that he has dissuaded property owners from renting halls to the CIO by an implied threat to raise their taxes and slap "violations" on their property.

That is familiar practice, too, in our politics, and nobody was more adept at intimidation than the late Huey Long, who somehow never really alarmed the current crusaders for civil liberties in Jersey City, even though he kicked several students out of Louisiana State University for daring to criticize him in their paper. In that case not only freedom of speech was violated but freedom of the press and intellectual freedom as well.

The CIO was not involved, however, so the whole affair was laughed off as a ribald row between some prankish juveniles and a mischievous but good-hearted politician.

Position Would the CIO take Analyzed steps to deter property owners from renting halls to an outright Fascist organization if it had Frank Hague's control of Jersey City? I go by the declared position of a prominent CIO leader that this is not a game but a fight, that those who are not with the CIO in the fight are its enemies, and are presumably to be treated as such, and that freedom of expression can be carried to extremes. I am guided also by the reminder sent to President Roosevelt that the CIO expected him to be partial in return for a campaign contribution. And, judged by the CIO's coercive actions elsewhere, I am led to expect that if the hall owner rented his place to a Fascist group the CIO administration of Jersey City would destroy him with a boycott just as effectively as Frank Hague might do it with a tax increase or a "violation."

The demand on President Roosevelt for a partial treatment suggests that the CIO judges in Jersey City would be expected to sing for their supper and that in any case involving opposition the defendant would receive about the same dealing that Hague's police and judges have given the CIO.

Altogether the row is reminiscent of two dips who run up to the policeman, one yelling, "He glommed my stickpin!" and the other, "He's got my watch!" (Copyright, 1938, for The Constitution.)

Poverty to Wealth.

John W. Mackay was born in 1821. He came to the United States penniless and left it one of the richest men on earth. He personally superintended removal of $150,000,000 from the Comstock Lode, of which he owned two-fifths, working below ground as a common miner long after he was a millionaire. (He was the father of Clarence Mackay, telegraph tycoon of today.)

Slow Travel.

First steamboat in California waters left San Francisco for Sacramento in 1847, then a six-day journey.

of long duration with the Socialists excluded, that is to say without the strongest group in the Popular Front.

Perhaps a general election will become necessary to end the crisis. A general election, it is thought, might change the relative strength of the parties. The Popular Front may be shown to have lost some of its influence. But it may also not be that case. The Popular Front may be returned by an even greater number of votes.

And what would that mean? That would mean a mandate for Blum to go right ahead, to stop compromising with the bourgeois parties and introduce real Socialism. On that day the Right will regret to have turned down Blum's invitation to govern together.

When an Edison Benefits World, He Deserves All the World Will Pay

By ROBERT QUILEN.

Upton Sinclair recently addressed an open letter to Henry Ford, urging the great industrialist to make his business co-operative give each employee a vote equal to his own.

Mr. Ford doubtless believes that he built his business, and therefore justly holds title to it; but this is an error, according to Sinclair's argument is that Ford's workers, from first to have done as much to build the business as Ford himself, therefore have equal right of ownership.

That conclusion seems plausible, but only because it is based on a false premise. All wealth, even that derived from natural resources, must be created by labor; but modern labor means something more than the unreasoning muscular effort of the ox. Nearly all of it requires some mental effort—some mixture of brain with muscle—and the greater the proportion of brain, the greater the worth of the labor. The value of any work, whether mental or physical, must be determined by the value of the product—by the worth of the service or thing achieved.

Mr. Ford's contribution to the Ford business was an idea. At that time, his employees have built millions of cars; but they must insert bolts, tighten nuts, file weldings and tack upholstery for years and yet build nothing at all without his idea to guide them.

Even Mr. Sinclair wouldn't argue that the worker who tight bolts No. 36 contributes a service equal to Mr. Ford's; and it means that the workers all together deserve a share of the earnings equal to Mr. Ford's, the answer is that they have received more. Their labor didn't pile up because it was split too many ways.

We are asking for trouble when we get away from the American idea that a free man is entitled to get and keep all fairly and honestly can. If he gets unfair, he must be strangled out; but don't knife him because he earns more than rest of us.

It would be nice if all of us had big incomes; but nobody would his salt wishes for unselfish charity, and so long as nature equips for different jobs, and the jobs differ in value, there will be big incomes and big ones. In a perfect world, the plot to hand money as much as Charlie McCarthy, but the customers sin won't pay it.

THIS MORNING

By JOHN TEMPLE GRAVES II.

"Bid me discourse, I will enchant thine ear."

Frederic William Wile, famed editor and columnist for the Washington Star and political commentator for the Columbia Broadcasting System, is confounded if not enchanted by Governor Bibb Graves' pronunciation of "Alabama." After listening to the Governor over the radio the other day, Mr. Wile writes: "As a guy who has a lively interest in pronunciation and spelling, would you mind letting me know sometime whether pronouncing it 'Alabam-mer' is common down there or whether it is simply a philological eccentricity of the Governor." Before answering Mr. Wile we must translate him. He was born and educated in Indiana and doesn't mean the same thing we southerners mean by "er." When he says Governor Graves pronounces Alabama as if it were spelled "Alabam-mer," he means as if it were spelled "Alabam-mer." The Governor puts an "r" on it, and that might be all right, for "a" and "er" are sometimes hard to separate in sound. The amazing thing is that it is a rolled "r," an Indiana "r" if you please. No, Mr. Wile, that isn't common here at all. It's an invention of the Governor's.

"My conclusion," writes E. T. Smith, of Jacksonville, Fla., ancient comments here on the pronunciation of words, "is that accents and pronunciations are based entirely on what we eat. When you go into Charleston or Savannah you can tell immediately that rice has been their food. Go on the coastal islands among the 'Beeches' and you will hear the lapping sound of eating oysters in every word. And who could say 'foist' better than a person raised on potatoes? Listen well the next time you hear Mussolini, and you will detect the spaghetti. Hitler has sauerkraut on his tongue. The Oxford accent carries with it a piece of red roast beef. Stop the next country negro you meet—you will hear him full of 'chitterlings.' I learned all this by observing hogs and how they grunt in different sections. The western corn-fed porker has an entirely different grunt from the Georgia razor-back, acorn-eater and grub-rooter."

That Mr. Smith has roamed the world is obvious. That his heart is still in what must be his native land of interlocking Cabots and Lodges is obvious too, for here is his conclusion: "If you wish to speak in accent undefiled, you should eat baked beans."

No man can have this country's history and genius in his blood experience, education and ancestry as Franklin Roosevelt has, we believe, without understanding that the supreme court of the United States is entitled to the very tops for character and ability. The President has every precedent and right to appoint men of his own philosophy but he reflects on that philosophy if he fails to find in his school men of size when he makes nominations for the court.

CAUSE OF OUR WOE LIES ABROAD

Editor Constitution: It is unreasonable to think that Big Business would welcome hard times. It is also unreasonable to expect any business, big or little, to hire men when they have nothing to do.

We've had plenty of time to go to the bottom of this unemployment problem. Government spending "primes the pump," but if we get any mileage out of the old car we've got to have something in the tank.

There is nothing wrong in our own country; our economic troubles come from war-torn Europe, where most of our former best customers live, whose gold got away from them in the scramble and who now have a money that has a value at home but is worthless abroad. For a hundred years they have cheerfully taken our surplus wheat, corn, hogs and two-thirds of our cotton; they'd like to have it now, but since it now requires five to ten times the pre-war amount of their labor to buy it, they are too poor to consider it. Just consider what happened to our dollar and the whole picture ought to be clear. Within a few minutes after the President signed the bill, our dollar dropped in value from 100c to 58c internationally, yet three years later, here at home it is still the same dollar. A 35-cent dollar would again put it in the world markets, but would give us a bad domestic dollar.

AN OBJECTIONABLE BILL

Editor Constitution: The negro has a growing consciousness of his innate relationship to the south and a pride in its development, and he also shares with the white man a feeling of regret in anything that would tend to humiliate this section. Hence, the anti-lynching bill is about as objectionable to the average negro as to the average white man. But the negro objects more to the indefensible crime of lynching which the bill seeks to redress.

It is utterly impossible to fully make amends for a single lynching, even if the law in question is ever passed and enforced. But such an enactment will say in no uncertain terms that the crime of lynching is not condoned by any thinking person, not to say Christian, but strongly condemned even more than the apparent blow at state rights.

That real progress is being made in wiping out the curse of lynching can't be doubted, if statistics mean anything. At the same time if the passage of the measure will speed the day when the iniquitous evil will be completely annihilated, we may well welcome its passage.

SOLD DOWN THE RIVER
Editor Constitution: It is said that politics makes strange bedfellows; the insistence on passing the anti-lynch bill supplies a pertinent illustration. The backbone of the Democratic party now and for the past 60 years is the white south, yet, for purely political reasons, for the sake of votes, we see this loyal solid south being "sold down the river." Having captured this large vote by way of abundant political largesse and generous handouts such vote-hungry bosses as those of Pennsylvania and New York city, are now eager to tie a double knot in the alliance between the New Deal and Father Divine's Harlemites by shoving through congress this insulting attack on southern character and on state's rights in general.

I lived in the south many years and learned at first-hand its problems, convictions, methods. Personal observation convinced me that the south needs no help from northern politicians, whether Democratic or Republican, and that the southern whites and negroes get along together much better than the whites and colored folks in our northern states.

I sincerely hope that the courageous and justifiable filibuster may defeat this invasion of state rights, this obvious effort to federalize state courts, this effort to betray the south in order to win the negro of the north, as thoroughly as did the senate when asked to convert the supreme court into a partisan servitor of the White House.

GOOD MORNING

By LOUIE D. NEWTON

WALKING WITH CHRIST.

A friend in a distant state has been passing through deep waters of personal sorrow—disappointment that crushes and bruises and leaves one weary of heart. As I have thought of this fine man, my mind has turned again to these lines:

"Have you and I today, Stood silent as with Christ, apart from joy or fear
Of life, to see by faith His face:
To look, if but a moment at its grace,
And grow by brief companionship,
More nerved to lead, to dare, to do
For Him at any cost? Have we today
Found him, in thought, our hand to lay
In His, and thus compare
His will and ours, and wear
The impress of His wish? Be sure
Such contact will endure
Throughout the day; will help us walk erect Through storm and flood—defect
Within the hidden life, sin's dross, its stain;
Revive a thought of love for Him again—
Steady the steps which waiver—help us see
The footpath meant for you and me."

Jesus said, "Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness' sake; for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. Blessed are ye when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for My sake. Rejoice, and be exceeding glad; for great is your reward in heaven; for so persecuted were the prophets which were before you." (Matthew 5:10-12).

WARNER THEATERS
BAN FILM ON NAZIS

Producers To Keep It From 425 Houses 'For Present' as Policy Measure.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(P)—The new issue of the "March of Time" newsreel showing Nazi activities, which has stirred controversy in several cities, was banned "for the present" by Warner Brothers to-night in their 425 theaters, but was shown on Broadway without incident.

Warner officials said that it was withheld because it was considered "not good policy" to run it, but that no pressure had been brought to bear on them.

Radio-Keith-Orpheum officials said their local managers would be allowed to use their own discretion about showing the picture, and Twentieth-Century Fox officials said there would be no interference with the regular monthly exhibition of the newsreel at their theaters.

BAN ON NEWSREEL LIFTED IN CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—(P)—Police Commissioner Allman today reversed the police censor board's ban on a newsreel entitled "Inside Nazi Germany" and ordered a permit issued for its showing in Chicago.

The film, a regular March of Time release, was scheduled for showing in theaters here tomorrow.

Commissioner Allman said his decision to overrule the censor board was made after he viewed the film at a private showing.

Announcement of the ban brought vigorous protest from the Chicago Civil Liberties Committee, the American League for Peace and Democracy and other groups.

Lieutenant Make Mills, head of the police industrial squad, declared the picture placed the Nazi regime in a bad light and would stir up ill feeling.

Persons who saw the film at private showings said it included scattered scenes in Germany before and during the Hitler regime, showed the training of children, then turned to German efforts to attract tourists to this country and the activities of the German-American Bund.

Grocers Forced Into 'the Cooler'

Two Pulliam street grocers were put into "the cooler" last night by three armed negroes who walked in, asked to purchase a "dime's worth of baloney," but took $70 from the cash drawer instead.

L. H. Axelrod, of 942 Pulliam street, and O. M. Paul, of 804 Pulliam street, were alone in their store when the three negro youths strode in. Two drew guns and forced Axelrod and Paul into the meat refrigerator while the third rifled the cash register.

THE CAVE OF MACHPELAH.

Q.—There seems to be a discrepancy between the statement of Genesis 23:16-20, where Abraham is said to have purchased the field of Ephron, including the cave of Machpelah, and the statement of Genesis 33:19 that Jacob purchased the same field. If Abraham had bought the field for 400 shekels of silver why should Jacob buy the same field for 100 shekels of silver? Was it not already his property?

A.—The probable answer is that during the interval of 80 years between the two transactions the descendants of Hamor laid claim to the field, and that instead of asserting his title by inheritance Jacob repurchased the field. This is a perfectly natural supposition and disposes of any discrepancy between the two statements.

Negro Suspect Held
In Grocer's Slaying

Arrest of Paul Darden, 21-year-old negro, in connection with the slaying of T. W. Adcock, West End grocer, killed in a holdup recently, was reported yesterday by city police.

Mr. Adcock died after he was shot in the back by one of two bandits who attempted to hold up his store. Police also reported arrest of two other negroes, John H. Thornton, 32, and Marvin Bivins, 22, in connection with recent robberies, and recovery of a quantity of stolen goods in a raid on a McDaniel street house.

Ellender Stops Talking as Proponents Prepare Strategy on Bill.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(P)—Senator Ellender, Democrat, Louisiana, brought to a close today a filibustering speech against the anti-lynching bill after having held the senate floor for six consecutive sessions with only brief interruptions.

Proponents of the anti-lynching bill conferred on parliamentary strategy today and later predicted passage by the senate within 10 days.

Simultaneously the southern opposition, which had filibustered against the measure for 13 days, expressed confidence the bill would be laid aside early next week.

Senator Van Nuys, Democrat, Independent, after a discussion with Senator Wagner, Democrat, New York, said night sessions would begin early next week in an effort to wear out the southerners.

Senator Connally, Democrat, Texas, field marshal of the opposition, said he understood a few night sessions would be held "as a gesture" in behalf of the bill. He added, however, that the southerners would have enough strength to bring up the pending independent officers appropriations bill, thus sidetracking the anti-lynching measure.

Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, an opponent of the bill, said he understood some western senators were ready to join with southerners in an effort to consider other legislation.

U. S. CHAMBER AIDE WARNS OF 2 BILLION RISE IN RELIEF FUND

Attorney Advises House Unit To 'Gamble on Receipts' From Taxes Instead.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(AP)—A tax expert of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States advised the house ways and means committee today to "gamble on receipts" from taxes as a means of avoiding $3,000,000,000 deficits.

Ellsworth C. Alvord, Washington attorney, warned of a $2,000,000,000 increase in relief appropriations and $3,000,000,000 deficits unless the current business decline is halted. He spoke at hearings on a tax revision program.

"For the $3,000,000,000 on one side of the ledger," he said, "it seems to me you could well gamble on receipts."

To combat the recession, he said, confidence must be restored to business men and their fear eliminated. Accordingly, he advocated that congress concentrate on prescribing a "sound, sensible revenue system," without regard to whether it would produce enough to finance all government spending.

A deficit of a hundred to three hundred million dollars makes no difference if the net result of the tax system will be to prevent $3,000,000,000 deficits, Alvord contended.

As part of a "sound and sensible" revenue program, he called for repeal of the undistributed profits tax. He dubbed it "the tax without a friend."

Alvord proposed also a flat corporate income tax of perhaps 15 per cent, a flat capital gains levy of 12 1/2 per cent or graduated rates running no higher than 15 per cent, and reduction of individual income surtaxes to a maximum of 40 per cent.

Military Raincoats Are Order of the Rainy Day

ONE OF THE SMARTEST OF RAINCOATS

This is known as the coaching coat. It's a model that originally became popular in London. It has a big sweep to the skirt, a ticket pocket, and extra latch pieces to bind the throat or the waist more securely. It is a fine cotton twill.

The Modern Wet-Weather Garment Derives Its Roominess and Ease From Army Experience—New Fabrics Are Lightweight

By ROBERT FAIRCHILD
Editor Men's Fashions.

The thirsty earth soaks up the rain. And drinks and gapes for drink again; But you, poor fool! in raincoat shabby. Are sopping wet and chilled and crabby.

No need to be, either. The raincoat's not just a utility garment any more. It's a style garment. Plenty of well-dressed men will wear them all day if the weather looks doubtful, because they're styled either like top-coats or in smart, swagger, military lines of their own.

They're comfortable, too. This is because of the progress that has been made in developing fabrics for rain-wear. Instead of the heavy rubber materials that used to be associated with the idea of "raincoat," light-weight cottons, silks, cotton poplins and twills and gabardines are the order of the rainy day. Another type is lightweight cotton or silk, rubber-coated instead of processed to keep out the wet.

Colors are tan, green, brown and blue, the last being a navy tone.

Life Insurance Leaders Attend Sales Congress Here

Senate Committee Hears Drys Oppose Thomas Liquor Tax Bill

horse and dog racing in the state. The senate vote in favor of the former bill was 37 to 9 while the house vote against the betting bill was 101 to 61.

The assembly completed its action on the first of a series of bills reorganizing the state's penal system when both senate and house of representatives unanimously accepted a conference committee report on the Purdom-Lindsay bill changing the powers of the prison commission and creating the new state board of penal administration.

New Set-Up.
Under the new set-up the prison commission will look after pardons and paroles and the board of penal administration will look after the administration of the Tattall prison and the county road camps soon to be set up in place of chain gangs.

The new board is to contain five members. Governor Rivers told the conference committee he would have the board set up and ready for action by February 15, the date the bill becomes operative.

Senate Secretary John W. Hammond said he would have the bill on Governor Rivers' desk for the signature of the chief executive Monday morning.

Opposition Beaten.

In passing the revenue commission reorganization bill administration leaders defeated strong opposition led by Senators Harrison, of Millen; Harrell, of Lumpkin, and Flynt, of Griffin.

The bill was drawn by Representative Lanham, of Floyd county, and steered by him through the house. Senator Atkinson, of Savannah, the senate floor leader, aided by Senators Pope, of Cairo, and Robinson, of Montezuma, steered the measure through the senate.

The floor leader last night highly praised both Senator Pope and Senator Robinson for the work on the bill.

Chief Amendment.

The chief amendment added by the senate provides for the appointment of the new tax commission by the Governor. He will serve by appointment, however, only until January 1, 1933.

The main fight on the bill came Wednesday when the senate voted an amendment making the office elective after this year. The term is for six years.

Seeks Reconsideration.

After proponents of the racing bill had failed in their effort to pass the measure, Representative D. K. Jones, of Elbert county, one of its leading supporters, announced he would ask for reconsideration this morning.

Floor Leader Clement E. Sutton, who led the fight on the bill, announced he would oppose reconsideration.

"A bill beaten as badly as this one has no chance of reconsideration," the floor leader said. The administration neither supported nor opposed the racing plan, although administration leaders were prominent in the opposition.

Ready for Signature.

The house also passed a senate bill providing that new unemployment insurance shall become effective July 1 of this year instead of Next January 1. The bill also is ready for the signature of the Governor.

Dry leaders of the state assailed the bill to tax and control liquor in 16 Georgia counties when they appeared before the senate temperance committee.

The Rev. Thompson, Methodist prohibition leader, conducted the introduction of dry speakers, and praised Senator Neely and other temperance committee members for the "splendid hearing."

Attacks Liquor Bill.

Mrs. Mary L. Russell, president of the Georgia W. C. T. U., made a vigorous attack on the pending liquor bill, declaring that repeal in other states has been a failure.

"In Rhode Island even the liquor dealers are asking for reforms, and in Pennsylvania I note they still have just as much trouble with the bootlegger," she said. "Advocates of repeal haven't and can't keep their promises. Some smart young men in the house, hardly out of swaddling clothes long enough to get a clear view of the situation, claim this bill will legalize and control whisky. Where have I heard that before? Liquor has been a problem for 300 years."

W. W. Gaines, head of the Consolidated Forces for Prohibition, quoted figures contained in a speech in the United States senate to prove that repeal has increased the use of whisky in other states. The annual bill is three and one-half billion dollars, he said.

Violation Claimed.

Gaines, Mrs. Russell and other speakers asserted the people voted against repeal in the June 8 election and that the legislature in voting the Thomas liquor bill would be violating the mandate of the voters.

Dr. C. R. Stauffer, chairman of the Atlanta Christian Council, said "the eyes of the world are on the general assembly now" because George is one of the five remaining dry states. He said English churchmen he talked with last summer were interested in the outcome of prohibition in this state because they are driving for some sort of prohibition themselves.

Dr. S. A. Lowe, representing Atlanta Baptist churches, and Dr. W. Lee Cutts, chairman of the temperance committee of the Georgia Baptist convention, also spoke.

INSURANCE REPAYS $333,333 PER HOUR

Head of National Association Speaks at Meeting of Underwriters Here.

Life insurance companies have poured a third of a million dollars every hour for the past year into the pockets of the people, O. Sam Cummings, president of the National Association of Life Underwriters, said here yesterday.

Mr. Cummings was principal speaker yesterday at the sales congress of the Georgia Association of Life Underwriters, held under auspices of the Atlanta Association of Life Underwriters, at the Atlanta Athletic Club.

More Than 21 Billions Paid.
"Since 1930, life insurance companies have paid out to policyholders and beneficiaries a total of $21,600,000,000," he said. "This is a total 12 times greater than the war debts now owing to the United States from European countries."

"The steady distribution of this money has constituted a most emphatic aid to the federal government in its recovery program," Mr. Cummings said. Life insurance owners form the rank and file of the nation, reporting that the average of the 120,000,000 policies in force is only about $825.

Contrasting the modern life underwriters to the old-time salesman, Mr. Cummings said: "The day of the life insurance 'peddler' and 'part-timer,' who took a ratebook and pestered his friends and acquaintances during his spare time, is over."

Carefully Selected.
"The modern insurance man is carefully chosen, often selected on qualifications revealed in tests determining intelligence and other human factors. As such, he renders a much greater service to his client than the old-timer, whose greatest sales asset was his nuisance value."

JAMES ROOSEVELT DEBATES ON RADIO

Defends Reorganization Bill Against Representative From Indiana.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(AP)—James Roosevelt debated the wisdom of the Roosevelt government reorganization bill with Representative Pettengill, Democrat, Indiana, tonight, urging its enactment to provide a "government that can make the grade." They spoke in the forum of the Town Hall of the Air.

Pettengill, conceding that the bill contains numerous good features, objected vigorously to two provisions: That supplanting the comptroller general with an auditor general and that giving the President authority to regroup the independent agencies under the executive departments.

The comptroller general, by passing upon the legality of expenditures before they are made, he said, had "saved and recovered millions illegally spent." He said the bill would provide, instead, an audit of government funds after they have been spent, and remove any check on disbursements made by the executive and the executive departments.

"Instead of having this check on expenditures by a man beyond the control of the executive," he said, "it is to be transferred to another officer who is under the control of the President."

Roosevelt said the comptroller general "did not catch the Tespot Dome scandal," nor the "recent theft of $84,000 from the CCC" and had "never yet given congress an audit of the fiscal affairs of the United States for any fiscal year."

"Instead," he added, the comptroller general's office has devoted its full time to the exercise of a self-assumed veto power over the details of management in the executive departments and the program of the President."

ESMEN OPPOSE RAIL RATE RAISE

Packers, Industrialists Brewers Also Against Proposed Increase.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(AP)—A coalition of traveling salesmen, packers, industrialists, brewers and the National Coal Commission today opposed an increase in interstate rates before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The position was voiced also by the National Coal Commission and representatives of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. The United Commercial Travelers of America, represented by J. J. Kelly, submitted testimony in support of the proposed rate increase.

The testimony concluded that the proposed rate increase would drive millions of dollars away from the railroads. The railroad passenger revenue decreased from $1,286,000,000 in 1935 to $1,237,000,000 in 1936 as a result of "pricing the commodity high."

Egypt's Royal Bride Forced To Hide Behind Screen To See Own Wedding in Which Only Men Take Part

Farida Watches as Father
Betrothes Her to Boy
King Farouk.

CAIRO, Jan. 20.—(AP)—King Farouk's childhood sweetheart looked on today while the 17-year-old ruler made her bride and Egypt's second Queen since Cleopatra.

Pretty Farida Zulficar, modern 16-year-old daughter of a commoner, watched her own wedding through a lattice work partition at ancient Koubbeh palace. She and Egypt's boy King were married in the orthodox moslem fashion—a wedding in which only men took part.

Tonight Farouk promised to take his dark-eyed bride on an incognito tour through the city, where their wedding was being celebrated with glittering Oriental pageantry.

Bedouin horsemen galloped about, firing rifles into the sky; drums were beaten; bullocks were slaughtered for the poor; wine flowed and there was dancing in the streets.

Floodlights stabbed and criss-crossed the skies over Cairo and QUEEN FARIDA.

Festoons of lights decorated rivercraft on the Nile.

No women actually were present at the 10-minute ceremony, but Queen Mother Nazli, the King's four younger sisters and the bride and her mother watched through the grillwork and saw Farouk, in the black and gold of a field marshal, extend his right hand to Farida's father, Youssef Zulficar Pasha, for the symbolical handclasp.

The two pressed upright thumbs under a silk cloth and the bride's father said: "I betroth to your majesty my daughter, Farida."

The King thrice intoned: "I accept her betrothal to myself from the eyes of the King alone."

three and take her under my care and bind myself to offer her my protection, and ye who are present bear witness."

The ceremony was conducted by Sheikh Mustafa El Maraghy, rector of Azhar University and supreme religious authority in Egypt, assisted by three other sheikhs, all in purple robes and white turbans.

Farouk and his bride's father then signed the Egyptian marriage contract, which was like all others except it did not mention dowry. The contract stipulated, however, a secret sum Farouk would pay Farida if they should be divorced.

$200,000 Worth of Roses. After the ceremony Queen Farida drove home and put on her wedding gown of shimmering silver lame, with a 30-foot train and gossamer veil, for the afternoon drive to the palace to be presented to Farouk's relatives and take up her official residence.

She and Princess Neemat Mukhtar, an aunt of the King, rode in a curtained sedan through the clamorous crowds. At the palace there was a reception for the closest friends of the two families, and Farida cut a giant wedding cake with one of her King's jeweled swords.

Automobiles laden with $200,000 worth of roses, flown from the Netherlands, drove around the palace grounds while Farouk watched from a balcony.

The first of three great state banquets will be held tomorrow at Abdeen palace for 1,500 guests. After further festivities Saturday and Sunday, the couple will leave for Farouk's country estate, 40 miles northeast of Cairo, and Farida's $25,000 trousseau will be for the eyes of the King alone.

REED APPROVED BY SENATE GROUP

Solicitor General Virtually Assured Confirmation to Supreme Court Bench.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(AP)—A senate committee quickly approved Stanley Reed's nomination for the supreme court today, virtually assuring him the right to take his seat early next week.

The senate group, a subcommittee of the judiciary committee, held a brief hearing that was little more than a formality. Then, without discussion, it voted unanimously.

The full judiciary committee will consider the nomination Monday, and members predicted final senate confirmation Tuesday.

Today's hearing, entirely devoid of excitement, drew praise of Reed, now solicitor general, from Attorney General Cummings and Chairman Logan, Democrat, Kentucky, of the subcommittee.

Reed was present, but committee members said they did not wish to ask him any questions.

Cummings outlined Reed's legal career—its beginning in Kentucky in 1910 and its progress through Reed's positions as counsel for the Federal Farm Board and the R. F. C.

Cummings told the committee he had "the highest respect for Mr. Reed's personal character and integrity" and the Kentuckian's nomination "gives me great personal gratification."

Shakespeare's 'Richard II' Opens At Erlanger Theater Tonight

Maurice Evans Heads Broadway Cast on Tour From St. James Stage.

"King Richard II," the hitherto little-known Shakespearean play, will open at 8:30 o'clock tonight at the Erlanger theater.

The Broadway cast, headed by Maurice Evans, comes to Atlanta on a nation-wide tour after 171 continuous performances in the St. James theater, New York. The play had not been staged in New York in 62 years yet it outstripped in popularity the established favorites of "Hamlet" and "Romeo and Juliet."

Frederic Worlock plays Harry Hereford, nicknamed Bolingbroke, King Richard's rebellious subject and cousin, who forced his resignation and reigned in his stead as King Henry IV. Eleanor Phelps is cast as Richard's unhappy queen.

HARLOW'S "LIBELED LADY" COMES TO RIALTO. Featuring one of the most popular of the late Jean Harlow's pictures, the Rialto theater will bring back "Libeled Lady" today for a week's run.

This Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production stars Harlow with three other screen favorites, William Powell, Myrna Loy and Spencer Tracy. Walter Connolly tops the supporting cast.

The story is a tangle of damage suits against a newspaper and plots to compromise the lady, who claims libel. There is intentional bigamy and forgotten divorces and harum-scarum love-making before the foursome decide who loves whom and the divorce tangle is untangled sufficiently to permit the correct marriages.

Well-selected short subjects and news rounds out the week's program.

PARAMOUNT PROVIDES MUSICAL COMEDY. Produced by Hollywood's only woman producer, Fanchon, "Thrill of a Lifetime," a musical comedy, will open a week's run today at the Paramount theater.

As an added attraction the current issue of March of Time, which was banned in Chicago this week as being "unfriendly to Germany," will be shown.

"Once in a Lifetime" features dances by Johnny Downs and Eleanor Whitney, love-making by Betty Grable and Leif Erikson, comedy by Ben Blue, Judy Canova and the Four Yacht Club boys.

The story is based on the stage. Johnny Downs, Eleanor and Judy are in an act together but the first two feel the latter is holding them back. They marry her off to Ben Blue at a camp called "Romance" and the atmosphere causes other lovebug bites.

COLBERT, BOYER STAR IN "TOVARICH" AT FOX. Sparkling comedy serves as background for "Tovarich," the story of the exiled Russian noble, which opens today at the Fox. Charles Boyer and Claudette Colbert have the leads.

The scene is Paris. Two French actors are down on their personal luck, although they have undertaken the task of guarding the forty-million-franc fortune entrusted to them by the Tsar before the 1917 revolution.

The prince and his consort attempt shoplifting, but the skirmish with the gendarmes convinces them to seek honest employment—which turns out to be maid and butler for a wealthy Parisian.

Others in the cast are Basil Rathbone, Anita Louise and Melville Cooper.

"Hollywood Hotel," starring Dick Powell, Rosemary Lane, Hugh Herbert and Glenda Farrell, will be shown at 11:30 o'clock tomorrow night in midnight preview.

"TRADER HORN" RETURNS TO GEORGIA THEATRE. "Trader Horn," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's film of African adventures, will open tomorrow at the Georgia theater.

The story, adapted from the book by Alfred Aloysius Horn and Ethelred Lewis, deals with the trader and his protegee, Peru, who promises a woman missionary to find the "white Goddess" of savage Isorgi. The missionary believes the "Goddess" to be her daughter, who was captured in a native raid while still a baby.

Harry Carey of "Trail of '98," Edwin Booth, of "Manhattan Cocktail," Oliver Golden, former western star, and Mutia, giant Swahili warrior, are among members of the cast.

There are many animal scenes in the picture, including a death battle between a zebra and a lion.

CRAWFORD, TRACY CO-STAR IN "MANNEQUIN" AT GRAND. With Joan Crawford and Spencer Tracy co-starring for the first time, "Mannequin" will open week's run today at the Grand theater.

The story is of a girl who got her start in the squalor of a New York tenement house and wound up in a multi-millionaire's penthouse. Tracy is a two-fisted boss of the waterfront, confident in the power of his achievements, and who rose from a dock worker to become a millionaire steamship owner. Joan wears beautiful clothes, though the picture is not strictly one of fashions.

Alan Curtis, a newcomer, plays his first important screen role cast as a handsome, fast-talking weakling who marries Joan and then can't hold her. Others in the cast are Mary Phillips, Leo Gorcey and Oscar O'Shea.

"SHE LOVED A FIREMAN" AT CAPITOL SUNDAY. For those who love a fire, the Capitol theater offers "She Loved a Fireman," featuring Robert Armstrong, Ann Sheridan, Eddie Acuff and Dick Foran, as their screen attraction opening Sunday. The theater management has dedicated the picture to Atlanta's firemen.

On the stage, also opening Sunday, will be "French Models," a new revue with eight acts of vaudeville and a large cast of girls.

"She Loved a Fireman" brings action in the work of firemen fighting a four-alarm fire, the run of engines through the streets, the daily lives of the men and their hobbies.

Capitol's current screen offering, "Thank You, Mr. Moto," starring Peter Lorre, and the stage show, "Studio Scandals," will close tomorrow night.

LOEW'S GRAND, FOX TO HOLD MIDNIGHT SHOWS. Two midnight shows will be offered the Atlanta theater-going public tomorrow night at downtown theaters.

"Captains Courageous," with Freddie Bartholomew, Spencer Tracy and Lionel Barrymore, named one of the best films of 1937, will return by request to the Grand for a showing at 11:30 o'clock tomorrow night.

At the Fox, "Hollywood Hotel," with Dick Powell and a host of variety entertainers will perform on the screen at the same hour in a preview showing.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE. Caradad Vardell, still a schoolboy in spirit, when Terry Cantine's father, a military school in the south in the hope that the discipline there would accomplish what he himself had been unable to achieve, sent Farrabow, with its rambling ranch house, less than a year after her father's death. Dad, as the cowhands and finally everybody else called her "for short," decides she needs a change of scene as her mother had died previously, and she starts for Chicago. At Oklahoma City, she takes a chance on wiring Terry at the last address she had, and Terry, tall, handsome, lean and tanned, hardly knows the little, freckled but decidedly attractive girl who alights from the last Pullman and smiles at him through rimless spectacles. They drop into the railway station restaurant for breakfast and Terry learns for the first time of John Vardell's death and of Dad's sale of Farrabow through Judge Pomphrey, her father's old friend. She declines a cigarette over their coffee and Terry begins to have a feeling of uneasiness over entertaining the visitor. When he suggests she may want to stop at the Y, W, she takes it. "Do I really look that way?" Terry is surprised when she mentions the swanky Rushmore but when he takes her there a reservation has been made for her by the judge. She has dinner with Terry. The next morning she calls on Terry, phones her. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

INSTALLMENT VIII

"You mean in—selling?" Caradad ventured. She would not ask any direct questions regarding Terry's business, but she hoped that some information might be forthcoming. "Of course. He probably has told you all about his work. But he might be too modest to admit that he could be one of the most successful young businessmen in the city if—just one of those situations that have overtaken so many of us these past few years. Mere existence becomes a sordid affair at times. . . . She hesitated and her dark eyes scrutinized Caradad's face. "If Terry ever has the misfortune to fall in love with the wrong woman . . . it's the end. Of Terry."

Gerta Greenway's impetuous statement regarding the marital perils of Terry Cantine brought a smile of amusement from Caradad, after her first little shock of surprise. It was not lost upon the speaker. "That sounded dreadfully dramatic, didn't it," she laughed. "I didn't mean it to be, I'm sure. It just seems a pity that a man of Terry's ability has to be hampered—well, financially. And, of course, if he had a wife and family on his hands everything would be more difficult for him than ever. Don't you really think so?" "I couldn't judge that," Caradad admitted frankly. "I am not in the least familiar with Terry's situation. I have not seen or heard from him in a long while."

The more she pondered over

"This has been such a pleasure," she insisted, when the two turned their faces in the direction of Caradad's hotel. "Terry mentioned a little party for you soon and I shall take it upon myself to see that it is not delayed too long. And I want to entertain you, too. You play bridge, of course?" "Not very scientifically, I'm afraid."

"Oh, none of us," Mrs. Greenway encouraged. "But there are several of my friends I would like to have you meet. We'll arrange to play in my apartment one afternoon very soon. And, in the meantime, I may get in touch with you. I've a car, a small one that I drive myself. If there is any place I can take you, I would be more than delighted. Or if you wish any help or suggestions with shopping. . . ."

"That is very kind," Caradad told her, pausing before the entrance of the Rushmore. "I appreciate your taking me to tea ever so much."

"It was sweet of you to go on such short notice," smiled her

SPHINXES AND OBELISKS.

When someone mentions the word "sphinx," we are likely to think of the Great Sphinx of Gizeh. That is the largest and most famous sphinx, but it is far from being the only one. Hundreds of sphinxes were made by people of ancient Egypt, and other countries had sphinxes as well.

Sometimes a sphinx was given the face of a woman and the body of a lion fitted with wings. In Egypt it was common to place the head of a man, or a hawk, or a ram, on the body of a lion.

Next to the Great Sphinx, the best-known statue of this kind is the Alabaster Sphinx of Memphis. This sphinx is 26 feet long and 14 feet high. Its weight is about 80 tons, and it dates back about 3,200 years. It is other monuments of Egyptian sculpture. These pillars rise to heights of from 20 feet to over 100 feet. The name "obelisk" means "pointed pillar," and obelisks are always pointed at the top. They are four-sided.

Heliopolis, a little city not far from Cairo, is the home of the oldest obelisk in Egypt. Oddly enough, it is supposed to have been set up in the year 1938 B. C. This would give it an age of exactly twice the number of our present calendar year. The obelisk is 67 feet high and is believed to weigh about 121 tons.

Among the Queens of ancient Egypt was one named Hatshepsut. She lived 34 centuries ago, and her reign lasted 22 years. Being a firm believer in the old Egyptian religion, she caused temples to be built—chiefly in honor of the god Amun. She also ordered two great obelisks to be set up at Karnak. One of the obelisks still stands. It is 97 feet high and weighs about 325 tons.

The obelisk of Queen Hatshepsut is almost covered with writing. Here is the meaning of some of the old Egyptian sentences:

"I have done this from a loving heart for my father Amun. I was sitting in my palace when my heart led me to make for him two obelisks with electrum tops. Each obelisk was cut from one block of granite, without seam or joining. My majesty caused men to work seven months to take the granite from the mountain. The electrum for the tops of the obelisks was measured out like sacks of grain."

The electrum of which the Queen spoke was a silver-gold alloy, the older "white gold." The Queen was not sparing about the use of this precious material. An old record tells us that 12 bushels of white gold were used to decorate another work she set up in honor of the gods.

Queen Hatshepsut's obelisk is the highest one in Egypt, but a larger one stands in St. Peter's square, outside St. Peter's church in Rome. It was transported from Egypt to Rome by order of a Roman Emperor.

ANTS NO MERCY, WARD SLAYER SAYS MURDER TRIAL

Vict Assaults Conditions
He Tried To Escape
By Prison Break.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Sam B. Woods, one of six convicts on trial for murder, blurted out today that he stabbed Guard Captain Olin Sanders to death in an attempted break from the state penitentiary here last night.

Woods, a 24-year-old native of Nashville, Tenn., "I suppose the realization of the consequences caused me to lose my mind at the moment."

Conditions still exist at the penitentiary as they have, I said either be a suicide or die of indigestion," added the sturdy convict who was serving a 10-year sentence for highway robbery.

Woods, who said his home was in Biloxi, Miss., was singled out yesterday by Governor Johnston, state witness, as the apparent leader of the band that had Sanders as hostage in the officers' quarters while demanding an automobile and clear exit from the penitentiary yard.

The Governor testified that the ignored pleas by him and Adj. Gen. Dozier that the convict be released, and that Sanders' stab-wounded body was removed after national guard troops had gassed into the barred windows of the office.

former Justice,
Horse Trainer
Dies in Hospital

YACK, N. Y., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Arthur S. Tompkins, 72-year-old former state supreme court justice, died today in Nyack hospital.

The noted sportsman, once grand master of the Masonic grand lodge of New York and foe of the Klux Klan, had suffered a stroke on January 4.

Before he lapsed into a coma Friday, he told his son, Arthur S. Tompkins Jr., that he wanted to drive in trotting races in next summer.

And who will you have drive?" asked the son.

Why, I'll drive it myself," answered the jurist.

He learned horse training and breeding as a youth. He set the then, N. Y., one-mile amateur record in 1936, when he was 69 years old, driving his famous mare, Grand Duchess, over the mile in 2:07.

He once adjourned a murder trial two days in order to drive trotter, Kirby, at Mineola. Others in his noted string of trotters were Leo A. Kittle Kate and the Guy.

Plan International Fire Fighters' Convention Here

Fire fighters make plans for convention here and visit between conferences. Grouped on truck at station No. 8 are (left to right) Captain F. L. Bond, recording secretary of Atlanta Local No. 134, International Association of Fire Fighters; S. C. Talton, member of the local's convention committee; George J. Richardson, of Washington, secretary-treasurer of the international, and J. F. Watkins, of Birmingham, international vice president. The convention will be held in September.

WIFE OF PRESIDENT WILL SPEAK HERE

Mrs. Roosevelt's acceptance to Mrs. Woods.

His message said: "Glad to advise that Mrs. Roosevelt has adjusted her plans to permit her to attend Georgia Rural-Urban Women's conference on March 29."

Women's Group to Combine.

The conference will be a combined meeting of representatives from all women's organizations in Georgia, as well as rural women delegates from all counties in that state.

Mrs. J. A. Rollison, of Waycross, president of the Georgia Affiliated Women's Democratic Club; Mrs. A. B. Conger, of Bainbridge, president of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Donald Hastings, of Lovejoy, president of the Garden Club of Georgia, and Miss Gay B. Shepperson, Georgia WPA director, offered cooperation of their organizations to make the event outstanding.

Mrs. Wood, who holds office under Columbus Roberts, commissioner of agriculture, has been active in planning the conference.

When she assumed office last March, Mrs. Wood began speaking before Georgia women's organizations. She stressed the necessity for urban women in every community to lend a helping hand to rural women in their respective communities.

New Markets Established.

As a result, additional markets were established. In these markets, town and country women meet on equal plane, each trying to help the other. Country women thereby have been able to assist in increasing family incomes, thus improving health, education and religious aspects of the rural family.

Comfortable quarters have been established in many towns, where the rural family may spend enjoyable days while the husband and father attends to business in the town.

Mrs. Wood has created a great deal of interest among rural and urban women in encouraging experimentation with vegetables which are not grown to any marked extent in the state, but which could be added to the list of Georgia products, thereby keeping in Georgia the money spent for these vegetables.

She met with remarkable success in lending her support to every existing agency in the state to help develop the farm woman and her family.

Mrs. Wood's Objectives.

The first objective of Mrs. Wood's program is the co-operation of rural and urban women in Georgia to increase the family income on the farm through markets in towns and cities, operated

Fire Fighters Choose Atlanta For Convention

Plans for the fourteenth convention of the International Association of Fire Fighters, comprising firemen throughout the United States and Canada, were made here yesterday.

The convention will be held in September, dates to be announced.

Officers of the international, as well as officers and committee members of Atlanta Local No. 134, conferred with Faber A. Bollinger, of the Atlanta Convention and Tourist Bureau, and selected Atlanta as the convention city.

International officers here for the conferences were George J. Richardson, of Washington, secretary and treasurer since 1920, and J. F. Watkins, of Birmingham, vice president.

Atlantans actively participating in bringing the convention to this city included Hugh Kilgore, president of the local, and Captain F. L. Bond, recording secretary.

The convention will bring 250 firemen from other cities to Atlanta, and 100 Atlantans are expected to attend.

Richardson expressed satisfaction with Atlanta as a convention city, and said his organization anticipates a highly successful meeting.

CHIEF PARKER GETS PREVIEW OF WORLD'S FAIR.

Fire Chief O. J. Parker was given a preview of the 1938 New York World's Fair as guest of Grover A. Whalen, president of the Fair Corporation, following a luncheon yesterday where plans were discussed for a world-wide fire fighting tournament at the exposition.

Chief Parker is in New York attending meetings of the board of directors of the International Association of Fire Chiefs. The fair contests, it is planned, will be preceded by a series of local competitive drills in fire fighting procedure.

Others invited to take part in the conference of Rural-Urban Women of Georgia to be held in Atlanta on March 29 will be vocational teachers, home demonstration agents, county agents and their directors from the extension department of the University of Georgia, as well as the vocational teachers, supervisors and teachers of the Works Progress Administration.

When Challenged to Duel

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Resident Commissioner Quintin Paredes received today a challenge to a duel for his alleged betrayal of a move for immediate Philippine independence.

"Opposition O'Malley resolution ranked betrayal immediate independence. If you insist will challenge you duel where permitted," read a cablegram signed by Narciso Lapuz, whom Paredes said was a former captain under Aguinaldo.

Paredes said he answered by cable as follows: "Take friendly advice: Don't be again funny nor bluff me. Ain't opposing anything and will wait committee's report. Take good care your health. Refusing answer further foolish communications."

A resolution by Representative O'Malley, Democrat, Wisconsin, proposed immediate independence for the islands without trade benefits.

INDUSTRIAL LEADER ASKS CO-OPERATION

Says Business Ready To 'Take It on Chin' To End Recession.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(AP)—An industrial leader told the senate unemployment committee today business is ready to do anything it can to end the recession—even "taking it on the chin" through government regulation.

Colby M. Chester, chairman of the National Association of Manufacturers and chairman of General Foods Corporation, asserted that all business wants to know is "what the rules are" and it will go ahead.

"But we don't like being penalized without knowing the rules," he said, adding that government, business and labor should "sit down together and constructively head in on this problem."

"I think the public is pretty much fed up with the fact that government, business and labor can't get together," he said. "The President is talking of increasing the national income to 90 billions of dollars. We will never approach that unless we all work together."

The gray-haired chairman of the board of General Foods Corporation called for an "armistice" in "all of this mud-slinging between government and business," referring to speeches made by Robert Jackson, assistant attorney general, and Secretary Ickes.

'Judge' Meets Judge In Recorder's Court

A self-appointed "judge" came out second best when he came face to face with a real judge yesterday in Atlanta recorder's court.

Recorder John L. Cone bound over "Judge" Howe New, 27, of a DeKalb street address, to Fulton criminal court under bonds of $500 each on charges of assault and battery and assault with intent to rob W. L. Chadwick, 60, of a Flat Shoals avenue address, during the course of a "kangaroo court" in the city stockade.

Chadwick, arrested on drunkenness charges, said he was forced to stand trial before New, also in the stockade, and a "court" formed by other prisoners. When he couldn't produce the $3 "fine," he charged, "Judge" New beat him severely.

EX-GOVERNOR SHOLTZ TO SEEK PEPPER'S SEAT

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Dave Sholtz, former governor of Florida, announced tonight his candidacy for the United States senate seat now held by Claude Pepper.

"Well, boys, I'm in it," he said soon after arrival here from Washington. "And I'm here to tell you about it. I wanted the story to break from Daytona Beach, where I made my home for so long and where I started out in my campaign for governor."

Sholtz enters a field already including Pepper, J. Mark Wilcox, congressman from the fourth Florida district, and Finley Moore, of Lake City.

HOOVER REVEALS THRILLING STORY OF ANDERS' CRIME

Chief G-Man Traces Moves of Kidnap-Slayer to Bodies in Buried Cave.

Anders was removed from St. Paul to St. Cloud, Minn., Hoover traced the route that led to recovery of $30,000 of the ransom and location of the hideout near Emily and the burial place near Spooner, Wisconsin.

Far back in the woods, off a lonely side road north of Emily, the federal agents at the direction of Anders located the kidnap hideout described by Hoover as a shallow wood frame dugout, implanted level with the earth, in which Ross was kept manacled for about 13 days.

Hoover said the structure was about 6 feet deep, 6 feet wide and 10 feet long. It had been prepared beforehand by Anders and Gray, Hoover continued, and indications about the place were the wealthy Chicagoan had undergone suffering and privation while a captive.

Newspaper Clue.

It was from this hideout that Anders, in an attempt to hurry payment of the ransom, mailed a photograph of Ross reading a Chicago newspaper near the hideout, Hoover said. He added the newspaper in the picture from which a story had been clipped along with a ransom note was found in the structure.

Around October 9 Anders left for Wisconsin, Hoover continued, where another prepared dugout, identical with that used for the hideout, was located in an isolated section about 12 miles northwest of Spooner.

So sequestered was the dugout that Hoover, despite Anders' assistance, located it with difficulty.

Dead Bodies Chained.

The federal chief said it was there that Anders fatally shot Ross and Gray, fastening the bodies into the vault-like burial place with chains. He covered them with brush and debris.

"After killing Gray, the accomplice," Hoover continued, "Anders robbed him of some of his clothing, leaving the body naked. He also took from Gray $20,000 of the ransom money that was Gray's share. Anders already had the $30,000 that constituted his cut in crime."

From Wisconsin, Hoover narrated, the killer made his way back to Minnesota. A few miles out of Walker, Anders, each carrying $30,000 of the ransom funds off a lonely road. The bills were compressed in a typewriter case and were located in an undisturbed condition by the federal agents.

"Anders then did a lot of traveling and it took him all over the United States," Hoover said.

Borgia Crime Confessed.

The federal agents spent Tuesday night with Anders at St. Cloud, and spent Wednesday locating the Emily hideout and the ransom cache, went to Superior, Wis., for the night, and located the burial dugout Thursday.

Hoover said Anders had made a full confession of the Borgia kidnapping. John and Olive Borgia were abducted from their Chicago home September 1, taken to a hideout near Lake Geneva, Wis., and released September 3. No ransom was collected.

RIDE-ROB SUSPECTS CHASED; ONE CAUGHT

Radio Guides Police in Five-Hour Search for Men in Stolen Car.

A five-hour chase that began in the northeast section of Atlanta ended in the opposite section of town last night as police, guided by new two-way radio communication tracked down a carload of negro ride-and-rob suspects and arrested one of them after a 15-block pursuit.

The chase began at Tenth and Chapel street and proceeded to Mitchell and Maple streets, where the stolen car was run into the curb. The negro driver escaped. John Hood, 23-year-old negro, of 867 Spencer street, was captured and booked on charges of suspicion of larceny of an automobile and suspicion of robbing Travis Bell, drug store delivery boy.

Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fourth night if needed.

How do Calotabs help nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs are one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminants, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of the virus-laden mucus and toxins. Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the blood. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.

Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package.—(adv.)

New Officers of Italian-American Club Are Elected

Paul B. Cefalu earned the title of "prexy," bestowed on him since he was elected for the third successive year to the presidency of the Italian-American Club. He is shown, on the left, receiving the congratulations of George A. Buelterman, extreme right, who is new vice president of the club. Robert Meehan, secretary-elect, and M. J. Tronchali, new treasurer, are evidently proud of Mr. Cefalu, judging by their smiles.

DEAN NOE REMOVED BY BISHOP'S ORDER

what happens to him, the love and esteem of his followers will not be lessened to any degree at all."

"He gave me a conception of religion I never had before and I'm not the only one who feels that way," Christie added.

The dean's removal, under which he would continue to draw his salary and live at the deanery for another six months, became effective at once. The removal was ordered on the 19th day of his absolute fast to prove that "man can, here and now, put on the fullness of the Godhead bodily" with the help of an all-sufficient God who transmutes creative strength.

The action by Bishop M. Maxon means that the "very" before the title of reverend is no longer accorded him. It also means that he will not participate in the cathedral service Sunday morning when Dr. Sterling Tracy is ordained to the priesthood by the Rev. William Mercer Green, bishop coadjutor of Mississippi, who will serve in the absence of Bishop Maxon.

Not Fasting, No Says. To all who have questioned the wisdom of his course, the gaunt dean has replied that they do not comprehend what he is doing. He is not fasting, he contends, but building up a creative strength from God which makes material food unnecessary. He has been doing it, he says, for nearly 10 years, giving up various foods until last year during which he subsisted entirely on whole oranges. He gave up the oranges January 2, and since that time he has partaken of neither food nor water. Next year, he says, he will require nothing.

Doctors said the dean was on the verge of a tragic collapse. His wife, ill at the deanery, of high blood pressure, made no comment. She and the dean were reconciled two weeks before Christmas. They had been separated since 1932 when she unsuccessfully sued for divorce, charging physical abandonment. The dean testified that he believed, except for purposes of procreation, such a relation was sinful, and the cause of the original fall of man.

Ill of Influenza. Bishop Maxon, who had been seriously ill of influenza and complications, said he had just been advised of the publicity attending the dean's reformation. Writing in "kindness and love," he said: "I regret to advise that it is convincingly evident to me that you be removed as dean of St. Mary's cathedral. This removal will take place at once. However, your stipend will continue for the next six months and you will be permitted to occupy the deanery for that period."

"St. Mary's cathedral does not represent any particular group but is the church of the whole diocese (of Tennessee). Hence the manner of living and religious activities of the dean naturally carry the connotation of representing the whole membership of the diocese."

Foreign to Church. He said he felt the dean's present activities and views were "foreign to the views of the majority

Paul B. Cefalu Elected Head Of Italian Club

Paul B. Cefalu was elected unanimously to the presidency of the Italian-American Club for the third successive year at the annual meeting Wednesday night, it was announced yesterday.

To serve with him, members of the club elected George A. Buelterman, vice president; Robert J. Meehan, secretary, and M. J. Tronchali, treasurer. The executive committee includes Ira Chance, chairman; A. M. Fornara, S. V. Cefalu, Abb W. Smith and M. A. Capossela.

A report given by the president showed club membership had doubled during the year. There are now more than 100 members, he said.

The club intends to duplicate last year's entertainment program, with dances, spaghetti dinners, picnics and an Italian empire celebration on the schedule. Last year, members of the club gave at least one social event each month, it was said.

of the membership of our church and to its history and traditions." The bishop, who signed himself, "affectionately," told the dean "I do not think that you are at present your normal self and I wish to give you an opportunity to return to your normal self when you will be able to exercise the abilities and spirituality which you so abundantly possess in the spread of Christ's Kingdom."

He beseeched the dean "to discontinue the fast which you are undergoing, and under medical advice, to take the nourishment which you should have."

to learn all about the machine—or other invention—and take it back to the company—without paying. . . . But my son was too smart for them. He would never deal with an agent."

At the age of 18, young Cullen worked his way to Germany. He was graduated from the University of Heidelberg a few years later, having majored in chemistry.

Back in Atlanta, he established a laboratory on Peachtree street. Then he had laboratories on Bell street, Ivy street, Walker street and in other locations.

He perfected a process for making synthetic rubber materials with garbage. He also produced fuel for gasoline engines from household waste. He made plastic wood out of weeds and garbage.

The patent office in Washington, his mother said, has dozens of Dr. Cullen's ideas. But he played a lone hand and, from a financial standpoint, lost.

"He always wanted to build a factory and give work to people," Mrs. Olmstead said. "He distrusted the messengers from the big companies, but they kept sending him letters and offers of work right up until he died."

Dr. Cullen came from Akron, Ohio, to stay with his mother because of a stomach ailment. Then he was stricken by pneumonia.

The body is at Awtry & Lowndes' chapel. Funeral services will be conducted there at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon by Dr. John R. Ham. Burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

Surviving besides his mother are his wife, three daughters, Misses Cecelia, Dorine and Maxine Cullen; two sons, Irwin and Allen F. Cullen Jr., and an aunt, Mrs. Hattie Scott.

CHATTANOOGA PICKED FOR EPISCOPAL PARLEY

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 20.—(P)—The 106th annual convention of the Tennessee diocese of the Episcopal church ended today with the selection of Chattanooga as the site for the 1939 convention.

Sessions will be held at St. Paul's church, beginning January 18.

The delegates also chose members to the bishop and council, the church executive body, and deputies to the synod of the province of Sewanee, which meets next October in Winston-Salem, N. C.

BODIES OF KIDNAPER AND ROSS FOUND in the day that the federal men under personal direction of Hoover were working in the Spooner vicinity.

Victims Discovered in Northwest Wisconsin by Federal Agents.

It was learned that a marked $10 bill, part of the $50,000 paid by the Ross family had been passed at a Dallas, Wis., store several weeks ago and that a federal agent from Milwaukee had investigated its discovery at that time.

Searching for Bodies. Federal agents had been searching for the body of Ross, wealthy Chicago greeting card manufacturer, since they arrived here by airplane late Tuesday with Anders.

The first definite trace of the federal search came earlier today when Sheriff Art McIntee, of St. Cloud, revealed that the group had stayed in St. Cloud Tuesday night and had left for Crow Wing county in northern Minnesota early Wednesday.

They next appeared at Superior, Wis., about 90 miles northwest of Spooner, at 11 a. m., today and secretly obtained lodging at a Superior hotel, leaving there at 7 a. m. with the announced intention of heading for St. Paul.

Hoover and his aides instead apparently went directly to the Spooner territory. Observers were inclined to believe Anders had revealed the location of the graves as well as the hiding place of some of the $50,000 ransom money.

$14,000 in Possession. When arrested, Anders had about $14,000 in his possession, Hoover said.

Before Sheriff McIntee reported Anders was in St. Cloud, it had been believed he was held in St. Paul.

Crow Wing county is about 150 miles northwest of St. Paul. The Hoover party after visiting that area was believed to have gone eastward across northern Minnesota to Superior, Wis.

The latest developments indicated that Anders in his flight from near Chicago, where the kidnapping was perpetrated, apparently had traveled northward across Wisconsin and then cut over into Minnesota, probably following almost the same trail that the federal agents took in the opposite direction yesterday and today.

Loot From Banks. One report developing immediately after Hoover's announcement that the bodies had been found was that the money sought in Crow Wing county included loot from 20 midwestern banks which, Hoover said, Anders had confessed looting.

Spooher, where the graves were located in a sparsely settled woods country. Concealing their mission with extreme care and almost perfect success, the federal men used several ruses to sidetrack reporters.

They kept bringing meals into the local FBI offices leaving the impression that Anders was kept

LINDY PENALTY FOR KIDNAPING

The death penalty is provided under federal statute known as the Lindbergh law for kidnapers who carry their victims across a state line and harm them in any manner. The jury, however, may recommend clemency.

The statute further provides that where a victim is transported across a state line and is freed unharmed by the kidnaper the sentence cannot be death. Length of the sentence is at the discretion of the jury.

prisoner there. Then two pilots who flew the party here late Tuesday were kept in St. Paul and late today were ordered to the national guard hangar at the St. Paul airport where the big airliner was housed.

The ransom bill picked up in the vicinity of the place where the bodies were found was noticed first by a filling station manager at Cameron, Wis.

DAIRY AMENDMENT HELD UNWORKABLE

Joint Committee Plans To Rewrite Provision To Simplify Enforcement.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(P)—The controversial "dairy amendment" to the pending farm bill will be rewritten so it will be "workable," members of a joint congressional committee said today.

(The amendment was inserted in the bill at the insistence of legislators from dairy states. It declares that farmers who divert acreage from cotton, wheat, corn, rice or tobacco shall refrain from using the land to produce dairy articles—or any livestock. If farmers put their land to such use, they would be deprived of federal benefits.)

Senator McGill, Democrat, Kansas, and other administration leaders contend the provision would require officials to check on every cow, chicken and pig on every cooperating farm before paying benefits.

U. S. NAVY PLANS POWERFUL SHIPS

40,000-Ton Vessels, With 10-Inch Guns Held Answer to Aggressors.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Plans for construction of the powerful battleships ever weighing more than 40,000 tons and armed with 10-inch guns, are being considered by naval officials as American answer to aggressor powers, it was learned today.

Officials refused to comment on this phase of the national plan, but some congressional leaders which have been co-opting closely with President Roosevelt and the Navy and War departments on the record time armament program, indicated the plans might be made applicable to the two battleships authorized in the 1939 navy appropriation bill, now being debated by the house.

"Posture to Blame for Swayback and Dowager's Hump," Says Kain

MY DAY

By Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, Jan. 20.—The congressional reception last night was particularly pleasant. Everyone seemed to know everyone else, or at least seemed to be able to find their own friends. When I came back to walk around I thought everybody was having a good time.

Representative Robert L. Mouton had sent me a marvelous bouquet of camellias. They were flown up from his place in New Orleans. Several people stopped me to say they liked these so much they thought they must have been chosen to go with my dress. As a matter of fact, I wore a dress to go with the camellias!

Some time ago I visited the Crippled Children's school here in the District of Columbia. It was a gloomy building and in many ways inadequate. This morning I went to the new quarters in a school in the northeast of Washington. The rooms were bright and airy; the children came in a bus and are taken home under the care of an attendant who helps them into their homes.

They looked better physically, and certainly brighter and happier. I don't wonder that Commissioner Hazen is pleased with the new quarters and wanted me to have pictures taken there to encourage the interest of the public in the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

From this school, Mrs. Scheider and I went to lunch with the officials of the public works of art project in the Treasury Department. The luncheon was given to allow us to see the sculpture which has been sent from all over the country in a competition now being held for stone sculpture to be placed in front of the Apex building on Constitution avenue. There was a representative group of Washington official life present, including Mrs. Stone and a group of senators, besides the people actually interested in the project.

Many of us recalled the meeting four years ago which Mr. Edward Bruce held in his house to consider the plight of the artists and what the government could do, not only to encourage art, but to improve the quality of decoration in public buildings. Mr. Fred-eric A. Lelano presided at this first meeting and the enthusiasm of the group which Mr. Bruce gathered around him has, with the help of Secretary and Mrs. Morgenthau, carried this project to heights of undreamed success. Many a little village and town can boast of murals in its post office done by some really good artist. In the future, perhaps, people will point to this period and say: "That was when the government first began to realize that art was a responsibility of the people as a whole."

I came home to a number of appointments and regretted that I could not spend more time looking at the models which had been sent in.

This afternoon a large group from the conference on the cause and cure of war, headed by Miss Josephine Schain, came to tea. I was especially pleased to have Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt come in for a few minutes.

TODAY'S CHARM TIP.

"It isn't that women shouldn't talk," quoth a male commentator on the fair sex, "it's that so many of them never learn when to stop talking."

Boiling Easy by New Method

By RUTH CHAMBERS

Now and then we housewives do get a break. Who would ever suppose that scientific investigation would turn to kitchen affairs, would make work easier for the cook? Usually things turn out so differently!

It seems that sometimes the right way is the easy way and that proves to be true when it comes to broiling meats. There was a time, not so long ago, when it was considered quite a trick to broil a steak properly because you were supposed to give it your full attention, to sear it and turn it and see that it was browned without being burned.

But we know now that in searing and turning the steak several times, the cook of an older day was giving herself an unnecessary amount of trouble. The right way to broil a steak, or chops, or ground meat, is simply to put the meat in the pre-heated broiling oven at a distance of about three inches from the flame, so that by the time the surface is nicely browned, the meat will be cooked half way through. Then you have only to turn it once, and cook the other side in like manner. The oven door should be open when broiling.

Searing Not Needed.

When experiments showed that searing was not necessary because it did not keep in the juice of the meat as it was supposed to do, the newer, easier way of broiling was evolved. As a result, even the busiest homemaker, who usually feels that she should have an extra pair of hands at meal time, can offer her family delicious broiled meats without flurry or fear of disaster.

Again you see the principle of longer, slower cooking is followed, even in broiling. Gone are the days when it was thought that the surface of a broiled steak should be almost burned.

Choose Tender Cuts.

For broiling, tender cuts of meat are chosen. Porterhouse steaks, T-bone, club and sirloin steaks are suitable for broiling. These are best when they have a good covering of fat, with fat flecked through the lean. And the meat should not be cut too thin. A steak for broiling should be at least an inch thick, preferably an inch and a half.

Lamb chops from rib, loin or shoulder are excellent for broiling. Pork, which requires long, slow cooking to bring out its full flavor, is not broiled, although pork chops may be used in a combination grill if they are partially cooked by braising beforehand. Cured pork, that is ham and bacon, may be broiled. Veal is not suitable for broiling.

Liver and kidneys are delicious when broiled. Ground beef is well cooked by broiling, for the grinding has softened the connective tissue.

Broiled Rib Steaks.

Have steaks cut about an inch thick. Allow one rib steak for each serving. Wipe with a damp cloth and arrange on hot broiler rack, allowing 3 inches between surface of steaks and source of heat, or enough distance that only one turning is necessary. When brown enough, season with salt and pepper and turn. Continue cooking until the other side is brown and steak is done. Allow 20 to 25 minutes for broiling to medium stage.

Broiled Steak.

One porterhouse, club or sirloin steak. Salt and pepper.

Have steak cut at least one inch thick. Thoroughly preheat broiler oven. Place steak on rack, allowing 3 inches between surface of meat and heat. When one side is nicely browned, season and turn. A steak one inch thick requires approximately 12 to 15 minutes for broiling; a steak 1-1/2 inches thick 20 to 25 minutes, and a steak 2 inches thick requires approximately 30 to 35 minutes. Broiled steak should be served immediately.

Deviled Lamb Chops.

Have the lamb chops cut one inch thick. Beat 2 egg yolks slightly, add to 3 tablespoons melted butter; season with one teaspoon dry mustard, 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce, cayenne pepper and 2 teaspoons vinegar. Brush chops with this mixture and place on rack in a preheated broiler. By the time chops are browned, they will be half done. Season with salt and pepper, turn and broil on second side.

Your Figure, Madame

By IDA JEAN KAIN.

As an aid to good posture Mary Maguire, Warner Brothers starlet, practices walking with two books balanced on her head.

Slumping has bulging consequences—a dowager's hump, rounded shoulders, a roll around the waist and a protruding abdomen. Most of our silhouette worries are caused by poor posture rather than excess weight, and to straighten up is to slim down.

Swayback seems to be the prevailing posture defect. This exaggerated curve at the small of the back is counterbalanced by an outcurve of the abdominal line, and to correct one fault is to get rid of the other. For swayback, exercises are given to strengthen the lower abdominal muscles so they will hold their normal position, which is up and in. You will find that at the same time the muscles of the lower back are strengthened and that, gradually, the curve of the back becomes less pronounced.

The simplest exercise for swayback is to sit on the floor with the back against the wall, the lower abdominal muscles pulled up and in, and the small of the back pressed flat against the wall. The following exercise pays real dividends for the effort you expend, for it retracts the abdominal muscles, lessens the curve in the back and slims the waist.

Position: Standing on knees, feet together in back of body arms raised high overhead.

Movement: Bending to the left, slowly sit down to the right of the feet. Without lowering the arms, return to the upright position, then bend to the right and sit down to the left of the feet. Continue the upward stretch of the arms throughout the exercise.

If you have swayback, or any tendency toward it, you must avoid any of the backward bending exercises which will increase this curve in the back.

The dowager's hump, which is another penalty of faulty posture, is the direct result of the habit of carrying the head poked forward from the frame of the shoulders. Pulling the head in, however, is no corrective. On the contrary, it brings on a double chin. What you must do is pull up with the head always and remember to hold the chin level. The posture rule to keep constantly in mind is to stand as tall as possible, with the head in line with the body. When you exercise, correct your posture at the beginning of each exercise and never permit the head to poke forward.

If you would always stand as tall as possible there would be no roll between the waist and wishbone. Stretching exercises train the muscles to hold the body naturally erect and also pull the waist away from the hips, reducing the waistline roll.

Stooped shoulders and rounded upper back are another pair of posture mistakes that produce compensatory defects. They are usually found with the flat chest, and unsightly hollows under the collarbones. You cannot voluntarily straighten the shoulders. You must first strengthen the muscles

HEALTH TALKS

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY.

PSORIASIS, THE SILVERY SCALE DISEASE.

Psoriasis constitutes 6 per cent of all skin diseases coming under the observation of physicians. It is a chronic condition characterized by round or oval patches covered with silvery-white scales. The patches occur especially behind the elbows, in front of the knees, on the extremities and on the scalp; although the name psoriasis means itch, itching is a minor feature and in many cases scarcely noticeable. Psoriasis usually runs a course marked by remissions and relapses, without apparent reason.

Cause of psoriasis? You may search me—and I have searched the medical literature in vain. The disease is not at all contagious. Some physicians believe heredity may be a factor, as it sometimes occurs in successive generations. No definite constitutional disturbance is associated with the eruption. There are reasons to indicate that psoriasis may be a nutritional disease.

For instance in many cases a milk vegetarian diet has apparently brought prolonged relief or cure. In others, thyroid extract has proved most beneficial, given over a considerable period but in small doses. Gaul, in N. Y. State Journal of Medicine, 9-1-36, offered the observation that the habit of using petrolatum (mineral oil) as a laxative or internal "lubricant" may account for postural psoriasis in many cases; he thinks petrolatum interferes with the assimilation of vitamin D.

Kafka, in Jour. of Lab., and Clinical Medicine, August, 1936, observed that psoriasis clears up with exposure to the summer sun, prescribed moderate doses of vitamin D daily in several cases and obtained favorable results. (Vitamin D is the "sunshine vitamin," the vitamin your own skin manufactures if exposed sufficiently to noonday sunshine.)

In U. S. Treasury Dept. Public Health Reports, 11-5-37, Cedar and Zon report a series of 15 cases of chronic widespread psoriasis treated with massive doses of vitamin D—300,000 to 400,000 units daily, administered in the form of irradiated ergosterol. In 11 cases there was complete clearing up of the disease in a maximum period of 12 weeks, while two cases showed only partial benefit and two showed no benefit. These surgeons of the Public Health Service state that such massive doses of vitamin D appear to be relatively safe when administered to adults.

Numerous other physicians have observed no untoward effects from administration of from 200,000 to 500,000 units of vitamin D daily over periods of many weeks or months in the treatment of chronic arthritis.

If a shortage of vitamin D in the diet, or a failure to assimilate what little vitamin D the natural food of man contains, or lack of sufficient exposure of the naked body to direct sunlight is a factor of psoriasis, then, in my judgment, a daily dose of, say, 6,000 units of vitamin D to supplement the ordinary diet should be sufficient to correct two of these factors at least. Perhaps it would also compensate for impaired capacity to assimilate vitamin D.

SLENDERIZING FROCK IN REINGOTTE STYLE.

If you would look inches smaller and taller, wear this frock that stimulates a reingotte in its simple design. The silhouette is belted with only a very small tail closing at front and gracefully flaring revers. Sleeves are in two lengths—short and three-quarter, and the princess line which is its chief charm does lovely things to your figure. The revers in contrast accent this reingotte style and make this one of the most wearable of dresses. Choose a dark silk crepe or alpaca with revers in bluish or white satin. You will find it easy to make this dress, the pattern includes detailed instructions and sew chart.

The Barbara Bell Pattern Book will move that 100 designs will prove very helpful—send for your copy before planning your winter sewing.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1456-B is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50 and 52. Sizes 38 requires 5-3/8 yards of 36 or 38-inch material plus 2-3 yard contrasting.

Beauty According To You

By LILLIAN MAE.

Posed by Harriet Hilliard.

Here's Beauty for the Baby!

By LILLIAN MAE.

Only the best is good enough for the little king or queen—and that best is what a cosmetic maker known around the world for the traditional purity and quality of her products, has devised in a set consisting of a baby cream, a baby talcum and cotton in plascon jars, beautifully boxed and beribboned.

Rub a tiny bit of the cream on the back of your hand, and you will realize that it is a most unusual product—made to order for the little sovereign of the household. It is rich, yet it immediately disappears into the skin, leaving no trace of stickiness, but a delightful, soothing lubricating feeling.

The talcum is fine, fresh-smelling, but contains no heavy perfume which might work a hardship on tender baby skin. Each dainty container is sealed with cellophane that can be easily broken to release the contents. OF course the set comes in two colors—blue for baby boys and pink for baby girls.

Now to the most attractive and unusual feature! When baby has been creamed and powdered, press a tiny button on the back of the jar and a birdlike chirp will cause the baby to forget all the displeasures and bother he so little understands, through which he has been put incident to this bath and "fixing up."

If you are always at a loss to know what to give the new baby, bear this suggestion in mind for the next occasion. It is so new and so different, that your choice is sure to please.

I'll be glad to tell you the name of this set and the Atlanta stores at which it may be purchased if you will phone me at The Constitution office. If you do not live in Atlanta, write, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply.

lem—a door with just two short none-too-large windows on either side. I'll have to make some use of the draperies I have—brown ground and white sweet pea design on them. I thought I could have them extend over the side of the windows a bit to make the windows seem a bit larger. The wallpaper is elegant, cream with a gold wreath. Any suggestions will be much appreciated.

High Waisted.

What about swag draping the windows each to one side, as sketched, thus framing the door rather impressively? Have the draperies extend over onto the wall to make the windows seem a bit larger, and if they look all right to the floor (A on left), that will be best by all means. But if they seem too high waisted and stringy that way, you could have them just to the sill (B on right). If you have to have them just to the sill, it would probably be better to use just a sheer material instead of the chintz, maybe gold nixon.

Have you copies of our curtain bulletins? One is called "Directions for Making Curtains and Draperies" and the other is "Curtain Calls for Pleasant Windows." Send stamped, self-addressed envelope to Miss Boykin, care The Atlanta Constitution, for each bulletin desired. (Copyright, 1938, for The Constitution.)

MAKE YOUR PARTIES FAMOUS FOR CLEVER GAMES AND STUNTS

"DON'T LET THAT FEATHER FALL!"

Don't you love to be asked to a party at Lucinda's? Before you've a chance to be shy she has you hilariously playing a jolly game like this Feathers Up!

How you puff and blow—you and Phil, Dot and Bert—to keep your feather in the air longer than the other foursome keep theirs. You get a prize if you win fair and square. But if you touch the feather you pay a forfeit—push pennies across the floor with your nose.

What next? An As-You-Were contest. Guests bring pictures of themselves as babies—the funnier the better. The hostess puts a number on each picture, displays them around the room and asks everybody to guess who's who.

The guests scribble their guesses on pieces of paper and write also which is the prettiest baby, the cleverest and the one most likely to succeed.

Then what a riot when the slips are read! Somebody picks Num-

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest to our readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Write Miss Chatfield in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, The Atlanta Constitution.

Dear Miss Chatfield: What trouble with a man like I have a good wife who has been patient and loving to the fact that I have never had the game squarely with Time and time again I have her by stepping out with women and everytime I sworn to myself that it was the last. You probably don't know it but when you are running crooked women you get suspicious of all women and for this I have been close with most as not to put temptation in the way of my wife. I have not buying for the family and she very little to spend. To me long story short I am about to give her up. I know I am good enough for her, I don't want to give her up. I am writing you on a bare chance that you can help me.

Answer: Of course you must be honest with yourself. What you have here is a temptation to resist the temptation pretty face and a swishing thot. Because of your wife's tiences you have been able to eat your cake and have it but you have now reached a point that all two-timers and you must decide what means more to you, eating cake or having it.

Since you admit shameful ment of a loving and loyal an and realize what it would to lose her, you should be at right about face, stand up I man, confess that you have a case, ask her forgiveness and plead her to give you a chance. What else can you do you are guilty and have no o to offer except that you have weak and couldn't keep your rlage vows?

A woman's love is long ferer. There's no such thing as forgiveness so long as the h ray of hope that her husb may reform and play the g squarely with her. This, I is your job; to make her derstand that you do love that you have the will to faithful to her, and that t fright at the thought of lo her has put some stiffening your moral spine.

and Mrs. Bailey Are Hosts At Novel Horse Show Luncheon

By Sally Forth.

RTY in every sense of the word was the luncheon given recently by those erstwhile Atlantans, Colonel and Mrs. B. M. Bailey, at Sam Houston, according to Texas newspaper accounts of the event. Known to their friends as Rosalie and Bill, the hosts entered at luncheon in connection with the annual horse show presented by the 12th field artillery, U. S. A., of which Colonel Bailey is dental commander.

The luncheon took place at the Officers' Club between the horse show morning and afternoon events, which assembled prominent persons as well as leading figures in army circles. Seated on bales of straw around the cleverly decorated tables, the luncheon guests served hot fables as one course, the Mexican dish being served on horse's nosebags lined with red cellophane.

One of the most attractive members of Uncle Sam's army stationed at a near-by post has taken such command of the affections of a popular member of the younger set that she has finally surrendered and said "yes" to his proposal.

She has never made a formal debut but she has been a popular figure at club and college dances for some time. Although the exact date has not been set for the marriage, it will be very soon, for the groom-elect has received orders for his transfer to a distant post, and it would never do for him to leave his lady love here. Their engagement will be announced within a few weeks, with the wedding to follow soon after.

Willis Jones and his mother, Mrs. Willis Jones, will leave Atlanta the first of the week for New York, where they will spend several days with Charles Jones before Willis joins a party of Atlantans to sail on January 29 for a Mediterranean cruise. Charles, as you know, is studying medicine at Cornell in Ithaca, N. Y.

A congenial party of girls planning to take this trip are Beverly Bailey, Elkin Goddard, Sasa Smith and Margaret Chenoweth, of Birmingham, Ala., who, as the guest of Mrs. Harrison Jones this winter, became quite a good friend of this attractive trio of Atlantans.

The party, aboard the S. S. Roma, will include in its itinerary stops at Madeira, Morocco, Gibraltar, Algiers, Greece, Isle of Rhodes, Palestine, Egypt, Turkey and Naples. Palestine is listed as one of their most interesting destinations and they will spend four or five days there before paying a visit to Cairo and the Egyptian pyramids. At Naples the group will leave the ship for an overland tour through Florence, Venice, Milan, Switzerland, Paris and the Riviera. Returning to Naples, the party will sail for home on the S. S. Rex and land in New York on March 23.

Miss Catherine Shepard, executive secretary of the Atlanta Camp Fire Girls, will be in charge of the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Castegnaro Will Be Honored.

Mr. and Mrs. Mario Castegnaro, who are spending a part of their honeymoon in Atlanta, are receiving a cordial welcome, and many parties are planned in their honor.

This afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Ben Parker will entertain for the visitors at tea at their home on the Prado. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Elias, Mr. Castegnaro's son and daughter, will assist in entertaining, and the guest list will number 30 friends of the honor guests.

This evening Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Daley will be hosts at an appetizer party at their home on Power's Ferry road, for the newlyweds.

Mr. and Mrs. Castegnaro will be at home to their friends Sunday afternoon at the apartment of Mrs. Benjamin Phillips, on Fifth street. No invitations have been issued, but open house will be kept.

After a short stay here Mr. and Mrs. Castegnaro will go to New Orleans to visit Mr. and Mrs. Victor Elias, after which they will go to Hollywood, Cal.

For Miss Hoskins.

An event of the week was the supper party given by Paul Hutton at his home on Andrews drive complementing Miss Mary Hoskins, bride-elect of next month.

Spring flowers were used in the decorations throughout the home and a beautiful bride's cake adorned the center of the lace-covered table in the dining room, where supper was served at midnight.

The guests included the bride-elect's wedding attendants and a limited group of additional friends of the host and honor guest.

Blodgett-Sanford Wedding Solemnized At Grace Church

Miss Betty Blodgett, daughter of Mrs. William H. Blodgett and the late Mr. Blodgett, of Decatur, became the bride of Paul Franklin Sanford, of Atlanta, at a ceremony performed yesterday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock at Grace Methodist church. Dr. W. A. Shelton, pastor, officiated in the presence of relatives and friends.

Palms and ferns flanked the altar in an effective arrangement with seven-branched candelabra holding white burning tapers placed at intervals. The central decoration was a white floor basket of Easter lilies and white gladioli.

Charles W. M. Johnson, organist, presented a musical program. The bride and groom entered together. The bride's costume was fashioned of American Beauty lightweight wool. An attractive feature was a coronation blue suede belt and a short coat of gray tulle. A felt hat trimmed with tiny plumes matched her costume and her accessories were of gray. She wore a shoulder cluster of white orchids.

Mrs. Blodgett was gowned in black satin and wore lace with black accessories. She wore a shoulder bouquet of gardenias. Mrs. H. E. Sanford, mother of the groom, wore black crepe with a vest of lace and black accessories. Her flowers were a spray of gardenias.

After the ceremony Mrs. Blodgett entertained the two families at a buffet supper at her home in Decatur.

Mr. Sanford and his bride left for a wedding trip, after which they will reside with the bride's mother on Avery street.

Debutantes Feted.

Misses Roline Adair and Sarah Lewis were honor guests yesterday at the luncheon at which Miss Clare Haverly was hostess at the Piedmont Driving Club.

Lovely London Belle Who Made Debut Here

Miss Flora Wright, lovely young daughter of General and Mrs. Wallace Wright, of London, England, whose formal presentation to Atlanta society was made at a brilliant supper-dance given at the Piedmont Driving Club in November by her grandmother, Mrs. Edward T. Donnelly, and her aunt, Miss Louise Fitten. Miss Wright is of the blond type of beauty that combines wavy light brown hair with blue eyes, and she inherits the charming personality of her mother, the former Miss Flora Bewick, of Atlanta. She has won many friends since her arrival in Atlanta in October and, needless to say, she will be greatly missed when she returns to England, where she will be presented to their majesties, King George VI and Queen Elizabeth. Her likeness was sketched by Grace Scarboro.

Tailored Ensembles Are Smart

It's important news when you can get a suit with two skirts. The coat is of oxford, bound, and slightly fitted. One skirt is the matching oxford, and the other is striped as shown in the sketch. Priced about $25.

For the names of the Atlanta shops in which these items were sketched, phone the Fashion Editor of The Atlanta Constitution, Walnut 6565.

A classic, man-tailored suit is one of the best investments you can make. It can be worn now under your coat, or on warm days, with your furs. The two-toned twill at top left has all the important features of the 1938 man-tailored suit: the fabric, the English drape, which means it is not so moulded to the figure; single button, built-in shoulders, and longer length jacket. Also, the side pleats in the skirt are important. Priced about $40.

Above, left: Another important new note is the compose suit, the coat being a different color or material than the skirt. This one has a brown gabardine skirt with top of brown tweed. Priced about $18. Above, right: One of the most becoming suits seen is of postman blue gabardine. Priced about $18.

An ideal blouse for the suit is the one shown above, of soft pure dye silk in blue, maize, white and rose. Priced about $4. A luxuriously comfortable opera pump with medium heel in black garbardine with baby calf trim is the one at the top. It comes in different colors, and for summer would be ideal in white with color trim. Priced about $14.

Below, a smart tie that is especially designed to fit the narrow heel is one of luggage tan calf combined with beige-perforated suede. It has the cut-out toe. It also comes in other color combinations, as well as black patent and suede. Priced about $9.

Forecast of Fashion's Trend

By JACQUELINE GREENE.

The road to smartness is infested with pitfalls of bad taste. For that reason the fashion route should be scanned with more care and thought. Starting off on the right foot has a lot to do with the trip.

Starting off on the right foot means wearing the right shoes, which are coming in a variety of styles, shapes and colors. Many of your pumps must be toeless, while the high-in-front line is still good. It is also very surprising how many of the shoes for spring are in suede—yes, good old suede, which recalls a brisk autumn day, with a snappy fall dress, a set of pointed fox furms and the old standby, the black suede pump.

Suede and spring will be marching along together in the fashion parade this year, but with the sturdy out-of-doors girl in view, the shoe designers have made some of the smartest street shoes of tweed. Then there is calf, both smooth and reversed, to give a suede-like finish.

Blue, with a tendency toward the violet stage, will be good, as will the warm reddish browns called "chow colors." The copper pump in leather is destined for a perfect wave of popularity, but don't dash down and buy yourself a pair of these bright, smart shoes. Buying shoes, these copper ones especially, or other parts of your wardrobe, in a flurry is just another way of acquiring a hodgepodge which will not blend into a coherent wardrobe and which never fails to bring forth that famous "I have nothing to wear" cry.

Always buy shoes last. They may be your foundation, but in assembling and building a wardrobe, they must come last. The pump is always good, but you will notice that the worldly foot has more than ever this season that bandaged appearance. This means that cross-straps will make you look smarter than smart.

The importance of hose is not always applied to the local fire department. The fires of fancy must be considered and the wrong hose may be just as disastrous as no hose at the fire of the year. Grandmother's stockings are in style again with appearance of cotton lisle in full-fashioned lace and striped knits. This style is the very smartest thing for street and sports wear, and is destined to become one of the leading features of milady's costume. The hose this spring will come in very sheer mesh and striped knits of a fine lustrous mercerized yarn. The news in hues is that the warm shades such as suntan—and the coppery tones—will reflect the spring color scheme.

Accessories are very important, for there seems to be that certain something, that illusive glamour, to a bit of smartness which makes your ensemble above the average. But there is an art in assembling them. Never under any circumstances wear a scarf, a fur, a bunch of flowers and a clip. Let your accessory be an accent. There are so many unusual bits of nonsense that one can wear to advantage if bought with taste—that it's left with the individual to choose one which best suits her personality. Gold is still good for spring, but don't overdo it. Jeweled clips and buttons are still smart, but on the top rung of the fashion ladder, the accessories have gone to the dogs.

Fido has been copied in all his nationalities. He now appears as jeweled clips and it's my bet that it won't be long until they will have him appliqued on gowns, suits and dresses. The jeweled clips and pins representing "Fido" may be worn morning, noon or night. The object to consider is the right dog for the right costume. For instance, what could be more appropriate with creations of the Russian wolfhound? These dogs are the most sophisticated of all, and don't let anyone tell you that sophistication doesn't count this year. It always will.

But going to the dogs again. The Dachshunds are leading in popularity, with the Irish terriers a close second. When you read this, dog racing may not have passed the state lawmakers, but from a fashion standpoint the dog race is on in the fashion parade.

THE HOLLYWOOD LOOKING GLASS

Hollywood stars can no longer be ordered about when it comes to fashions. If a Paris-promoted style doesn't do anything for her, the star will shun it as completely as she will adopt anything she likes.

Lola Lane, who plays the role of a temperamental movie star in Warner Bros. "Hollywood Hotel," isn't temperamental off-screen, but she doesn't intend to give up her strictly tailored suits and squared-off shoulders no matter what the designers abroad have to say about the return of "frou-frou and fold-over." The suits are flattering and so practical for the California climate that it would be foolhardy to check them.

Joan Blondell looks back with horror at the flapper days when skirts were short and waists were long, and vows no one will catch her casting that silhouette this year. However, Paris is showing waistlines with a new low, while skirts aren't going down an inch.

Scores of Hollywood's younger girls rebelled so against the unflattering hats that were set before them last fall that they simply never wore hats unless it was absolutely necessary. Instead, bandannas got a bigger play than they ever did from the peasants of Europe. However, these same girls are not so intrigued by the new decree that hats be secured by ribbons or bands under the chin that they are flocking to bonnets.

An artist in her own right, Olivia De Havilland, claims surrealism will never catch up to her wardrobe, while Ann Sheridan, blithely ignoring new color charts, continues to buy 90 per cent of her clothes in plain black.

Madeleine Carroll, back from England, as usual has Hollywood excited about her clothes. The latest thing they note is a black taffeta hat, crownless, but with wide brim made entirely of narrow taffeta ribbon.

Bette Davis, frequently included among Hollywood's most strikingly gowned stars, has a slim new flame crepe gown which she wears with a dashing jacket and turban which has flame and gold against a background of black. She tops this with an extravagant black fox wrap.

Kay Francis has a gray broad-tail coat which won a prize for the furrier who designed it. Modeled on slim lines, the coat has huge silver fox cuffs. It is particularly chic with an all gray ensemble and black velvet halo hat.

ss Leila Harris Becomes Bride Henry Ogden at Home Rites id a bower of white lilacs Leila Harris became the bride of Henry Ogden, of New York, at an impressive ceremony last evening by Dr. Da-Marx at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Harris, on Ponce de Leon in Druid Hills. The rites were held in the living room, which was decorated with white and blue flowers. A shoulder cluster of deep purple orchids graced her left shoulder.

Mrs. Harris wore the important occasion a gray satin gown with which she wore a short jacket made of red, blue and gray sequins. A shoulder cluster of deep purple orchids graced her left shoulder.

Mrs. Oppenheimer's gown was fashioned of pastel blue satin with which she wore a shoulder bouquet of delicately tinted orchids. Mrs. Liebmann's gown was made of blue and silver lame and she wore a shoulder bouquet of orchids.

In the dining room and library where supper was served yellow roses and acacia prevailed in the floral decorations. Vases of these lovely flowers were arranged on the buffet, tables, bookcases and consoles.

Bride's Table.
The bride's table was covered with white satin and adorned in the center by a beautifully embroidered five-tiered wedding cake, surrounded by a plateau of valley lilies. Plateaux of these dainty blooms were arranged at graceful intervals on the table as were clear cut crystal candelabra in which burned white tapers. At either end of the table were small crystal trees reflecting the lights of the crystal chandelier suspended over the center of the table.

Misses Suzanne Fern and Elaine Montag kept the bride's book. Mr. Ogden and his bride left in the late evening for a wedding trip to Florida and Cuba. They will return to New York for residence at 152 East 94th street on February 20. For travelling the bride wore a smart ensemble fashioned of Rodier wool in the blue and red shades. A jaunty hat made of the same fabric and dark blue velvet completed the well-dressed costume. She wore a pair of silver fox furs.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Oppenheimer, Mrs. Marcus Rothchild, Mr. and Mrs. Mario Castenro, Lloyd Wilson, Leslie Ogden, Misses Sue Klauber and Edna Rothchild and Edward M. Healy, of New York; Harold Leeker, Mrs. J. E. Eismann, Mr. and Mrs. John Eismann, of Memphis, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Weir, Mr. and Mrs. Lucian Loeb, of Montgomery, Ala., and Mrs. Philip Barnett, of Miami, Fla.

Antiques To Be Shown At Woman's Club Tea.
Among the antiques to be displayed at the novelty silver tea to be given by the garden division of the Atlanta Woman's Club, today from 2 to 6 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. B. M. Smith, 1148 Piedmont avenue, will be a 200-year-old silver egg service; silver mustard pot, shell designed, engraved with coral wreaths, and covered with a turtle-shaped top; Mrs. Smith's great-grandfather's hot water stone jug decorated with oak leaves and berries, covered with an acorn-topped pewter lid.

The tea table, at which Mrs. Alva Maxwell, president of the Atlanta Woman's Club, will serve, will be set with antique crystal glass, and illuminated by lighted candles in an ancient silver three-branched candelstick. Yellow snapdragons and gladioli will be used as decorations.

Friends of the Atlanta Woman's Club and lovers of old china, glass conservation before the garden division of the Atlanta Woman's Club recently, Mrs. Lyman C. Morris, chairman, presided.

Mrs. E. L. Rowe, program chairman, introduced Mrs. McGovern. Mrs. John Evans was honor guest. Mrs. Ben Smith discussed the Invitations Recalled.

Wesleyan Alumnae Plan Party, Revue

Plans for an elaborate children's party and fashion show early in March were discussed at the Wesleyan Alumnae executive board meeting held Tuesday at Mrs. Robert G. Stephens' home, 615 Linwood avenue. Mrs. Stephens served luncheon after the meeting.

Mrs. W. E. Evans, chairman of Group No. 3, was appointed general chairman for the party, and will be assisted by leaders from each group. Mrs. D. W. Clanton will plan the program and Mrs. R. E. Boyle Jr. will direct the games. Mrs. Edward G. Warner was appointed to secure a place; Mrs. C. E. Lovett will plan decorations, while Mrs. George Elvey will select favors. Mrs. W. W. Davidson and others from Group No. 2 will be in charge of refreshments.

Guests of honor were Miss Jennie Loyall, alumnae secretary, and Mrs. R. G. Wiggins, field secretary, both of Macon. Miss Loyall and Mrs. Wiggins reported that Wesleyan College has the largest freshmen enrollment since the depression. Mrs. Walter Garrard and Mrs. D. W. Clanton are making arrangements for the examination and essay contests in local high schools and completing plans for Dr. Dice R. Anderson, Wesleyan's president, to speak in the high schools in the spring. Dormitory day is planned for April 9.

The following reported that the five groups are functioning actively with regular meetings, feature programs, interesting projects and stimulating friendships and contacts: Mrs. Edward G. Warner, Group 1; Mrs. W. W. Davidson, Group 2; Mrs. D. E. Evans, Group 3; Miss Margaret Richards for Group 4, and Miss Elizabeth Moate, Group 5.

Mrs. Howard McKenzie announced that the radio series will be resumed early this spring, with subjects and speakers to be announced later. She also discussed plans for alumnae days at the college, March 11 and 12. Mrs. Augustus M. Roan, second vice president of the national alumnae association, described plans for organizing alumnae throughout the southeast. Mrs. R. E. Boyle, who recently moved back to Atlanta from Washington, D. C., where she was president of the Washington alumnae association, was appointed chairman for the fifth district. Mrs. Worth Hobby presided.

The executive board meets January 27 at the home of the treasurer, Mrs. T. J. Ripley, 155 Peachtree circle. Mrs. John A. Beall, co-hostess.

Marriage Is Announced

Mrs. George Wesley Rompott, formerly Miss Mary Emylene West, of Powder Springs, whose marriage was announced recently. Rev. W. T. Hunkin, of Martha Brown Memorial church, performed the ceremony. Mrs. Rompott is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Arthur West, of Powder Springs.

Governor and Mrs. Rivers Give Tea Tomorrow to Junior College Students

Governor Rivers and the First Lady of Georgia will entertain at tea in honor of students of Atlanta Junior College at the University System of Georgia at the mansion on the Prado on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Receiving with Governor and Mrs. Rivers will be Dr. George M. Sparks, director of the college, and Mrs. Sparks; Professor Theodore M. McCellan, the registrar, and Misses McCellan; Mrs. Richard Trotter, dean of women, and Edwin Walker, president of the student body. Miss Janelle Wiloughby, president of the sophomore class, will present guests to Governor and Mrs. Rivers.

The lower floor of the mansion will feature motifs of blue and gold, the colors of the Junior College. The table in the dining room will be covered with a lace cloth and centered with a silver bowl filled with golden chrysanthemums. Silver candelsticks will hold lighted blue tapers. Dr. Merle Walker, assistant registrar, will pour tea, and Mrs. Joseph N. Le Conte will pour coffee from silver services placed at each end of the table. Assisting will be Misses Edna Power, Sarah Everett, Eleanor Morris, Eugenia O'Bryan, Eden Newton and June Moore. John West, president of the freshman class, and Miss Bernice Martin will assist with arrangements and musical selections will be given by the Glee Club under the direction of Professor John D. Hoffman.

In addition to the faculty and students of the Junior Day College, the guests will include the presidents and representatives of the organizations and the faculty of the Evening College, the senior division of the Atlanta Extension Center.

Invited are Misses Kay Alling, Clair Andrew, Sara Anne Andrew, Mabel Aikew, Beverly Baird, Catherine Baker, Blainde Baker, Lathroppe Baker, Bessie Baird, Helen Baird, Catherine Smith, Mary L. Atlanta U. D. C. Will Honor Heroes

Atlanta Chapter, U. D. C., will commemorate the birth of three leading heroes of the Confederacy at its meeting next Tuesday at 2:30 o'clock to be held at the chapter house, 826 Juniper street.

Matthew Fontaine Maury, born January 14, will be paid tribute by Mrs. James M. Perry. General Robert E. Lee, born January 19, and Thomas Jonathan (Stonewall) Jackson, born January 21, will be the subject of the address to be made by Judge Paul Etheridge, superior court judge of Fulton county.

Judge Etheridge, widely known as a speaker of note, will tell of reminiscences told him by his father, who served with Lee and Jackson.

A fitting musical program has been arranged by Mrs. C. E. Barber, chairman of music, with Mrs. A. T. Moorhead and L. D. Bradford as soloists.

After a short business session presided over by the president, Mrs. Forrest Kibler, the meeting will be turned over to Mrs. C. J. Sheehan, recorder of crosses and chairman of commemorative days. Mrs. Sheehan will introduce the speakers and at the close of the address will present crosses of honor to Dr. Oliver T. White for his father, Oliver T. White, and to Samuel White Kenan for his grandfather, Samuel Gore White, and to Mrs. J. U. Horne, father, William Brantley Burke.

Mrs. Robert P. Sweeney, registrar, will present certificates of membership to Mesdames C. J. Jackson, Elmer Stanley, Ernest Howard and Miss Fairy Nash.

The treasurer, Mrs. Marshall Holsenbeck, will be at the chapter house early to receive 1938 dues. Friends and members are invited.

PUGMIRE INSTALLS MAJOR COX TONIGHT

New Head of Salvation Army Training College Succeeds Holz.

Atlanta Salvationists will witness the installation tonight of Major Sidney E. Cox as principal of the Army's Southern Training College here by Commissioner Ernest I. Pugmire, southern territorial commander.

The ceremony, which will be at 8 o'clock, will take place at the Ellis street temple. Major Cox assumed duties at the college the first of January, succeeding Brigadier Ernest R. Holz, who was appointed young people's secretary for the south and director of the southern youth program.

The Atlanta college is one of four in the country. The others are at New York, Chicago and San Francisco. Students and instructors at the training college expect to move to the recently purchased plant on Stewart avenue the first of March. Workmen are remodeling and reconditioning the property to meet the needs of the school. The five buildings will provide administrative facilities and dormitory accommodations for 100 students and officers. Shrubby will be set out, lawns cared for, and the campus beautified in general. The property is the old site plant of the Atlanta Theological Seminary.

The purchase of the Stewart avenue property is one of the results of General Evangeline Booth's visit to Atlanta last October. She said the property on Luckie street which the training college has used for the past 10 years was entirely inadequate and recommended the purchase of other buildings. More adequate facilities for training officers is one of the chief points in General Booth's worldwide educational program.

Court Upholds Kennesaw Park Land Valuation

A federal district court jury yesterday upheld the government's contention that $30 an acre was a fair price for land which is designated to become the Kennesaw Mountain Battlefield National Park.

The government seeks to buy between 1,800 and 2,000 acres of land for the park grounds and already made some outright purchases. Condemnation suits have been begun in federal court for the other property.

In the suit yesterday, the property owner, H. J. Annondie, sought to force the government to pay $60 an acre, while the government, represented by Assistant District Attorney H. H. Tysinger, contended $30 was ample.

The tract involved yesterday is for only 53 acres, but as it is next to the mountain is very necessary for the park, Tysinger said.

LAST RITES TODAY FOR EDWARD LYLE

Funeral Will Be Held in Montgomery.

Funeral services for Edward Lyle, 66, of 28 Brookhaven drive, who died Wednesday in a private hospital after a short illness will be held at 11 o'clock this morning in Montgomery, Ala., at St. John's Episcopal church with the Rev. Edgar Neff, rector, officiating. Burial will be in Oakwood cemetery.

Member of a prominent Virginia family, Mr. Lyle came to Atlanta in 1907 from Montgomery, Ala. Until his retirement two years ago, he was an official of the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company.

STATE AD ASSOCIATION ANNOUNCES OFFICIALS

Results of a recent election held in Atlanta by the Outdoor Advertising Association of Georgia were announced yesterday. Officers elected included C. D. Smith, of Columbus, president; H. H. Estes, of Gainesville, vice president; George Ripley, of Atlanta, secretary-treasurer. New directors included E. F. Harris, of Griffin; T. L. Spence, of Thomasville; L. A. Milligan, of Augusta; A. L. Crowe, of Marietta, and Martin T. Price, of Savannah, national director.

Mrs. Thompson Fetes Samaritan Class.

Mrs. John T. Thompson will entertain the Good Samaritan Bible Class of the First Baptist church at her home, 64 Fourteenth street, N. E., this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. R. D. McDowell is president of this class, and Mrs. J. H. Coin, the teacher. There are over 100 women enrolled and the average attendance is 65.

Guests of Mrs. Thompson will be Mesdames R. B. Adair, P. S. Brownlee, L. M. Thibadeau, R. D. McDowell, H. B. Davis, J. H. Newman and M. E. Moses.

Miss Morton Feted.

Mrs. Alton T. Milam entertained last evening at a miscellaneous shower at the home of her mother, Mrs. W. J. Milam, on Seminole avenue, honoring Miss Doris Morton, bride-elect. Miss Ferrell Morton, Mrs. W. H. Rogers and Mrs. H. A. Dalton, sisters of the hostess, and Mrs. W. J. Milam assisted in entertaining.

P-T. A. Benefit.

The Immaculate Conception P-T. A. sponsor a benefit bridge party February 18 at 8 o'clock. Lovely prizes will be awarded and tickets may be secured by calling Mrs. Louis Bowen, Main 1008; Mrs. W. L. McLaughlin, Main 5569, or Mrs. W. D. Zink, Walnut 2303.

Proper Responses to Partner's Bids To Be Outlined at School of Bridge

Sharpsteen, in Three Classes Today, Will Cover Complete Range of Raises and Takeouts for Constitution Readers at Biltmore Hotel.

Complete range of raises and takeouts for partner's opening one suit bids, including non-forcing, one-round forcing and game-forcing responses, is the lesson subject to attract record crowds to today's three sessions of The Constitution's School of Bridge in the Atlanta Biltmore hotel.

Classes will be held as usual at 10:30 a. m., 2:30 and 8 p. m. in the Pompeian room and will be featured by the first introduction in Atlanta of Harold Sharpsteen's "Traffic Lights in Bridge," which recently created such a sensation on the Pacific coast. In the short space of 45 minutes, The Constitution's noted bridge expert promises to cover the full scope of responses in a manner simple enough for the tyro to easily comprehend.

New Players Enrolled.
With hundreds of Atlantans regularly attending The Constitution's bridge lesson series, new players are enrolling in the classes at each session as Mr. Sharpsteen proceeds to give Constitution readers and their friends a complete course in instruction in the latest improved methods of bidding and play as recommended by Ely Culbertson for 1938.

Classes today will consist of the lecture period followed by supervised instruction in actual bidding and play by Mr. Sharpsteen, assisted by Mrs. Sharpsteen. Those participating in The Constitution's rubber bridge sweepstakes also will resume their games following the regular lesson periods at each session today.

Coupon Cuts Admission.

When The Constitution bridge school coupon, appearing in this morning's editions, is presented at the classroom, the admission is 35 cents. Without the coupon, however, the regular instruction fee is $1. Courtesy coupons are issued for all classes by The Constitution for the convenience and saving of Constitution readers.

It was not necessary to have attended previous sessions of the school in order to join any class. New enrollments are accepted at all sessions. This morning's lesson will be repeated at the afternoon and night classes. The attendance of men players at the night classes has shown a large increase. Nearly half the night crowd is made up of men players of Atlanta.

J. FRED PEAVY FUNERAL CONDUCTED YESTERDAY

Funeral services for J. Fred Peavy, 34, of Decatur, killed early Wednesday morning when his automobile was struck by an inbound Georgia Railroad passenger train at the Moreland avenue crossing, were held at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon at Clifton Methodist church. The Revs. H. F. Barfield, W. M. Hunton and M. L. Spain officiated.

Peavy's death marked the seventh traffic fatality within the city limits in 1938.

Crackers Acquire Werk; Scott, Mann Off to League Meeting

(Editor's note—Break o' Day is written today by Jack Troy, acting sports editor of The Constitution, pinch-hitting for Ralph McGill.)

EN ROUTE TO MEMPHIS FOR SOUTHERN LEAGUE MEETING, Jan. 20.—Major Trammell Scott seems to be the big story.

Before leaving Atlanta, it began to appear that the writing boys around the south—I mean those who do the stories about baseball—were well aware of that fact because the wires were coming in for pictures. They want to be ready when the big news breaks Saturday for the Sunday papers.

As I say, Trammell Scott seems to be the story, and there is, apparently, a pressing need for a bit of preparedness. That is to say, some sort of sketch of his career to accompany the pictures.

This may not help, but it goes to show where the interest of Trammell Scott lay as a youngster in Atlanta when there was some fine fishing to be had around the spot where right field is today at Ponce de Leon park.

Major Scott was on the train, and as the clicking wheels sent us rushing through the darkness and into Tennessee, he settled back and recounted some experiences of his boyhood.

He recalled the days when the New York Americans trained at Piedmont park and how he and his pals of the knothole gang had found a tree nearby and built seats high upon a limb. Each seat bore the initials of the builder. And what a helluva fight there was if somebody tried to "horn in" on the day of a game!

One thing led to another and finally the truth as to why Major Scott, then called young Trammell, was always rushing away before the game ended, came to light.

It was quite a story.

A BIT OF BOYISH INGENUITY.

It didn't matter whether the major was watching a game or whether he was playing with the gang—when the sun began to sink over the hills, he left on the run.

The score might be tied and a ninth inning rally in progress—that seemed to be the case more often than not, Major Scott related—but that mattered not. He dropped everything and departed the scene in a big hurry.

Because—it was time to milk, or thereabouts, and if he didn't have it done before his dad reached home, there was the dickens to pay and a trip to the woodshed in store.

Using the sun as a gauge, or timepiece, the major usually could make it to the pasture. That was the first step. He would then have to drive the cows to the barn.

And, as he usually was late, he would run them instead of drive them. This was a big help in more ways than one.

For, in running the cows, it caused their udders to sway and there was, as the popular expression does not go, no crying over spilt milk. That is, there wasn't as far as young Trammell was concerned.

It made just that much less milking to do and he could get through a lot quicker. But major's daddy, as daddies will, began to wonder why the pails showed less and less, and so, ultimately, there was a bit of crying over spilt milk. On young Scott's part.

NO COWS ON SCOTT ESTATE.

Today you may find fine horses, pedigreed bird dogs and many pets on the Scott estate, but not a single cow.

SOUTHPAW WON SIX, LOST THREE FOR VOLS IN '37

Eight Left-Handed Hurlers to Try Out for Cracker Staff.

By MELVIN PAZOL.

Frank Werk, a southpaw with Nashville last year, described by Earl Mann as a "good-looking young pitcher," has accepted Cracker terms, it was announced yesterday afternoon by the president of the Atlanta Baseball Corporation.

Werk won six games and lost three for the Vols last year. He was recently declared a free agent by Judge Bramham, and negotiations with Cracker officials were successful. A contract is already in the mails to Werk, embodying terms to which the left-handed ace has already assented. His signing will, therefore, be reduced to a mere formality.

Werk participated in 37 games with the Vols last year. He was used mostly as a relief hurler working in 115 innings. He fanned 53 batters and allowed only 28 bases on balls. His earned run average for the season was 4.39.

With the acquisition of Werk, there are now eight left-handers on the Cracker roster. Batterymen on the Cracker camp at Savannah on March 1. The rest of the squad will report on the sixth, and the camp will last till the end of the month.

President Mann stated before leaving last night for the league meeting in Memphis that with eight southpaws on the roster, Manager Paul Richards and aides should be able to glean at least two excellent hurlers.

The Crackers already have several good right-handers, and if the left-handers come through as expected another pennant-winning aggregation is in the offing.

Cotton, Young Catcher, Given Cracker Trial

Windall Cotton, promising young catcher from the Canal Zone, has been signed for a trial with the Crackers this spring, Manager Paul Richards announced.

Richards saw Cotton play at Colon last winter and likes the way the youngster plays.

Roche Meets Karl Davis Tonight

Dory Roche, coming here directly from Indianapolis where he spilled one Pete Peterson, and Karl Davis, giant Ohioan, who knocked off Angelo Cistoldi at Birmingham Monday, are scheduled in the feature attraction of a colorful three-bout mat card at the new Warren arena.

Roche has beaten many good men here and always is a top crowd pleaser, but he will have to step tonight to handle the powerful Davis, one of the hardest hitters in the heavyweight ranks. Paul Harper, once a star foot-baller at S. M. U., and a former favorite here, tackles Burly Babe Zaharias, the Greek terror, in the semi-final, and a thrilling match is in prospect.

Strong Man Milo Steinborn faces Everett Gibbons, St. Louis, newcomer, in the opener at 8:30. Red Carleton, big and aggressive, has been engaged as referee. He'll get the acid test, particularly against Karl Davis.

ATHENS, Ga., Jan. 20.—With a season's record of three wins out of five tries, the University of Georgia basketball team will endeavor to increase the margin by overcoming the Chattanooga Moccasins in a two-game series here tonight and Saturday.

In a practice scrimmage with the freshman squad Wednesday night more speed and precision was displayed by the Bulldog varsity than has heretofore been shown. The whole squad was handling the ball better and seemed to be a little more accurate in passing and shooting.

Alex McCaskill, sophomore forward, proved himself to be the outstanding individual player of the week. In every practice session he has shown excellent form on both offensive and defensive play.

The starting lineup will be the same that has started in each of the five previous contests. McCaskill and his running mate, Bill Kelly, will be in at forward, Captain Jack Farren will again jump for the tipoff and Tom Kennedy and Olin Thompson will hold down the sentry posts.

Russell Courtmen Beat Fulton High

Russell High's boys' basketball team defeated Fulton High, 37 to 32, Thursday afternoon. They will clash with Marietta at the Russell court tonight.

THE LINEUPS.
RUSSELL (37): McCoy (8), Wilson (4), Waggoner (8), Dodd (5), Davis (11).
FULTON (32): Rakestraw (11), Dickey (4), Paul (1), Hearn (7), Doshier (3), Russell, Goode, Fulton, Warren, Finch, Scruggs, Finch.

GRANT AND RIGGS EXTENDED TO WIN AT TAMPA MEET

Bitsy Plays Sabin in Semi-Finals, Riggs Meets Harris.

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Bobby Riggs, Chicago, America's second ranking tennis player, still was in the running tonight for the Dixie tennis tournament championship, after a hard three-set match with Elwood Cooke, of Portland, Ore.

Riggs, first seeded player in the tournament, defeated Cooke 6-4, 3-6, 6-4. While the young Chicagoan was advancing to the semi-finals, Bryan M. Grant, Atlanta, Ga., Davis cupper, who was seeded second in the tournament although he is defending champion, struggled desperately on the second court with Gardner Mulloy, of Miami, Fla., finally subduing the lanky south Florida player, 7-5, 7-5.

Grant and Riggs are favored to clash in the finals for the trophy which, if won by Grant, becomes the permanent property of the tiny state of Atlanta. Grant defeated Donald Budge, America's top-ranking player in the finals last year for his second leg on the cup.

Wayne Sabin, of Los Angeles, advanced to semi-finals by trouncing Martin Buxby, of West Palm Beach, Fla., who defeated Frank Kovacs, of San Francisco, 6-3, 6-3. Mulloy's terrific forehand smashes worried Grant from the beginning and only the court generalship of the tiny Atlantan enabled him to pull his match out of the fire.

Mulloy had set point in the first set with game score 5-4, but Grant maneuvered about enough to cause the Miamian to err and tied the count.

Grant bore down to take two straight games with the loss of only one point in each to win the set at 7-5.

In the second set Mulloy held a 5-2 lead, but Grant hit his stride and took five straight games with the loss of only one point.

Results of the second round doubles matches:

Riggs and Sabin defeated Pero and Hardie, 5-7, 7-5, 6-3.

Kovacs and Cooke defeated Buxby and V. Marcum, 6-2, 6-2.

Boulware and Harris defeated Mulloy and Sabin, 2-6, 2-6, 6-4.

Grant and Hines defeated Parks and W. Marcum, 6-1, 6-1.

Riggs and Sabin play Kovacs and Cooke and Buxby and Harris meet Grant and Hines in the doubles semi-finals tomorrow.

Sabin meets Grant in semi-finals and Riggs plays Harris.

QUALIFYING LED BY WES FERRELL

SARASOTA, Fla., Jan. 20.—(AP) Wesley Ferrell, the Washington pitcher, served notice today he is straight from tee to pin, who is more consistent than the Cooper who led the pack in the way of a low average for the year—as well as money earned with wood and iron.

Scoring a one-over-par 72, he paced the field over the first 18 holes of the qualifying test for the third annual ball players' tournament. Another 18 will be played tomorrow and the low eight will form the championship flight for match play Saturday and Sunday.

One stroke behind was Lloyd Brown, Cleveland pitcher, who finished third last year behind Sam Byrd, since turned professional.

Jack Russell, former Washington, Boston and Detroit pitcher, pulled up in third place with a 74. The southpaw outfielder, Paul Wanner, of Pittsburgh, was fourth with 75. Wanner was installed as favorite in the auction last night.

Dixie Dean, who said he had won $1,000 against $20,000 he would win, was bracketed at 78 with Rick Albrook, the Washington coach and humorist.

Tied at 79 were Gerald Walker, Chicago White Sox; Lloyd Wanner, Pittsburgh; Watson Clark, former Brooklyn hurler. Another of the favorites, Garland Braxton, of Indianapolis, finished second in last year's medal play event, had trouble all the way and came home with an 81.

Biggest disappointment was Paul Deranger, the Cincinnati pitcher. Usually around in the low 70s, Deranger needed 85.

Other scores included: Roy Spencer, Brooklyn, 80; Heine Manush, Brooklyn, 84; Bill Swift, Pittsburgh, 90; Dennis Galeshield, 94; Bruce Campbell, Cleveland, 108.

Gordon Accepts Columbus Post

Felton Gordon, who for the past four years has been The Constitution's sports correspondent at the University of Georgia, becomes sports editor of the Columbus Equiner today, succeeding Bill Blake, who resigned to accept a position with the Louisville Courier-Journal.

Gordon has a well-rounded sports background for a young fellow and is expected to do well in his new job. Columbus is a fine sporting town.

Paul and the Major Depart

Major Trammell Scott, at the right, Atlanta's candidate for president of the Southern league, is shown above with Paul Richards, catcher-manager of the Crackers, as the two entrained yesterday—Scott to the league meeting in Memphis, and Richards to his home in Waxahatchie, Texas. Earl Mann, Cracker president, left by a later train for Memphis last night. Richards was to stop in Dallas before proceeding to Waxahatchie.

THE FIVE MAIN FUNDAMENTALS.

(Picked by Harry Cooper.)

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20.—What are the five main fundamentals of golf the average player should take to his soul for consideration? I put this query to Light Horse Harry Cooper, the eminent stylist, at Bing Crosby's Del Mar tournament.

There is no living golfer who is straighter from tee to pin, who is more consistent than the Cooper who led the pack in the way of a low average for the year—as well as money earned with wood and iron.

"They will tell you that form isn't important," Harry Cooper said. "It may not be until the pressure is on—and then it means everything. For example, you may have only a slight slice in practice or some easy-going match. But, when the pressure is on, this slice will just about double itself. Minor faults turn into wrecking mistakes when the tension is on. That's why it is important to have a few of the most important fundamentals to fall back on when the showdown comes. If you haven't all the nerve and courage in the world won't help you."

What They Are. "What are these five important fundamentals?" I asked the scoring leader of 1937.

"The place to start," Cooper said, "is at the beginning. That means the grip. With a bad grip, you have no chance at all to be consistent. There should be control with the left hand—especially with the little and second finger of the left hand. The left hand must always be firm—held just a trifle over the club. Any good pro can show you the right grip—firm but flexible, so the wrists can work."

"The second fundamental is the correct stance—which means natural ease. There should be a feeling of freedom with the feet—not too far apart. Too many golfers spread their feet, plant them like posts—lock their legs—and then wonder why they have no swing. Be easy on your feet. This will take most of the tension from your legs and body. Don't keep them too far apart—and let them close in as the shot gets shorter."

"I should say the third fundamental is the follow-through. It is the correct stance—which means natural ease. There should be a feeling of freedom with the feet—not too far apart. Too many golfers spread their feet, plant them like posts—lock their legs—and then wonder why they have no swing. Be easy on your feet. This will take most of the tension from your legs and body. Don't keep them too far apart—and let them close in as the shot gets shorter."

"The fourth fundamental is the follow-through. It is the correct stance—which means natural ease. There should be a feeling of freedom with the feet—not too far apart. Too many golfers spread their feet, plant them like posts—lock their legs—and then wonder why they have no swing. Be easy on your feet. This will take most of the tension from your legs and body. Don't keep them too far apart—and let them close in as the shot gets shorter."

Don't keep them too far apart—and let them close in as the shot gets shorter."

"The fifth fundamental is the follow-through. It is the correct stance—which means natural ease. There should be a feeling of freedom with the feet—not too far apart. Too many golfers spread their feet, plant them like posts—lock their legs—and then wonder why they have no swing. Be easy on your feet. This will take most of the tension from your legs and body. MAJOR FIGURE 'CINCH' TO TAKE MARTIN'S PLACE

Radio Broadcasts, The Game Series, All-Star Game on Slate.

By JACK TROY.

EN ROUTE TO MEMPHIS FOR SOUTHERN LEAGUE MEETING, Jan. 20. It is gratifying to note that Trammell Scott, sponsored by the Atlanta Baseball Corporation and backed by Judge John D. Martin and The Constitution, is now considered most observers as a "cinch" to succeed Judge Martin as president of the Southern league when directors meet Saturday to vote on matters.

The Constitution has insisted along that Major Scott had necessary five votes to put him in office and, that, indeed, he had vote to spare.

This statement has been vividly denied from time to time, but now things are different. At least one writer has now voiced the opinion that it should be a surprise if all eight directors vote for Scott.

The majority of observers seem to feel that election of Scott means only a formality and that all talk of a bitter fight over presidency is contrary to all indications, to say the least.

SIX FAVOR SCOTT.

It would be a bit surprising this writer if all eight directors agreed on Scott, however. Six expected to be all for him.

These six include Larry Gilb, New Orleans; Colonel Bob Al, Knoxville; Roy Thompson, St. Louis; Earl Mann, Atlanta; R. Woodward, Memphis, and Joe J. Gel, Chattanooga.

Fay Murray, of Nashville, is swinging around. He has supported two candidates already—Dan E. president of the Piedmont league and then Fred Russell, sports writer for the Nashville Banner. Murray, as said, may finally cast vote for Scott.

But it is to be doubted if T. Watkins, of Memphis, who now is thinking of switching from Hill Frank Longinotti, his secretary will vote for the Atlanta sportsman.

ONE FOR LONGINOTTI.

It seems too bad that T. Watkins, who suddenly appeared on scene as a voluntary backer Longinotti, does not have a vote. For, then, Longinotti might have two votes. And yet, even if Terry voting, he might only have one. For Watkins doesn't seem to know what he wants to do.

It is held, however, that Scott can do very well without Watkins' support.

Major Scott is on the trip to attend Saturday's meeting. President Earl Mann, catching a later train because of the wedding of P. Sanford, will arrive early Friday morning.

Most directors are expected to arrive in advance so as to hold a few informal sessions regarding matters other than the presidency.

RADIO BROADCASTS

There is to be no radio broadcasting, both of home and road games—several clubs favor the broadcasting of home games too, including Atlanta—and the is to be voting on the proposed all-star game to be played in early July, with the first place team meeting a team recruited from the other seven members; and there to be adoption of the annual playing schedule of 154 games.

This schedule may introduce, for the first time, series of three games, making it necessary for each club to take an extra road trip.

President Mann, Colonel Allen and Larry Gilbert compose the schedule committee. It has been submitted and awaits only the approval of directors.

Mann and Fay Murray will report on the all-star game to the committee of two. They think will be approved.

Indications point to a most harmonious session, with the directors largely going through the motions in the matter of approving Major Trammell Scott as the new Southern league president.

Complexity Shrouds Watkins' Vote

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 20.—(AP) The perplexities of Saturday's scheduled Southern association presidential election grew more involved today with a pledge from Thomas R. Watkins to support Frank Longinotti in case Watkins' first choice fails to make the grade.

Watkins, president of the Memphis club, said he was committed to vote for Dan W. Hill, president of the Federation league, but that if Hill's election proved impossible he would throw his support to Longinotti, Chicks secretary for the last 18 years.

"Until last week I did not know Longinotti was even considered as a candidate," the Memphis boss declared. "But if there is another tie in the Hill's election is impossible it is certain that I am going for Longinotti."

The forthcoming meeting will elect a successor to Judge John D. Martin, who will retire to become chairman of the board.

JOHNSTON HURTS ANKLE IN GAME AGAINST MERCER

Coach Roy Mundorff Gives First Team an Off Day.

By JOHNNY BRADBERRY. Coach Roy Mundorff gave his varsity basketball an offday yesterday and sent his reserves through a long, fast scrimmage in a desperate effort to develop replacements for his first team.

Bo Johnston, center, is suffering from an injured ankle, received in the game with Mercer Wednesday night and he probably will not participate in any of the scrimmages the rest of the week.

The Jackets play the Bears again Saturday night here and although Johnston will probably be able to play, he won't see full-time service.

Therefore, Mundorff is faced with the task of developing before Saturday one of his reserves to run with the varsity.

Which is a tough job. The coach yesterday instructed Johnston to take it easy this week, hoping he will be able to scrimmage Monday.

The Jackets make their second bow in Southeastern conference competition next Wednesday when they play Alabama here and the loss of Johnston would be a severe blow.

Players given the day off were Johnston, Jordan, Jones, Sims, Smith and Anderson.

"The boys were pretty tired when they got in last night, so I thought that had better take it easy today," Mundorff said.

Baby Jackets Play Poets Tonight

Georgia Tech's freshman basketball team will play the Lanier High Poets at Macon tonight.

Coach Norris Dean announced yesterday he would probably start the following lineup against the Poets:

Hughes, center; Bryan, Williams or Barlett, forwards; and Kelly and Bourroughs, guards.

SMITHIES CARD 11 GRID BATTLES

Eleven tough football games for 1938 have been scheduled by Boys' High school, Coach Shorty Doyle announced.

All but three of the games will probably be played in Atlanta.

Two dates remain open but will be filled soon, Doyle announced.

The Pures will resume relations with G. M. A. again for the first time in five years and will play Marist for the first time.

Marist has been recently admitted to the G. I. A. A. The incomplete schedule includes seven G. I. A. A. teams. It follows:

September 16—Commercial.
September 22—Donore Aggies, here.
September 28—G. M. A.
October 7—Savannah, here.
October 14—Pending.
October 20—Lanier, here.
October 28—Marist.
November 4—Pending.
November 11—Knoxville High, there.
November 18—Enslay, there.
November 25—Miami, there.

Five Tie for First In East Lake Bogey

Five players tied for the winning number yesterday in the midweek blind bogey tournament on the East Lake links. The winning number was 77. Those having it were H. J. Gerlach, C. G. DeNormandie, Jack Pappenheimer, Lee Holly and R. E. Kox.

Those having a score of 78 were R. O. Estes, Carl Dinkler, Dr. C. W. Strickler, R. E. Richards, Dr. W. W. W. W. W. W. McDowell and Gene Brooks.

Seven players tied for the last honors of the day with a score of 76. They were T. L. Reed, W. S. Smith, H. L. Ralls, Dan Yates, W. A. Rhodes, L. U. West and P. G. Hanahan.

Forty-seven entries participated in the event.

Warren Five Beats Albany Blues, 62-35

Warren Company, paced by Virlyn Moore and Jim Bagby, defeated the Albany Blues, 62 to 35, last night at the Warren arena.

Bagby scored 17 points and Moore 14. Hugh Luby, Cracker ball player, was outstanding at guard.

Warren plays the Chippewa Mills of Gainesville here Monday night and are idle until Thursday when they meet the nationally known Celtics.

Bob Davis Named Tech High Captain

Bob Davis was elected captain of the 1938 Tech High track team and Dick Guthrie alternate captain.

Davis succeeds Bobby Pair, southern A. A. U. junior 100-yard dash champion, as captain. The first meet is scheduled to be an indoor affair at Chapel Hill, North Carolina.

Coach J. C. Morris has returning a veteran squad and is hopeful of building up an impressive record.

F. D. R. WILL CONFER WITH 'LITTLE MAN' IN ECONOMIC STUDY

Small Business Groups Insist on Participating in Conferences.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(P)—Small businessmen, at their own insistence, are soon to participate in President Roosevelt's series of conferences on economic problems.

White House aides announced their inclusion today, explaining that hundreds of letters had been received asking for such action and pointing out that thus far Mr. Roosevelt had consulted only the ranking officials of big business.

Selected At Random. Consequently, the President's assistants said, Mr. Roosevelt issued instructions that smaller corporations should be selected at random from the letters received and invited to the White House.

The announcement came as the President worked on toward the establishment of a council to guide him in the formulation of policies, a group of which Mr. Roosevelt said should include both big and little business, as well as representatives of labor, agriculture, transportation, distribution, investors and consumers.

Council Distinct. Officials said the organization of such a council was distinct from the President's plans for meetings of the leaders of a single industry. The purpose of the latter conferences would be to estimate, with government assistance, prospective demand for goods, so that production and employment might be stabilized.

In the latter category, apparently, falls a meeting scheduled for tomorrow, to which Mr. Roosevelt has invited the heads of the great automobile manufacturing companies and officials of their affiliates which finance installment purchases of automobiles.

FARM SURVEY SHOWS PROFIT TO GEORGIANS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(P)—The Bureau of Agricultural Economics reported nearly two-thirds of the white farm operators checked in selected Georgia counties had been making more money than they spent.

White sharecroppers similarly checked in the same counties had all been spending more than their incomes.

The counties surveyed in Georgia were Clarke, Elbert, Greene, Jackson, Madison, Morgan, Oconee and Wilkes.

The bureau said that of 1,255 families of white operators checked, all but 476 reported incomes in excess of expenditures, while 462 white sharecroppers who gave complete accounts of family expenditures all failed to "break even."

NANCY DUGGAN DIES; FUNERAL RITES TODAY

To Observe Experiments

DR. EDWIN A. LEE.

OCCUPATION CHIEF TO VISIT ATLANTA

Dr. Edwin A. Lee Will Observe Experiments in City Schools.

Dr. Edwin A. Lee, director of the National Occupational Conference, of New York, will be in Atlanta February 8 to observe experiments in occupational education now being conducted in the city schools, Dr. Willis A. Sutton, superintendent, announced yesterday.

Dr. Lee was leader of a two-weeks' occupational education tour last spring in which Dr. Sutton participated. At the close of the tour 13 school superintendents recommended a three-point occupational adjustment program whereby public schools could assist youth and adults in selecting their vocations, getting the best possible training in school or through apprenticeship, and assist them in finding a job.

While here the national director will gather first-hand information concerning Atlanta's success in the experiment. This information will be included in a report to be presented at conventions to be held next month in Atlantic City of the American Council of Guidance and Personnel Associations, and the American Association of School Administrators.

Other cities scheduled on Dr. Lee's tour are Pittsburgh, Omaha, Minneapolis, Seattle, Oakland, Salt Lake City, Denver, Houston, Birmingham, Washington and Baltimore.

CITY SETS OUT JARS IN CHECKUP ON SOOT

Fall of 11 Tons Per Square Mile During Past Year Is Reported.

The annual check-up on the amount of soot in Atlanta's atmosphere was launched yesterday as City Smoke Engineer A. W. Jones set about placing 14 soot jars in different sections of the city.

The jars are placed about a mile apart and allowed to remain in place for 30 days before they are collected and studied in the laboratory of the city smoke inspector.

When the jars are collected and the contents examined, the city sanitary department will be able to tell how much fuel is being burned carelessly in Atlanta business houses and residences and how much fuel could be saved with proper firing methods, Jones said.

He pointed out that last year the soot jars revealed an average monthly soot fall of 11 tons per square mile. The average within the city limits for the year was 383 tons of soot.

But Atlanta's soot has a quality all its own, Jones insists. Unlike the sulphur-laden soot that falls in Chicago and larger cities, Atlanta's soot has little other damaging effects than soiling. He called attention to the fact that Chicago's monthly average soot-fall was 29,000 tons last year.

Several smoke nuisances have been eliminated here, Jones said, adding that the city sanitary department holds classes from 11 o'clock until noon every day at the city hall in the event of firing properly. The classes designed to show Atlantans how sootfall can be reduced, are open to everyone.

MRS. H. B. NUNNALLY SUCCEDES IN MONROE

MONROE, Jan. 20.—Mrs. Harry B. Nunnally, native Atlantan and daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George B. Brown, died at her home here today.

She was prominent in religious and civic work here, was a leader in the establishment of the Walton county hospital several years ago, and served as its treasurer until her death.

She is survived by two sons, Harry Bell and George Brown Nunnally, both students at Emory University; one brother, George W. Brown, of Atlanta; a sister, Mrs. George A. Nicholson, of Atlanta; her mother, Mrs. W. H. Nunnally, of Monroe; and other relatives.

Rites will be held at 3 o'clock (E. S. T.) tomorrow afternoon in the First Baptist church here, the Rev. James A. Clarke officiating.

KILLED AT INTERSECTION.

$12,003,353 SPENT ON GEORGIA ROADS

More Than 3,000 Miles of Highways Improved With Aid of WPA Funds.

Georgians today are riding on more than 3,000 miles of improved roadway made possible by the expenditure of $12,003,353 by the federal and local governments through the Works Progress Administration, according to an announcement yesterday by Miss Gay B. Shepperson, state administrator.

Of this total fund, cities and counties have contributed $4,363,054 between August, 1935, and November, 1937, and the federal government the balance.

Farm-to-market projects in 150 counties have added more than 3,000 miles of improved roads to county highway systems and 6,784 culverts have been installed or replaced; 868 bridges have been constructed or repaired and 2,639 miles of roadways have been beautified.

About 205 miles of street paving, 268 miles of curbing, 61 miles of gutter and 100 miles of sidewalks have been laid. Eighty-five miles of streets have been graded. Approximately 12,000 workers have been employed at peak times by the administration on these kinds of work, which Miss Shepperson describes as "very good" because it can be stopped for seasonal employment that men may obtain in agriculture or industry.

The program is being continued in counties and municipalities where sufficient labor of the types needed is available.

MISSING MAN FOUND, 2 ARE HELD IN PROBE

MACON, Jan. 20.—(P)—Clarence Pryor, 49, well-to-do Upon county farmer who mysteriously disappeared here Tuesday, has been found in a local private hospital, Police Chief Ben T. Watkins announced today.

Pryor told police that he had been "doped" and robbed, Chief Watkins related.

A young man and two young women are being held in police barracks in connection with the case, it was stated.

CARROLL PROMOTED BY WESTERN UNION

Former Atlantan Named General Manager of Southern Division.

Charles H. Carroll, superintendent of the Atlanta office of the Western Union Telegraph Company, during the 1920s, yesterday was appointed general manager of the southern division of the company with headquarters in Atlanta.

He will arrive here from New York this morning to assume his new duties. He succeeds the late Herbert Worthen.

Well Known Here. Mr. Carroll is well known in Atlanta and is a former member of the Athletic Club, Rotary Club, Chamber of Commerce and other civic organizations. He was appointed superintendent of the Atlanta office in 1920 and served with the exception of three years in Florida, until 1928 when he was appointed assistant general manager of the metropolitan division of Western Union embracing New York city and vicinity.

The southern division comprises Georgia, Florida, North and South Carolina, Virginia, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee and Kentucky.

A native of Tennessee, Mr. Carroll began his telegraph career as an operator at Nashville in October, 1910.

Came to Atlanta in 1920. After early telegraph work at Nashville, Carroll became the Western Union district commercial manager covering Tennessee and Kentucky, with headquarters in Louisville. Later he was appointed district superintendent for North and South Carolina, coming to Atlanta from that position in 1920.

Leaving Atlanta for his New York job, he remained assistant general manager of the metropolitan division until last May when he was made assistant vice president, commercial department, in charge of the commercial field administration of the telegraph company.

U. S. 'MOBILIZING' MUNITIONS PLANTS

'Educational Orders' Given Factories To Test Their Wartime Capacity.

HARTFORD, Conn., Jan. 20.—(P)—The United States War Department is conducting an "industrial mobilization" of factories manufacturing arms, munitions and other wartime devices to determine the ability of industry to carry a major war load, Assistant Secretary of War Johnson said tonight.

Speaking at the annual round-up of the Aetna Fire group here in the capital of the largest arms and munitions producing state in the nation, Johnson said the department had made a study of 20,000 factories and had allocated specific tasks to 10,000 most capable of carrying the burden of war production.

"The War Department believes that a number of these carefully selected plants should be educational orders in the peace so that they may gain tactical experience in handling war time job," Johnson said.

U. S. AIR BOMBERS ORDERED TO HAWAII

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The War Department today announced that the United States army bombardment squad Hamilton field, Cal., had been transferred to Hawaii in connection with military maneuvers.

The department said the transfer was permanent and the planes would be taken to Hawaii by transport about February 1.
